3-HOUR SESSIONS NEXT WEEK ALSO

Stock Exchange Governors Vote to Close Next Saturday as Well as Tomorrow —Convention Called Off

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Wall street had a breathing spell today as trading on the stock market slackened up to normal proportions, 3,214,600 shares changing hands in the three-hour session, less than half yesterday's turnover of 7,184,060. Prices rallied further at the opening, but were depressed by moderate profit taking and week-end selling later, and leading shares closed with net losses of $1 to nearly $10 a share.

Although trading finally quieted down today, and markets will be closed tomorrow, an indication of the enormous strain to which brokers have been subjected appeared in an announcement by Eugene E. Thompson, president of the Associated Stock Exchanges, that the convention of the association, which was to have been held in Minneapolis Nov. 12 and 13, had been indefinitely postponed. No formal explanation was made, but it was understood that exchange members are so worn out and still faced with such a huge volume of unfinished business that few would have been able to attend.

The Board of Governors of the New York Stock Exchange today voted to close the exchange at 1 p. m., every day next week until Saturday, when it will again be closed all day.

This action continues the arrangement made after the violent session on Monday of this week. While no formal explanation was made, it is understood that commission houses are still struggling with an almost hopeless mass of unfinished business, which was piled up in the past three weeks of frenzied trading.

Although trading returned to orderly and normal proportions today, several days still will be required for commission houses to get their tangled affairs straightened out, and their employes, driven to the breaking point, are in urgent need of relief.

Governors of the New York Curb Exchange voted to restrict trading to the schedule adopted by the Stock Exchange for next week.

STOCK SPECULATION CAUSED $2,038,000 BANK SHORTAGE

Defalcation in Flint, Mich., Depository Covered, but Prosecutor Is Expected to Take Action.

By the Associated Press.

FLINT, Mich., Nov. 8.—Officers of the Union Industrial Bank in a statement issued today disclosed that C. S. Mott, president of the bank and vice president of General Motors Corporation, had made a cash deposit of $2,038,000 to cover funds of the institution used in stock market activities by a group of its junior executives.

The first announcement of the defalcation last week gave the total as $800,000. It was explained today, that while the gross shortage was $2,038,000, subsequent recoveries of securities have reduced the amount to $800,000. This amount in turn is expected to be reduced by insurance and other recoveries.

An investigation by State banking officials is under way at the bank. The names of persons involved have not been disclosed but all details have been turned over to Prosecutor Charles Beagle, who is expected to take action simultaneously against all persons responsible as soon as it is determined how many are criminally implicated.

DIAL TELEPHONE WITH TALKIE FILMS SPEAKS NUMBERS

Device Shown by Bell Officer to Be Used in New York.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Development of an automatic telephone, the dial of which speaks its numbers to central, was announced last night by Sergius P. Grace, assistant vice president of the Bell Telephone laboratories.

To make a call with this phone the subscriber turns the desired phone number on the ordinary dial, and the new device speaks the number to central almost the same as if the subscriber himself had voiced it. The sound, however, is audible only to central. So well has the device been perfected that it probably will go into use in New York City before the end of the year, Grace said.

The demonstration came at the end of an evening of astonishing performances, with R. M. Pease as his assistant, before a meeting of the Telephone Pioneers' Society.

The spoken numbers are on talkie films The records about to go into use in New York were made by the same person, an Irish girl said to have the best voice among the city's phone girls. There is a film for each of the 10 Arabic numerals from zero to 9. The films are wound on revolving drums and the dial automatically sets in motion the drum corresponding to the character moved on the dial.

SENATE TO INVESTIGATE INTERSTATE POWER LINES

Adopts Resolution to Obtain Data in Connection With Government Control Plan.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Information about the amount of electrical energy transmitted between states, was sought in a resolution adopted today by the Senate as a means of obtaining data for an investigation of the question of Federal Government control over interstate transmission of power.

The resolution, offered by Chairman Couzens of the Interstate Commerce Committee, directed the Federal Trade Commission to obtain the information as soon as possible.

Couzens has a bill pending to give the Federal Government control over interstate transmission of power and his committee is considering it as a part of its investigation of the whole field of radio, telegraph, telephone and cable communication. The information would include also the amount of power imported by each state.

POISONING OF TWINS REMAINS A MYSTERY

Analysis Detects No Deadly Element—Further Tests in Washington.

After a chemical analysis, Dr. R. B. H. Gradwohl reported to Coroner Dever today that he found no evidence of mineral or alkaloid poisoning in the viscera of Elmer and Delmer Reppy, 3-year-old twins, who died suddenly Sunday.

"It is such a baffling case I have decided to send the viscera to the Department of Agriculture at Washington for examination," Dever anounced. He also will send the hospital history of Rose and Clarence Reppy, sister and brother of the twins, who became ill the same day, but are recovering at City Hospital.

The children became ill while visiting at Cuba, Mo., with their mother, Mrs. Eugene Reppy, 1408 North Taylor avenue. The mother suggested the children might have eaten wild berries or green walnuts.

Dr. William Winn, Coroner's physician whose post-mortem examination indicated the twins died of violent poisoning, today said: "It was a typical poisoning. Now it is just a matter of finding what poison."

The inquest has been continued pending a report from the Department of Agriculture.

CASHIER AND $64,000 MISSING

Chicago Police's Aid Asked After Monon, Ind., Bank Closes.

By the Associated Press.

MONON, Ind., Nov. 8.—Chicago police were requested today to search for Carl C. Middlestadt, cashier of the Monon State Bank in whose accounts a shortage of $64,300 has been discovered by Thomas E. Barr, Deputy State Banking Commissioner.

The bank was closed last Friday, shortly after the cashier had disappeared from Monon. Later Mrs. Middlestadt also left this city, saying she was going to Chicago to meet her husband. A warrant has been issued for Middlestadt's arrest. When the bank was first closed the shortage in the cashier's accounts was estimated at $8000, but a more complete audit disclosed that it would be much larger. Bert Vanvoorst, a Monticello banker, has been appointed receiver.

ART GOEBEL NEARLY CRASHES

Dazed When Struck by Dry Cell During Stunt.

By the Associated Press.

LONG BEACH, Cal., Nov. 8.—Col. Art Goebel, winner of the Dole air race to Hawaii in 1927 who has had nine years of flying without an accident, was still able to lay claim to the record today after emerging from a stunt here in which he narrowly escaped.

As Goebel's open cockpit plane made a barrel roll 2000 feet above the municipal airport here yesterday, a dry cell of the battery became dislodged and struck the flyer's head. The plane was flying upside down and the blow dazed Goebel. For a few seconds the ship wobbled while a crowd below gasped. Then the pilot's senses returned and he brought the plane to earth safely. A gash on his head was dressed and he went up again to entertain the crowd.

PLANE WITH 5 ABOARD MISSING

Forced Down in Mediterranean 70 Miles From Balearic Islands.

By the Associated Press.

MARSEILLES, Nov. 8.—Fears are entertained for the safety of three passengers, the pilot and the mechanic of a regular mail plane on the Algiers-Marseilles service. The pontoon plane was forced down in the Mediterranean 70 miles north of the Balearic Islands at 3 p. m. yesterday.

The plane's wireless, which had been functioning until a late hour last night, was silent this morning. Patrols searching the vicinity today failed to find the plane.

CAHOKIA DOG TRACK RAIDED ON OPENING NIGHT

Sheriff and His Deputies Watch the Payoff on First Race, Then Arrest the Clerks.

MOTORCYCLE USED TO DRAG RABBIT

This Is Done Because of Suit Over Electrical Device—Program Continues Without Betting.

Sheriff Charles Ahrens of St. Clair County and his deputies stood by the payoff windows at the Mississippi Valley Kennel Club at Cahokia last night and watched clerks pay $18.20 to the loyal friends who backed Loyal Friend to win the first race of the first night of the inaugural dog race meeting.

Straight, place and show windows operated until all the tickets had been cashed, including several bought by Deputy Sheriffs as evidence, and then, just as he had said he would do, Sheriff Ahrens closed the shutters and arrested the clerks.

Deputy Sheriff Miller leaped over the fence into the track just after Loyal Friend crossed the finish line in front of 5000 persons in the grandstand, and confiscated as a gambling device the stuffed rabbit dragged behind a a motorcycle, this device taking the place of the electrically-operated lure, against use of which a Federal restraining order had been issued on application of holders of a patent on electric rabbits.

The rider, who said he was Louis Probaska, 714 Exchange avenue, East St. Louis, was arrested, but soon another rider tied another rabbit behind the motorcycle and the rest of the scheduled races were run off—but there was no betting.

Half of Crowd Leaves.

Many of them grumbling—particularly those who had not cashed refund slips on Loyal Friend and the other two dogs which ran in the money—a large part of the crowd left the stands. More than half remained for the exhibition.

Before Justice of the Peace J. C. Brady at East St. Louis the prisoners waived preliminary hearings on gambling charges, on advice of counsel representing the kennel club, and gave $500 bonds each, returnable Monday in Circuit Court at Belleville.

Others arrested said they were: Harold Barton, Belleville; Stanley Moore, American Hotel, St. Louis, Charles F. Hubschmidt, 720 Ohio street, East St. Louis; Herman H. Rowe, 514 North Seventh street, East St. Louis; Paul Meeker, 2118 North Twenty-first street, East St. Louis; Bart L. Fitzpatrick, 611 North Thirty-second street; Paul Kisselback, Fireworks Station, East St. Louis; Samuel Kopman, 1711 North Park drive, East St. Louis, John R. Benson, 1819 Lynch avenue, East St. Louis.

East Side Competition.

Last night's race marks the first attempt on the East Side to give competition to the Madison Kennel Club, north of East St. Louis, the only other track near St. Louis, which has been operating four years without interference in the county adjoining St. Clair on the north. Another track is in process of construction in Madison County at Chouteau Slough, near the east end of the Chain-of-Rocks Bridge.

Sheriff Ahrens and State's Attorney Lindauer have announced repeatedly that the Cahokia racing plant would be raided whenever bets were received there. Owners tried unsuccessfully to obtain an injunction against the officials to prevent their interfering with operation of the track on the same system as that used at the Madison Kennel Club.

WHEELER RESENTS MOSES' ALLUSION TO WESTERN BLOC

NORRIS DESCRIBES 'MR. GRUNDY'S STORE'

Says German Dolls Sell in U. S. at 185 Pct. Above Cost; English Books at 168 Pct Under Protection

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The term "sons of wild jackasses," a remark attributed to Senator Moses (Rep.), New Hampshire, in referring to the Republican independent group of Senators, was taken up in the Senate today by Senator Wheeler (Dem.), Montana, who said constituents of the group would resent such statements and take note of them in the next election. Moses was quoted as having made the remark at a dinner for New Englanders here last night. Continuing, Wheeler said Senator Reed (Rep.), Pennsylvania, had described the Western group as "worse than communists."

"These statements," said the Montanan, addressing himself to the Republican independents, "not only reflect upon you, but they reflect upon your fathers and your mothers."

He advised the Western group to remember these statements when they went out to campaign for the Republican party in the next elections.

An Exchange With Moses.

Senator Brookhart, a Republican independent of Iowa, narrator of the story of the 1926 "Wall street booze party" in Washington, said it was apparent that the Republican regulars did not need "booze at these dinners to rise to the highest pinnacle of eloquence."

Referring to Moses, Wheeler said with a smile: "There is no telling what he would have said if the dinner hadn't been dry."

Senator Heflin (Dem.), Alabama, observed that perhaps the remarks of the New Hampshire Senator were inspired by the biblical idea that "The ox knoweth his owner and the ass his master's crib."

Wheeler suggested an interpretation by the presiding officer. Senator Moses was presiding. He asked with a smile if Wheeler were propounding a parliamentary question. Answering his own question, Moses said: "If the Senator from Montana will find a more appropriate appellation for this gyrating group the Senator from New Hampshire will be glad to have it."

Wheeler said the people of the Northwest likewise would resist the activities of Joseph R. Grundy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, and the "small group" trying to run the Republican party.

Mr. Grundy's Store.

When he had concluded Senator Norris, Republican independent, of Nebraska, walked behind a huge table of exhibits of imported articles at the rear of the chamber. He referred to the collection as "Mr. Grundy's store" and attacked Eastern manufacturers who, he said, were demanding high tariffs.

Picking up a salad bowl packed with excelsior, Senator Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, asked if this was "fodder for the jackasses."

"That's the kind of food they're giving the American consumer," Norris replied, "and they turn over the bowl to Mr. Grundy to help keep these jackasses out of the Senate."

Norris read a newspaper article to the effect that the Stanley works, producers of rolled steel and tools at New Britain, Conn., planned a 25 per cent stock dividend and asserted this was the type of interest seeking tariff favors while "patriotically avoiding payment of income taxes."

$7.50 Fiddle Sells for $50.

Picking up a violin from the table and exclaiming that "the followers of Henry Ford" would understand his argument better if he called it "a fiddle," Norris said the instrument cost $7.50 in Germany, was landed here for $11.90 and sold for $50.

"They charge poor old Grundy $50 for it, he said. "These wicked men are encroaching on his preserves."

Then the Nebraska Senator selected a doll with curly hair, born, he said, in Germany.

"It cost $1.20 there," he continued. "It was landed in this country for $2.28 and sold for $6.50 at a profit of 185 per cent.

"One nice thing, and the only nice thing about it, is the fact that

BANK OF BRAZIL REFUSES EXCHANGE FOR SPECULATORS

Statement to Newspapers Says It Will Continue to Furnish Money for Legitimate Business.

By the Associated Press.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 8.—The Banco do Brazil yesterday issued a statement to newspapers saying that it would continue to furnish money for legitimate business but would not supply foreign exchange for speculators. The bank added that it would also "defend itself against the speculation of certain foreign banks."

The statement was called forth by reports spread through the business community after an importing firm failed to get foreign exchange at the central bank and had to place it in smaller amounts in several other depositories, paying a higher rate than that posted by the Banco do Brazil.

In banking circles it was understood that extensive coverings of future commitments by certain business firms had brought the subject to a head.

KILLED BY RECLUSE AT 'HAUNTED' HOUSE

William Bullock, Running Away, Felled by Drunken Negro's Civil War Rifle.

A bent rheumatic Negro recluse, intoxicated and wielding a rusty Civil War rifle, today shot and killed one of three white men he found searching the basement of the ramshackle brick house at 2609 Papin street, where he has lived with several dogs for the last 10 years.

The dead man, William Bullock, 37 years old, a former express company employe, was running from the place when a heavy bullet from the old .45 caliber rifle hit him in the head. Bullock's two younger brothers, who had accompanied him to the place, were witnesses to the killing.

Police summoned to the old house at 9:45 a. m., a few minutes after the shooting, found the Negro, Frank Toran, 83 years old, hiding in a corner of an upper rear room of the house, still clutching the rifle and with his dogs crouching around him.

Victim's Brother's Explanation.

One of Bullock's brothers, Edward, 23 years old, had disappeared when police arrived. The other, Eugene, 17 years old, 310 Marion street, said:

"We were just walking around when we saw the house. Somebody told us it was haunted and we started in to look. There was nothing on the first floor. All the doors and windows were out. We went into the basement and looked around there.

"Just then the Negro stuck the rifle through one of the basement windows and asked us what we were doing. We told him we were just looking around and he ordered us to get out. We climbed out, Edward and I first and then William. We ran one way and William another. I heard a shot and looked back to see William stagger and fall."

William Bullock, Eugene said, was married and resided at 1924 South Broadway. He had been out of work for several days.

"Warned Them to Keep Away."

At City Hospital, the Negro was pronounced suffering from alcoholism.

"For the last three months," he told police, "white men have been coming to the place and looking around and digging in the basement. I warned them to keep away. There was about five of them there this morning. When they started to run away one made a movement under his coat like he was going to pull out a pistol, so I shot him."

Toran does not know who owns the old structure. It is just across the street from L'Overture School, a Negro public school.

SAYS EDGE WAS ALLY OF SOUTH'S LOBBYIST

Caraway Produces Letter From Senator to Arnold, Saying Those Opposing Old Guard Should Get No Protection.

"CONTACTS WITH BOTH PARTIES"

Woman Office Manager Testifies She Destroyed All Correspondence From Field Agents.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Letters introduced today into the fast expanding record of the Senate's lobby investigation showed that Senator Edge, high tariff Republican of New Jersey and Ambassador-designate to France, agreed thoroughly with J. A. Arnold, tariff lobbyist, that if the Southern Senators wouldn't go along with the Old Guard Republicans for the whole tariff bill, they ought not to be given protection on their Southern products.

Senator Caraway, chairman of the investigating committee, described the correspondence in question as "the love letters of Arnold and Edge."

Threat Against South.

The only possible inference that could be drawn from the letters, said Caraway, was that Edge and Arnold were in partnership to whip Southerners into line for the industrial rates of the bill by threatening them with reprisals against the agricultural products of their home states.

Arnold is the general manager—in effect the proprietor—of the Siamese-Twin lobbying concerns, the Southern Tariff Association and the American Taxpayers' League. Edge is one of the inner circle of Finance Committee members who framed the tariff bill now pending in the Senate.

The hearing today was given its first feminine touch by Miss Lydia Popkins, a blonde of the type known as statuesque, whose calm was very little disturbed by the committee's questions. Miss Popkins chewed her gum a bit faster now and then, but on the whole she presented a picture of complete serenity.

Destroyed Agents' Letters.

Miss Popkins, who is Arnold's office manager and has authority to sign checks, testified that she habitually destroyed the letters that came in from the field agents of the tariff association and the taxpayers' league. She did this, she said, almost as fast as they arrived, because she saw no reason for encumbering the files with them.

Caraway started out today by taxing Arnold with the fact that his books had been audited by a man who once served a penitentiary sentence for fraudulent accounting practices. Arnold said he had never heard of the case.

It was shown that Arnold, two years ago, was before the House Ways and Means Committee when it was considering the estate tax. On that occasion, when asked what was his occupation, he replied: "Directing the course of human events."

Arnold laughed when the testimony was cited. "That was a little broad," he said.

"Well, I don't know about that," observed Caraway. The Arkansan brought out that the witness, when before the House committee, evaded questions about the money collected for use in the propaganda against the Federal inheritance tax.

Needed Six Democratic Votes.

Pursuing yesterday's line of attack, Caraway peppered the witness with quotations from the letters taken from his files by the committee's investigators. The letters told of Arnold's talks with Senator Watson, the Republican leader, about the tariff bill, and declared it would be necessary to find six Democratic Senators who would vote for the bill to put it through.

Senator Blaine then took the witness in hand. He recalled Arnold's previous testimony that he had "loaned" the American Taxpayers League $19,0[illegible] to make up a deficit. Arnold said he had paid over $5000 to the league by means of a check, and had forgone his salary to the extent of $5000.

Arnold was asked if he would give the committee authority to ex-

MARKET COLLAPSE UPSETS PLAN FOR MERGER OF BANKS

Shareholders of National City of New York Fail to Ratify Deal With Corn Exchange.

BALK AT PAYMENT OF $217,600,000

Provision for This Inserted in Agreement After Ratio of Stock Values Was Altered.

By Leased Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Negotiations for a merger of the National City Bank and the Corn Exchange Trust Co. were dropped yesterday when shareholders of the National City failed to ratify the agreement. This prevented the creation of a banking organization with resources of approximately $2,300,000,000 which would surpass the resources of the Midland Bank of London, now the largest depository in the world.

The shelving of the plan was a one-sided action. Eighty-two per cent of the shareholders of the Corn Exchange had voted to ratify the agreement. They gave their approval at a meeting at 11 a. m. Three hours later the meeting of the National City shareholders was called to order and it was found that an insufficient number of proxies had been received. Only 2,800,000 shares of the 5,500,000 shares outstanding were represented, while the agreement stipulated that two-thirds of the shareholders must consent to the merger.

Insertion in the merger agreement of a stipulation requiring the National City Bank to pay $360 cash for each share of Corn Exchange stock was the cause of the failure to complete the merger. At the time the agreement was formed stocks of both banks were selling far above the present price levels. Since the decline of stocks it became evident that Corn Exchange shareholders would choose to accept the $360 in cash for their stock, which yesterday was selling at $190 to $210 a share on the over-the-counter market. This would have necessitated the payment of $217,600,000 in cash by the National City to complete the merger had all the holders of the 605,000 shares of Corn Exchange stock elected to take the money rather than the original ratio of exchange.

The first agreement, made several weeks ago, stipulated that the ratio of exchange was to be four-fifths of a share of National City stock for one share of Corn Exchange stock.

IRVING K. DAVIS, PLAYWRIGHT, ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF FRAUD

Two Investors in "Veils" Which Proved a Failure Charge He Got $11,700 From Them.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Irving Kaye Davis, playwright, was arrested yesterday charged with fraud by two persons who lost money by backing his play "Veils," which was a failure of last season. He was released on $2500 bond.

George Stevenson, a customs house broker, said he lost $3500 through stock he purchased in "Veils, Inc.," and Mrs. Lillian B. Mason, the other plaintiff, said she lost $8200. Both claimed Davis misrepresented facts in obtaining their money by stating he was author and owner of the play, had received an offer of $30,000 for controlling interest from Lee Shubert, producer, and $80,000 for motion picture rights for his play.

The play closed after four days on Broadway. Davis, husband of Elsa Shelley, actress, says he is the victim of "a series of malicious persecutions" by persons who invested in his play and lost.

SENATOR NORRIS HIT BY AUTO

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Senator Norris of Nebraska said he was "only stiff and sore" as a result of being struck by an automobile last evening near the capitol when he took his place on the Senate floor today to participate in the tariff debate.

Prior to the convening of the Senate, the Nebraskan appeared in a Washington Police Court and testified about the accident at the trial of Milton G. Wood, 31 years old, of this city, the automobile driver who was charged with reckless driving. Disposition of Wood's case was deferred till Nov. 12.

LOBBYIST'S BOOKS WERE AUDITED BY FORMER CONVICT

amine the bank accounts of the Southern Tariff Association and the American Taxpayers' League. After some hesitation, he said he preferred that the committee should get the desired permission from the officers of the organizations. As to his personal account, he said, he had no objection to an examination.

Asked about "contacts" with the stalwart Republicans of Wisconsin in the work of the taxpayers' league, Arnold replied: "Oh, we contact with both parties." Arnold said that the late Senator Gooding of Idaho, "rather led" the work of the Southern Tariff Association. He consulted with Republican leaders, he said, about getting a successor to Gooding who would be a point of contact between the association and the Senate.

One of his letters said that "they" designated Watson to "contact" with the association. Walsh brought out that "they" meant Senators Smoot and Watson.

Aid From G. O. P. Leaders.

The letter further said that Watson would associate with him in this work Senators Moses of New Hampshire and Reed of Pennsylvania. The witness said this meant that Watson would consult with Reed and Moses about Southern tariff problems.

Walsh wanted to know why Arnold went to Baltimore to get an auditor to go over his books, instead of employing some one in Washington. He said it was because the Baltimore man had been employed to audit the books of the State of Maryland and was of good professional standing.

Senator Walsh harried the witness about a meeting of the "farm group," from which, as shown yesterday, Arnold conveyed information to Senators Reed and Watson. He said the "farm group" consisted largely of the signers of a memorial to Congress regarding tariff rates on farm products. When Walsh called the roll of the signers, the witness was unable definitely to identify any of them as having been present.

"Then," said Walsh meaningly, "there is no one we can call to confirm your statements."

Governor of Florida Denies Aid.

Arnold said the $2000 list, a contribution from the State of Florida to the Taxpayers' League, was by act of the State Legislature. Caraway read a statement from the Governor of Florida denying that the State had ever contributed anything. "Well, we got the check," said Arnold.

"One of you is not telling the truth," said Caraway. Arnold said he would check up on the matter.

Caraway produced a letter written by Arnold last August to Senator Edge, saying that Edge could do much to make effective the policy of sending Southern men to the Senate who would vote for protection.

Caraway wanted to know just how Edge could help. Arnold said he meant that Edge could influence Southern Senators to vote for the tariff.

Edge replied in a letter that "some of us" would resist to the end the practice of some Senators of voting for protection for their own states and against all other protection. "What this means," said Caraway hotly, "is that you and Senator Edge were engaged in striking off protection for any Senator who would not vote for the whole bill."

Threat to Line Up Votes.

"The Southern Senators should vote for their own products," began the witness. Caraway, interrupting, reiterated that the correspondence with Edge was open to only one interpretation—namely, that Southern Senators should be brought into line by the threat to give their states no protection unless they agreed to support the whole protective scheme.

"You were more interested in working up sentiment for protection than in getting results for your Southern products," charged Caraway. "Well, the sentiment must come first," replied Arnold.

While Blaine was examining Arnold about his accounts, the committee suddenly called Miss Popkins, chief assistant in Arnold's office, who had been a steady attendant at the hearings during Arnold's testimony. She said she had been working for Arnold since 1921. Before that she was married and "didn't have to work."

Miss Popkins was closely quizzed by Blaine about the "alleged loan of $10,000," as Blaine called it, which Arnold said he made to pay off a deficit, and about certain checks which she signed, one for $4000 and another for $1000, on behalf of the Southern Tariff Association. The $4000 check, she said, was used by Arnold to get funds to take down South to Mrs. Ida Darden, a field worker.

So far as the witness knew, there was no specific receipt from either of the organizations for the $5000 said to have been paid over by Arnold.

Miss Popkins said that seven or eight persons were usually employed in Arnold's office. She herself, she said, was office manager and opened the mail. Working "in the field" were Mrs. Ida Darden, Vance Muse, W. F. Myrick and others. They collected money, and remitted it to the Washington office.

"Was it your practice to destroy all the letters that came in from Mr. Muse?" asked Wash, severely.

Destroyed All Correspondence.

"Not only Mr. Muse's but all the others," replied the witness.

"Was that done on your own motion or by direction of somebody else?" asked Walsh.

"I don't remember whether I got any direction or not," said Miss Popkins. Walsh questioned her about the nature of the field agents' work but got small enlightenment.

"I'm not telling what Mr. Muse wrote about, because I don't know," she flared.

"Do you read the letters before you tear them up?" asked Caraway. "I guess I do," said Miss Popkins.

She didn't remember, she said, whether or not she had ever asked Arnold if she should destroy a letter.

"There must be something in the atmosphere down there," remarked Caraway "that keeps people from remembering."

Arnold was recalled, and Walsh remarked to him that it was an "extraordinary thing" that his files contained no letters from the field agents telling about their work.

The commitee adjourned to next Tuesday.

Caraway told the committee clerk to notify Joseph R. Grundy that he must submit his "preferred list of Senators" by that time or appear again as a witness.

Arnold, "Decoy Duck of Financial Crowd," Brookhart Says.

While Arnold was before the Lobby Committee today, his previous testimony drew fire on the Senate floor, with Norris, Republican independent, Nebraska, referring to him as a man of varied connections going around the country "collecting money from Tom, Dick and Harry."

Senator Blease (Dem.), South Carolina, said Arnold had spoken of a conference between Democrats and Republican independents on tariff matters and asserted if such a conference took place he had not been consulted. He added he considered himslf a Democrat.

Senator Wheeler (Dem.), Montana, said he did not believe such a conference had taken place, while Senator Brookhart (Rep.) Iowa, described Arnold as "another decoy duck of this financial crowd." A "full-blooded financial racketeer," and added he had no right to speak for the independent group.

Brookhart asserted the only conference he knew of was one between himself and Senator Frazier (Rep.) North Dakota, at which about half a hundred agricultural tariff amendments were discussed.

Would Question Farm Bureau Man About Muscle Shoals.

The lobby investigation committee is prepared to continue its activities, if necessary, after the regular session of Congress convenes on Dec. 2.

Hope that the work of the committee could be completed before the regular session opens was expressed by Senator Caraway, chairman of the committee, but he added that the sessions would continue as long as is necessary.

"What we want to do," he said, "is to present a cross-section picture of the lobbyists. We can't examine them all, for we would be in session forever."

Reports will be made to the Senate from time to time and the next one, expected early next week, will deal with the activities of William Burgess, former member of the Tariff Commission and now connected with the United States Pottery Association. An early report also is expected on the activities of Grundy of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association.

Senator Caraway said the committee expects to summon Chester Gray, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, for questioning concerning his activities in connection with Muscle Shoals.

CROSSES CHINA FROM INDIA

British Collector for Chicago Museum Arrives at Shanghai.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 8.—Herbert Stevens, British scientist, who for the past year made his way from India through Southwest China gathering specimens for the Field Museum of Chicago, arrived here yesterday.

His feat is considered one of the most difficult of accomplishments of recent years. He left Europe for India in November, 1928, accompanying the Roosevelts and other American scientists composing the Field Museum expedition. In North India he began his work, accompanied only by native carriers, to gather specimens of birds and mammals. Stevens said that he had obtained "a wonderful collection, including 500 mammals, 1000 birds, 5000 butterflies and 5000 plants and shrubs, including many new species." He plans to proceed to Chicago.

Court Rules Against Exchange Rule

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today decided against the long-standing rule of the Philadelphia Stock Exchange giving its members priority claims of balances due an insolvent member, and held that the rights of common creditors to share in these balances are the same as those of the exchange members.

The decision, said to be of far-reaching effect, was handed down in the case of a broker who failed two years ago for upwards of $1,000,000.

VICTIMS OF VOLCANO SUFFOCATED IN TREES

Others Trapped in Homes by Molten Lava — Dead Estimated at 425.

By the Associated Press.

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala, Nov. 8.—Overwhelmed by molten lava or suffocated by asphyxiating gases, scores of the 300 or more victims of Monday's eruption of Santa Maria volcano have been found in their homes or along the roads near El Palmar where they perished.

The full story of the disaster has begun reaching Guatemala City through relief workers who had taken aid to the thousands of persons in the affected region. Eight coffee plantations were destroyed and most of their inhabitants killed.

The bodies found in ruined homes and along the roads gave mute evidence of the horror that had overtaken the population. Some of the dead had been caught in the fields by the molten stream of lava while others had been asphyxiated in their barricaded homes.

One of the most tragic spots was a grove of trees where fleeing inhabitants had sought refuge, some of them climbing into the highest branches, only to suffocate and burn.

Relief funds are being collected through the Red Cross and aid is being sent as quickly as possible to the stricken people. Numerous messages of sympathy have been received by the Government.

Advices received in Havana indicate that approximately 25,000 persons were affected by the El Palmar disaster and that more than $1,000,000 damage was caused.

Estimates of the number of dead were reported as 425 while 174 persons were seriously injured and more than 300 suffered minor hurts.

LACLEDE GAS TO ISSUE $5,500,000 TREASURY BONDS

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 8.—The Laclede Gas Light Co. of St. Louis today applied to the State Public Service Commission for authority to issue and sell $5,500,000 in first mortgage collateral and refunding 30-year gold bonds, to reimburse the company treasury for money expended from income and other funds for extensions and improvements.

The application stated $2,100,000 of the amount was for reimbursement for notes payable, the proceeds of which had been used for construction, and that $1,000,000 was required for completion of a new gas holder, mains and other work. The balance was said to represent money expended from income for improvements.

Improvements and extensions by the company since Jan. 1, 1919, were given as $9,422,727 in the application.

The company proposes to sell the new issue, if approved by the commission, at an interest rate not exceeding five and one-half per cent, and at not less than 94 per cent of their par value.

TRUCK FALLS IN EXCAVATION

Lard Cans Dumped in Street at Eleventh and Lucas.

A truckload of cans of lard was dumped into the street and the rear part of a truck firmly wedged in a paving excavation, five feet square and five feet deep, at Eleventh street and Lucas avenue, shortly after noon today when the driver, Paul Teaubeau, misjudged distance in steering around the hole.

Teaubeau, who drives for the Krey Packing Co., Twenty-first street and Lucas avenue, said he was proceeding east slowly after waiting for a line of automobiles to come from the opposite direction. Two men who had been working in the hole had left it before the accident.

Montgomery Ward Merger Barred.

By the Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 8.—Judge D. Lawrence Groner of the United States District Court here today sustained a petition of minority stockholders of the Hartman Corporation and issued an injunction restraining that company from merging with Montgomery, Ward & Co., Inc. through an exchange of stock. The restraining motion is for an indefinite time until all the stockholders of the Hartman Corporation shall come together and agree on one course. The injunction then is to be dismissed without cost to either side.

the Government gets a 70 per cent duty out of it. Grundy weeps bitter tears for the poor little girl who has to pay the $6.50.

Norris next picked up a book, "The Three Musketeers," published in England, remarking that "it's not supposed to be obscene" and could, therefore, be imported.

The book, he said, cost 23 cents in England and was landed here at a cost of 29.8 cents and retailed for 80 cents, a profit of 168 per cent.

"And so," he continued, "the children who go to school, our boys and girls who are reading literature, have to pay 168 per cent.

"Oh! We love the schools, the laboring men and the children and we want to relieve them of the burden of paying to the importer. And so voices are raised here that if you don't put on a tariff, the American laborer will be driven out of a job."

He then referred to a number of other articles and asserted American manufacturers and Mr. Grundy, "don't offer to sell" the articles any cheaper here, but "they say the consumers are our victims."

"They claim the right to rob without any interference," he added.

The Senate rejected a committee amendment to the tariff bill which would have increased from 50 to 65 per cent ad valorem the duty on silver-plated kitchen utensils.

Without a record vote it approved a proposed increase to 65 per cent the duty on kitchen utensils plated with platinum or gold.

A committee amendment to increase from 25 to 45 per cent the duty on wooden screws was then rejected, 43 to 29.

Without a roll call the Senate refused to increase the tariff from 40 to 50 per cent on butts and hinges. It adopted committee amendments to eliminate proposed House increases in duties on crochet tape, knitting and other needles.

Not Following House Lead.

Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, said that the Senate did not propose to yield to the House in writing the tariff bill.

Replying to utterances by Representative Tilson of Connecticut, Republican leader of the House that the Senate had done much harm to the tariff measure, the Kentucky Senator said "He might as well know that if there is to be no bill unless it complies with the wishes of the House, then there will be no bill if those who are opposing it here can prevent it."

"It will be infinitely better," he added, "for the American people to have none at all than the House bill."

The coalition was successful in eliminating proposed increases in duties on embossed metal buttons, iron or steel pins, metallic pens and cheap pen-knives.

Committee amendments were approved eliminating House increases and restoring present rates on all articles suitable for producing and distributing electrical energy; surgical and dental instruments and pliers.

The Senate also approved an increase from 40 to 60 per cent in the duty on drawing instruments.

The Senate approved without debate a reduction in the tariff on automobiles and motor cycles from 25 to 10 per cent ad valorem.

House to Continue Sessions, Awaiting Senate's Action on Tariff.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Representative Tilson, Republican floor leader, announced today the House would stand in readiness until the December session if necessary, to consider the tariff bill. His statement followed a conference with Speaker Lonworth and several Senators.

Tilson said it was decided the House should remain in session, meeting every few days and adjourning in order "that it will not be responsible for any failure of passage of the meause."

U. S. MINES PRODUCE ONLY A FRACTION OF ITS YEARLY CONSUMPTION OF MANGANESE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.

AMERICAN production of high-grade managanese ore in recent years has been as follows:

1925—98,324 long tons.
1926—46,268 long tons.
1927—44,741 long tons.
1928—45,000 long tons.
Imports:
1925—271,355 long tons.
1926—291,230 long tons.
1927—300,171 long tons.
1928—268,176 long tons.

Import figures include manganese ore and concentrates containing more than 30 per cent of metallic manganese. The duty is levied now only on manganese content in concentrates. Steel manufacturers were importing duty free concentrates having a metallic manganese content just below 30 per cent.

The Oddie amendment adopted yesterday by the Senate reduced duty free concentrates from 30 to 10 per cent. Presumably this will stimulate American production from low grade deposits.

U. S. BUDGET FOR 1931 TO BE $3,830,000,000

This Is $141,000,000 Less Than Last Year's — Farm Board Cost Not Included.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The budget for 1931 will amount to $3,830,000,000, or about $111,000,000 less than last years, when the total with the appropriations and the deficiency reached $3,941,000,000.

The figures do not include appropriations for the Farm Board. The Farm Board appropriation for the 1930 fiscal year totaled $150,000,000, and the amount which will be needed in the 1931 fiscal year has not been determined.

There will be an increase of $10,000,000 for improvement of waterways. Of this, $5,000,000 will go for actual waterway transportation improvement and $5,000,000 for Mississippi River flood-control work.

In addition, the waterway fund will be increased by between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 available for Ohio River improvement work which will not be needed for that project, because it has been completed.

President Hoover announced the budget outlook disclosing also that it would carry the full amount contemplated by Congress for the fifth year of the Army-Navy aviation development program. This year the full amount will be made available. The President does not intend to recommend that the deficiency in the air program appropriation in the preceding four years be made up in the next fiscal year, but, if Congress approves, intends to recommend making the deficiency available in the year after the coming fiscal period.

ere William Payne, organizer,

Daniel Anderson, Assistant Unit-
States Attorney, said the league's urpose apparently was three-ld: It served to punish those it pposed; it rewarded "customers," d it collected money for law and der, "using the money for the erthrow of law and order."

Anderson said the Government informed the league sold alcostomers. To saloon keepers who fused to buy alcohol from it, the ague is alleged to have retorted th raids. An office is main-

Payne, known as a professional

Money 6 Per Cent.

Call money renewed unchanged at 6 per cent, with the demand moderate, and time money was in fair supply at the same rate for all maturities.

The day's business news was rather colorless in character although most of the earnings reports published made favorable comparison with a year ago. Rumors of another large increase in the monthly tonnage statement of the United States Steel Corporation to be made public at noon tomorrow had a stabilizing influence.

Sentiment was greatly encouraged when the weekly Federal Reserve report on brokers' loans, made public after the close of business, showed further decline of $656,000,000. The figures were for only three trading days.

Total Reduction $1,572,000,000.

The aggregate shrinkage in speculative borrowings during the last two weeks, amounts to $1,572,000,000, achieving even more credit correction than the Reserve Board had hoped for in its long series of restrictive measures.

Such loans now stand at $4,882,000,000, or less than the total of a year ago. The corresponding report of 1928 showed borrowings of $4,979,000,000. The financial district had expected a substantial decrease, but nothing like the $656,000,000.

As anticipated the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York was left unchanged at 5 per cent. Basic improvement in credit, however, is expected to result in a further reduction within a few months.

Contrary to general expectation, the weekly statement of resources and liabilities of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and of the 12 reserve banks combined showed that the Federal Reserve authorities are not continuing to force credit into the money market.

Total bill holdings of the 12 regional banks declined slowly and holdings of United States Government securities were not substantially changed. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York decreased its bill holdings and was seller rather than a buyer of Government bonds. Its reserve ratio was increased from 71.8 to 75.1 per cent, as compared with 89.3 per cent a year ago.

Wall street interprets this as indicating, because of reduced speculation and slackening in some lines of business, that the central banking officials see no need of creating additional credit at this time. Conservation of reserve resources, however, leaves means for meeting possible emergencies.

Glass Proposes Plan to Prevent Market Disasters.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Amendment of the Federal Reserve act to make it mandatory upon the Federal Reserve Board to assert its authority and "to prevent by penalization such disasters in stock gambling operations as have recently disgraced the country," was advocated today by Senator Glass of Virginia, a former Democratic Secretary of the Treasury, who when a member of the House helped to write the Federal Reserve act.

Senator Glass last spring called upon the Federal Reserve Board to dismiss Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank of New York, as a member of the board of directors of the New York Federal Reserve Bank on the ground that he had defied the board in offering call money to the market at a critical time in the market operations.

In a letter today to the meeting of the association of member banks of the Boston Federal Reserve district, the Senator wrote:

"If there are men in the financial world, as I think undoubtedly there are, who imagine themselves superior to the existing Governmental banking system and who are totally indifferent to the real commercial and industrial interests of the nation, the sooner such men are restrained and severely disciplined by adequate punishment, the better it will be for the country.

An Imperative Obligation.

"In my view it is the imperative obligation of the administrators of the Federal Reserve banking system to assert to the limit the powers which the laws confer and, in this way, to assert the dignity of a Federal Reserve banking system which was intended to be supreme within its sphere."

Speaking in his letter of things which need "attention," the Virginian recommended "modifications of the national bank act and the Federal Reserve act so as to make it more mandatory, if possible, upon administrators of the banking laws to prevent by penalization, such disasters in stock-gambling operations as have recently disgraced the country."

20 MORE EMPLOYES STRIKE IN CLEANERS' UNION FIGHT

Called Out When Standard Dyeing and Cleaning Co. Serves Notice of Adoption of Open Shop.

A strike of 20 union employes of the Standard Dyeing and Cleaning Co., 3444 Gravois avenue, was called this morning when the management served notice of its adoption of the open shop plan of operation, announced last Saturday by the St. Louis Cleaners and Dyers' Association.

J. M. Quinn, secretary of the union, said employes of the Standard company had been requested by the management to sever relations with organized labor. Strikes and lockouts involving 160 union workers are in effect at six other concerns of the association. Eight companies in the association and two independent firms have agreed to abide by the union agreement, which expires next Feb. 15. The Retail Cleaners' Union, an organization of 500 neighborhood tailors, has indorsed the action of the Cleaners, Dyers and Pressers' Union in resisting the open shop program.

Officers of the employers' association announced the return to open shop operation after two years under union conditions, because they no longer desire to deal with union leaders.

German Waiters' Club Raided.

A saloon in an alley west of Seventh street between Chestnut and Pine streets, known as the German Waiters' Club, was raided today by Federal prohibition agents who confiscated small quantities of whisky and beer. They arrested the bartender, Harry Knape, on a charge of sale of liquor.

INVENTOR DIES AFTER LEAVING ATTORNEY NOTE

Hollywood Man, Who Perfected Radio Patent, Had Told Fiancee He Feared He Was Poisoned.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 8.—An undelivered note written by B. F. Vauchelet, 28-year-old Hollywood inventor, indicating that he had urgently sought help from an attorney shortly before he died here Tuesday, occupied the attention of police today as they attempted to clear up the cause of his death.

Vauchelet, who was said to have invented a device for use on radios and was declared to have often displayed large sums of money, died after telling his fiancee, Miss Marion Moore, that he had been "double-crossed" and feared that he had been poisoned.

An autopsy was ordered when Miss Moore so informed the police. Pending a chemical analysis investigators turned to the note in search of other clews.

Vauchelet left the missive with the doorman of an exclusive club for delivery to a "Mr. Jessup, attorney." The note read:

"Dear Mr. Jessup: It is imperative that you get in touch with me at once. Things are in a terrible mixup, for some reason. Call at 359½ Curzon avenue—phone Whitney 0215. B. F. Vauchelet.".

The doorman said he accepted the note thinking it was for a man named R. J. Jessup, who was registered at the club. This man said he did not know Vauchelet, and declared the note might have been meant for another man with the same surname. It later was discovered that an attorney named Jessup was helping Vauchelet market a patented device for use on radios. Investigators are attempting to find this man.

Vauchelet's radio patent, the nature of which has not been disclosed, already had brought him large financial returns, his friends told investigators. They said he had intimated that an Eastern radio concern was negotiating with him for purchase of the patent rights.

BELLEVILLE MINERS' UNION GIVES ITS SUPPORT TO LEWIS

Condemns State President Fishwick; Says Illinois Organization Is Bankrupt.

A resolution expressing "sincere confidence in the integrity and ability" of John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, which amounted to a pledge to support Lewis in his fight to out district officials of Illinois was adopted by the Belleville Local Union No. 4650 last night.

The local unanimously condemned State President Harry Fishwick, charging him with extravagance in the use of the state organization's funds through retaining "unnecessary employes" on the payroll and for resorting to the injunction to keep his administration in office.

The resolution states that the Illinois organization is bankrupt, that 50 per cent of the district officers have been superfluous, that the assets are "largely fictitious" and that $150,000 put into a nonunion mine in Virginia is "practically a total loss." It charges also that the union headquarters in Springfield has been mortgaged for $100,000.

SENTENCED FOR TAKING BRIBE IN NEW YORK BANK FAILURE

Frank H. Warder, Former State Superintendent Gets Five to Ten Years.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Frank H. Warder, resigned State Superintendent of Banking was sentenced today to from five to 10 years in prison on his conviction of having accepted a $10,000 bribe to forego examinations of the City Trust Co., which failed for $5,000,000 last February.

Warder was convicted Tuesday. During the trial the State presented evidence showing that he had received from Francesco Ferrari, late president of the City Trust, at least $73,000 in cash and expensive gifts, such as an automobile and home furnishings, for himself, his wife, Anna, who died last summer, and his 26-year-old daughter.

Warder specifically denied receiving the $10,000 bribe, which Gennaro Dell'osso, Ferrari's brother-in-law testified he had delivered to him at his home.

INTERNAL REVENUE FORCE CUT

Commissioner Orders That 300 Be Dropped.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Three hundred clerical employes of the Collectors of Internal Revenue throughout the country were ordered dropped from the payrolls today by Commissioner Robert H. Lucas of the Internal Revenue in calling for a 10 per cent curtailment of the office forces.

Street Car Fatality Accidental.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the death of Mrs. Mary Auckley, 49 years old, 707 Eastgate avenue, who was injured fatally last Saturday when struck by a westbound Delmar car at Olive and Sarah streets. Witnesses testified that she stepped into the track from behind an eastbound car.

71-YEAR-OLD MAN KILLED BY AUTO ON CHOUTEAU VIADUCT

Frank E. Bartlett Struck on Way Home From Work —140th Fatality This Year.

Frank E. Bartlett, 71 years old, 4056 Delmar boulevard, an employe of the Independent Packing Co., died at City Hospital last night of a fracture of the skull suffered several hours earlier when he was struck by an automobile while attempting to cross the Chouteau avenue viaduct near Tiffany avenue.

Bartlett was on his way home at 5:30 p. m. when struck by a machine driven by Henry Hasty, 1918 Rutger street. His death brings the number of motor vehicle fatalities in St. Louis since Jan. 1 to 140, as compared with 164 for the same period last year.

Charles Brockmeyer, a laborer, 2549 Hebert street, suffered a fracture of the right leg and internal injuries at 6 p. m. yesterday when he was struck by a machine driven by Cornelius Abel, 2238 Hebert street, at Jefferson avenue and Hebert street.

IONE ORDE APPEARS IN COURT

Testifies at Arraignment of Accused Slayer of Jack Kraft.

By the Associated Press.

POINT-A-LA-HACHE, La., Nov. 8.—Gloria Rouzer, better known as Ione Orde, testified yesterday at the arraignment of John McGouldrick, second officer of the steamship Creole, who is under indictment for murder of Jack Kraft of New York, who was her traveling companion. For the first time she admitted her real name was Gloria Rouzer and explained Ione Orde was her pen name.

McGouldrick pleaded not guilty to the indictment and Judge J. Claude Meraux set Nov. 25 as the date of trial. Sammy Epstein, ward of the Creole, who had been held in jail as a material witness until a few days ago, was freed after he had signed a transcript of his testimony taken Tuesday.

Town Bootlegger Buried By Popular Subscription

George Crawford of Cairo, Ill., Who Made Fortune and Then Lost It, Died a County Charity Patient.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CAIRO, Ill., Nov. 8.—Penniless and deserted when he died in a hospital here, a county charity patient, George Crawford, 53 years old, once known as the "king of the bootleggers" and reputed to have been worth $100,000 a few years ago, in death returned to some of his former glory. Instead of a cheap coffin and a grave in Potter's Field at the expense of the county, big and genial George was laid to rest today in a satin lined and moderately expensive casket, bought with funds given by many of the most prominent business men of the city. He embraced the Catholic faith before his death and was buried in the Catholic Cemetery at Villa Ridge, Ill.

His former wife, Lena, from whom he was divorced six months ago after she had run away with a youth, Govenor Guion, helped solicit the funds that prevented Crawford being buried as a county pauper. Guion was convicted in Federal Court of stealing from Crawford the automobile in which he ran away with the bootlegger's wife and is serving a sentence in the Federal prison at Chillicothe, O.

Crawford became a successful bootlegger here a short time after the prohibition law was passed. He developed one of the largest illicit liquor trades in Southern Illinois. He branched out into other lines, buying large farms, much local real estate, and opened two large stores, catering particularly to the farm trade.

But with the tightening of prohibition enforcement by both the local and Federal authorities, Crawford's bootlegging business received a series of setbacks. He was arrested repeatedly by city, county and Federal authorities and fined heavily. Two years ago he was arrested in a Federal raid and sent to jail for six months for liquor law violations. He was arrested on liquor charges during the Federal cleanup here a year ago but escaped with a light sentence by testifying for the Government in a conspiracy charge against Leslie B. Roche, then Sheriff.

With his profits in the liquor business being rapidly wiped away by his uneven fight with the law, Crawford's fortune began to dwindle rapidly as he suffered crop failures on his large farms, and farmers, bankrupted by repeated high waters, were unable to pay for the large quantities of merchandise he had sold them on long time credit.

Crawford was taken to St. Mary's Hospital here two months ago after being stricken with paralysis. He was placed in the county ward. He was penniless and had been living entirely on the charity of a few remaining friends for two months. While at the hospital his former wife, Lena, whom he had married in jail while serving time on a liquor charge, visited him and a reconciliation occurred. Crawford was speechless from the time he was stricken until his death.

THINKS UNIFORM TRAFFIC CODE WILL REDUCE FATALITIES

Judge Beck Says It Will Eliminate "Guessing Contest" by Motorists in Unfamiliar Places.

Speaking in behalf of the uniform traffic code, recently introduced in the Board of Alderman, Police Judge Clyde C. Beck told the South Side Kiwanis Club at a luncheon meeting today that adoption of the code would be "the biggest single factor in reducing the week-end death toll by motorists that my mind could suggest."

"Uniform road laws if adopted throughout the country would eliminate the Sunday guessing contests by motorists and prevent many accidents," he said. "Frequently careful drivers are confused by conflicting regulations and are forced into unintentional violations of the law."

East St. Louis Grocery Held up.

A Kroger store at 1752 State street, East St. Louis, was held up at 5:30 p. m. yesterday by an unmasked youth who fled in an automobile after taking $20 from the cash register. Orvale Marvale, manager of the store, told police he thought the robber was the one who held him up two weeks ago.

CHARLES A. MARQUIS DECLARED SANE AGAIN

Commitment to Asylum Becomes Permanent if He Returns to Drink.

Charles A. Marquis, president of the Missouri Paint & Varnish Co., who was declared insane last July when physicians said he was suffering from an incurable mental disease, was declared sane today by Probate Judge Hodgdon at Clayton, after physicians stated their belief he had regained competency and after he took the stand.

Mrs. Lillian G. Marquis, whom Marquis married before his commitment and after he had obtained a divorce from his first wife, Mrs. Anna Donnelly Marquis, asked for the hearing at which Marquis might prove his sanity. She also, last July, asked to have him committed, when physicians found he had delusions of grandeur.

Well-groomed and at ease, Marquis took the stand to prove his soundness of mind today and was warned against further use of liquor by Judge Hodgdon.

"You understand that if you return to drinking, you'll be back here again and then the order for commitment will be permanent?" Judge Hodgdon said.

"I've promised, your honor, you don't have to worry about that," Marquis said.

Dr. Eugene O'Malley, house physician at St. Vincent's, where Marquis was committed, said Marquis now knew what he was doing. Dr. Francis M. Barnes, specialist in nerve and mental diseases, said he believed Marquis of sound mind.

TWO GROCERIES ARE HELD UP

John Lavobich, manager of a chain grocery at 4708 Virginia avenue, was held up in the store and robbed of $70 by two men at 10 a. m. today. The robbers fled in a machine.

A short time later two robbers answering the same description held up Clifford Brueggeman, manager of another chain grocery at 4647 Shenandoah avenue, and took $100.

Supervisors' Committees Meet.

Six committees of the Madison County Board of Supervisors are holding meetings in Edwardsville, Ill., to examine bills and prepare reports to be presented at the motnhly meeting of the board Nov. 13.

"DIRTY WORK, HOLMES! . . . that's what I call it! Some arch fiend put water in the gas . . . an attempted air robbery. Must be gold in that ship!"

"Within an inch of being gold, Watson . . . it's a rush planeload of Challengers to stop a run on Browning King's style bank in this city."

"How do you know, Holmes?"

"This bit of fabric . . . unmistakably of the Challenger series of suits and topcoats! So superbly loomed, such rich color . . . the very finest of two continents. A case of perfection vs. needless expense. Shows exactly what a century-full of experience will do!"

"Quite suddenly, Holmes, I shall be off to Browning King's for a suit of that magnificent material! It's irresistible!"

14 OF 16 BOUND OVER FOR GASTONIA KILLING

Judge Ends Investigation of Woman's Death in Strike Disorders.

GASTONIA, N. C., Nov. 8.—The inquiry being conducted by Judge P. A. McElroy, sitting as a committing magistrate, into the death of Mrs. Ella May Wiggins during strike disorders here came to an abrupt close today when the prosecution closed its case and the defense announced it would offer no evidence.

Roy Carter and Howard West, two of the 16 defendants charged with murder in connection with the death, were released.

The 14 others were ordered placed under bond for their appearance before the grand jury at the January term of Superior Court.

New York Police Block Reception to Convicted Slayer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. — Police frustrated plans of 1000 workers for a reception in Pennsylvania Station to Fred Beal, one of the men convicted recently of the slaying of Police Chief Aderholt of Gastonia, N. C., during a police raid on a tent colony of strikers.

The crowd had planned to carry Beal triumphantly through the station on his arrival here last night to assist in raising funds for the aid of his co-defendants. When he arrived police held the crowd in check, and ushered Beal quickly from his train to a taxicab. Members of the reception committee attempted to break through the police lines and policemen snatched several banners bearing communist exhortations. Finally the workers marched to the street singing "Solidarity Forever."

HAWES AGAINST MOVE TO PUNISH BUYERS OF LIQUOR

Declares Proposal Should Be Made in Form of Constitutional Amendment With a Referendum.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Senator Harry B. Hawes of Missouri, in a radio talk last night, opposed the proposal of Senator Sheppard of Texas, to amend the Volstead act so as to make the purchaser of liquor equally punishable with the seller. Senator Sheppard spoke to a radio audience in support of his proposal a week ago.

"This new proposal," the Missouri Senator said, "will not intimidate many, but it will infuriate a great many. There will be indignation deep and strong at the attempt to put tens of millions of our people in the felon class. It is a new experiment, which wise prohibitionists will not term 'a noble experiment.' Advocates of this change should ask that it be made by constitutional amendment, through a referendum."

He argued that the proposed amendment would "add to the power and immunity of the bootlegger by closing the mouths of his customers under threat of five years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine. It would impede law enforcement and promote lawlessness. It would give additional security to the bootlegger, provide a new field for the blackmailer, and create an enlarged 'gangland.'

In the Criminal Class.

"It is suggested that a provision might give immunity to the purchaser who testifies, but whether he had immunity or not, he would nevertheless be placed in the criminal class. It would put him in the informer class, the spy class; it would ruin him in the opinion of respectable men and women if he did testify. We would produce a new class of perjurers, and we would make it possible for the bootlegger to blackmail the purchaser, and in that way strengthen himself and provide greater immunity.

"Prohibition officers have temporarily abandoned the search of homes and farms for liquor, but this is merely a concession to public opinion. The prohibition officers may change their policy, as they have power to do. Then who will draw the distinction between giving away a drink and selling a drink? How many spies and meddlers would charge it was a sale when it was only a gift? How many neighborhood quarrels, feuds and fight would be started? Under this new provision what will be the difference between possessing and giving away, and possessing and selling?

"The farmer has a neighbor who is an enemy, and another neighbor who is a friend. The friend gives him a bottle of wine or beer. The enemy hears of it and charges that it was a purchase. And the burden of proof of innocence falls on the innocent recipient of the gift. Where will such mischief end?"

Crowded Penitentiaries.

Senator Hawes spoke of the crowded condition of panal institutions, and argued that the Sheppard proposal would require an increase of prison facilities, and the creation of new judgeships and enforcement positions. Under the present policy of pursuing the seller only, he said, 69 enforcement officers and 170 civilians have been killed in connection with Federal enforcement. Many more killings would occur, he believed, if the buyer were the object of pursuit.

He said the "only fair way" to bring about such a change would be by amending the Constitution, through a referendum. In such a referendum, he said, bootleggers would be likely to support the proposal. Some prohibitionists would oppose it, he said: some anti-prohibitionists would support it, in the hope of making the law as obnoxious as possible, to hasten its downfall. He pointed out that no state, in the period of scattered state prohibition before the Eighteenth Amendment, ever made the purchase of liquor a crime.

"We cannot make people believe," he said, "that a new commandment, 'Thou shalt not purchase liquor,' has the solemnity, the sanctity or the authority of the commandment, 'Thou shalt not kill.' "

In concluding, Senator Hawes, well known as an opponent of prohibition, denied that the prohibition laws had improved the condition of labor or added to the general prosperity. He said that, if prohibition had helped the industrial districts so greatly, it should have made the farmer more prosperous also. He held that prohibition had nothing to do with the laboring man's gains or the farmer's losses, and that it did not cause stocks to rise in the past or to crash recently.

$105,000 HOLDUP IN WISCONSIN BANK EMPLOYE BEATEN

Five Men Take Cash and Securities From Farmers' and Merchants' Depository at Jefferson.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON, Wis., Nov. 8. — Authorities today had nothing more tangible than an automobile license number and incomplete descriptions on which to base their search for five men who robbed the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank yesterday of approximately $105,000 in cash and securities. The license number apparently issued in Ohio, and the descriptions led the Sheriff to wire the Bureau of Criminal Identification at Columbus.

The robbery was so well executed that the men slipped easily through a hastily formed posse in Southern Wisconsin.

The burglar alarm at the Farmers & Merchants Bank was set off about once a week for test purposes. Another bank, just across the street, sounded its alarm most every day at 3 p. m. when the bank closed. Consequently, citizens paid no attention when its clanging actually signaled a robbery. Only a few passersby and a neighbor grocer realized that the bank was being robbed and they were held at bay at the point of a pistol.

The men, unmasked and each carrying a pistol, strode into the bank at noon, forced five persons to lie on the floor, slugged Assistant Cashier W. S. Kister and after firing several shots, went through the vault and cages. They obtained $8400 in cash, $28,000 in negotiable Liberty bonds and $69,000 in non-negotiable securities. The loss was covered by insurance.

All main roads in Wisconsin were put under guard as county authorities watched for the robbers. They were reported seen at Hebron, a small town south of Jefferson, heading toward Illinois.

Only four persons were in the bank, during the noon hour, when the robbers drove up. One man remained on guard on the sidewalk, while the other four entered. Charles Owen, a manufacturer, was looking into the bank window. The men seized him and took him inside. He and two assistant cashiers, W. S. Kisper and Frederick Bullwinkel, Lucille Langer, a clerk, and Leonard Vogel, a grocer, were ordered to lie down.

While two men guarded them, the other two scooped up the cash and securities in the cages and vault.

When Kispert touched off the burglar alarm one of the men fired twice. Kispert then was beaten by one of the robbers with his revolver. As he raised himself on one elbow and groaned the robber leveled his gun at him and said: "One more groan and it'll be your last."

The four then ran out and escaped.

SUSPECT AND PATROLMAN SHOT TO DEATH IN FIGHT

Former, Overtaken in Chase, Opens Fire on Three Officers at Winchester, Ky.

By the Associated Press.

WINCHESTER, Ky., Nov. 8.— A gun fight between three members of the Winchester Police Department and a man whom they had been called to arrest resulted in the fatal shooting of two men here late yesterday. Patrolman P. Lloyd Faulkner, 65 years old, died an hour after he was taken to a hospital, and Mike Wills, 32, former railroad contractor, who fought the officers, succumbed shortly after he fell.

The fight followed an automobile chase. The officers were called to a pool room, where it was reported Wills had been causing a disturbance. He had driven away when they arrived.

Near the city limits the officers overtook Wills, who leaped out of his car as the police machine drew alongside, and with an oath and the exclamation, "You've followed me far enough," opened fire.

Faulkner fell as he stepped from the rear seat, pierced by a single bullet. Wills was shot down by Chief of Police Sid Bush and Patrolman Mal Tarpy, both on the front seat.

BODY OF MAN WHO ENDED LIFE TO BE CREMATED

Request That Ashes Be Scattered and No Tombstone Erected to Be Followed.

A request left in a note by Bert W. Zaehringer, 25-year-old bank teller of Belleville, Ill., who took his life Tuesday afternoon, that his body be cremated and the ashes thrown to the "four corners of heaven and earth," will be followed out to the best of her ability by the aunt, Mrs. Frieda Keefe, 312 Scheel street, to whom it was addressed and with whom Zaehringer made his home.

Following a post-mortem Wednesday by Dr. R. H. B. Gradwohl, St. Louis pathologist, and a Coroner's inquest yesterday, Coroner W. W. Boyne of East St. Louis returned a verdict of death by ingesting poison self administered with suicidal intent.

Zaehringer's note also requested that it be forgotten that he ever lived, that no tombstone be erected or any trace or remembrance of himself be left. No reason has been assigned for Zaehringer's death or his requests.

He was a member of the Belleville Chapter 106 of the Masonic Order, a member of the drill team, chairman of the Republican Young Peoples' League and a past member of the De Moley order.

The body will lie at the Masonic home until 3 p. m. today, when it will be taken to St. Louis mation.

ROBBER CAPTURED BY YOUTHS AFTER SEARCH IN COUNTY

Highwayman Who Took Edward Rosenhauer's Auto Promised to Leave It in Carondelet Park.

When a highwayman failed to fulfill his promise to abandon their automobile in Carondelet Park last night, two South St. Louis youths went hunting for him with two more young men and a shotgun.

Two hours later, after a search which led them several miles into St. Louis County, the four recovered the car and captured a man who was identified as the robber and admitted it, according to police.

At 9:30 o'clock Edward Rosenhauer, 700 Loughborough avenue, and Arthur Mayo, 417 East Marceau street, were seated in the former's automobile on Edgar road, near Broadway, in the county, when a man with a revolver climbed in, took $4 from Mayo and drove off with the car, promising to leave it in Carondelet Park.

Started on Search.

The victims notified police who took them through the park in a vain hunt for the car. Had the robber kept his word and left the car for them, Rosenhauer and Mayo would have accepted the $4 loss philosophically, they said.

As it was, they were angry. They enlisted the services of frends, Edward Banz, 121 Wise avenue, St. Louis County, and Cyril Meuerer, 147 West Louis avenue. The four set out in Meuerer's automobile, Banz taking along a shotgun.

They saw the stolen car on Sappington road near Telegraph road and crowded it to one side. The driver jumped out and fled across a field. Banz fired two shots which went wild, but he overtook the runner and they engaged in a hand-to-hand struggle for possession of the shotgun.

Thief Is Overpowered.

With the aid of his companion Banz subdued the fugitive who was brought back to the city and locked up at the Carondelet Police Station. He said he was Herman Osterloh, 29 years old, a carpenter, 9702 Edgar road. Police announced that he was identified as the robber by Rosenhauer and Mayo, and that when asked what he had done with Mayo's $4, he answered: "Oh, I spent that."

Victims of other holdups on the South Side will be asked to look at the prisoner.

Rosenhauer and Mayo are each 19 years old. Banz is 20 and Meuerer is 24.

WOMAN AUTO RACER PUT ON PROBATION FOR A YEAR

Joan La Coste of Memphis Convicted of Attempted Robbery in Chicago.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Joan La Coste, automobile race driver from Memphis, Tenn., convicted of attempted robbery, was placed today on probation for one year. Her offense is punishable by a jail sentence of from one to 14 years.

A jury found her guilty of entering the hotel apartment of Mrs. Rebecca Bobbe early in October with the intent to rob. A toy pistol and handkerchief saturated with chloroform were found in her possession.

The State's Attorney was censured by the court for having pressed a felony charge against Miss La Coste, maintaining the evidence merited only a misdemeanor.

Testifying in her own behalf Miss La Coste said that she had intended asking Mrs. Bobbe for a loan and she was in need of money. She said she had purchased the chloroform to kill herself if her appeal to Mrs. Bobbe failed. She asserted the toy pistol was merely an odd cigarette case. Examination of the pistol in court showed it contained cigarettes.

Studies Live Birds at Home Instead of Dead Skins

S. P. Baldwin Honorary Head of All Bird Banding Societies in U. S. Tells of His Work and Its Value.

BIRD BANDER

SAMUEL PRENTISS BALDWIN.

At Gates Mills, O., in the heart of Chagrin Valley, 10 miles out of Cleveland, is a 100-acre estate where each year several thousands of wild birds are handled by human hands, and where the habits of the house wren are studied under laboratory conditions. The estate is the bird farm of Samuel Prentiss Baldwin, Cleveland business man and honorary president of all bird bandin associations in the country. Baldwin and his assistants—a staff of three or four professional ornithologists — walk about the grounds peering into nests, counting eggs, taking the temperature of birds, banding them with numbered aluminum rings supplied by the United States Biological Survey, and the birds are not at all disturbed. They like it so well that about 30 per cent of them return to the farm each spring after wintering in the South.

Baldwin is attending the convention of the Inland Bird-Banding Association, one of four such organizations he has fathered. The meeting, at the Kingsway Hotel, opened yesterday and will continue through Sunday.

Began Work in 1914.

Baldwin began in 1914 banding birds, so that their migrations could be traced. This was before the Government had taken up the work. In 1920 he established his laboratory at Gates Mills, and since then has made an intensive study of the house wren. Other birds have been subjects at the laboratory, but they have been used only incidentally, to check the results of experiments with wrens.

The house wren, a familiar brown songster, was chosen because it is most common and easiest to trap, nesting as it does, in boxes. The little wren that becomes a subject of the laboratory has almost no privacy. The wrenograph, an electrical recording device with contacts on inner and outer perches of the nest, translates its every movement onto a moving strip of graph paper. Another graph records its temperature and the temperature of the nest. Tracing one of the graphs today, Baldwin explained its meaning.

Reading a Wrenograph.

"Here where the line is even," he said. "It is night and the bird is quiet. Toward dawn, you see, it got up, moved about within the nest for three minutes, and then became quiet. Its temperature dropped a couple of degrees from 108 at that time. About 15 minutes later it got up again, went outside, and came right back in.

"Now on this one, the female is hatching her eggs. You see, she didn't leave the nest all day, but the ragged marks, where her temperature fluctuated, show that she stood up from time to time to receive food from her mate.

"This graph shows the two adult birds bringing food to their young. The line is very irregular, indicating they made many trips to the nest."

In other laboratory processes the weight of the birds is determined at different seasons and under varying conditions, and carefully recorded. Records kept also of the temperature of different parts of the birds' Normal body temperature

best dressed men looked at

THE UNITED HUNTS
AUTUMN RACING MEET

at Belmont Park, Long Island, Tuesday, November 5

by Hart Schaffner & Marx artists and style observers

Neckties were striped—widespaced, regimental and cluster stripes. Derby hats and the Homburg with deep curled brim tapered fore and aft were "in the money" The Prince of Wales was not there but the collar he made famous was the ruling favorite

Above: Sketch of spectator who is considered one of the best dressed men in America; derby, wing collar, polka dot Ascot tie, covert topcoat

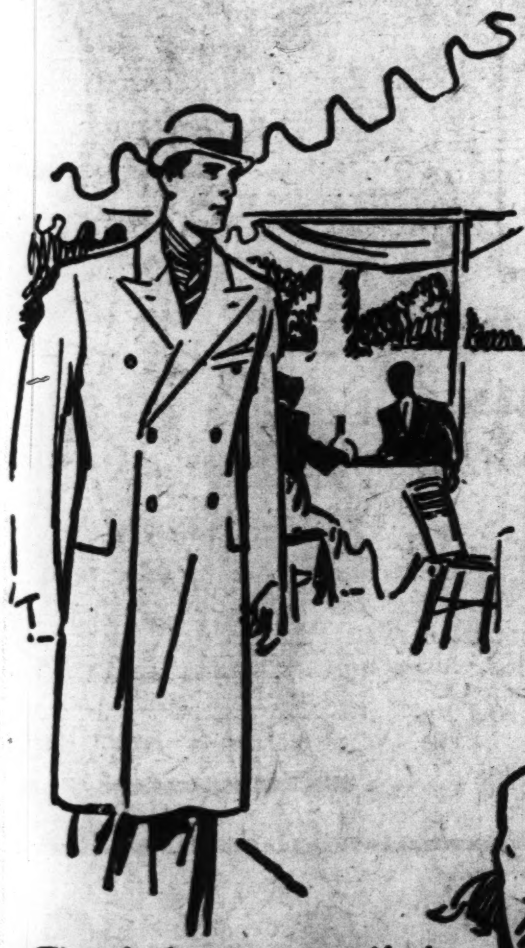
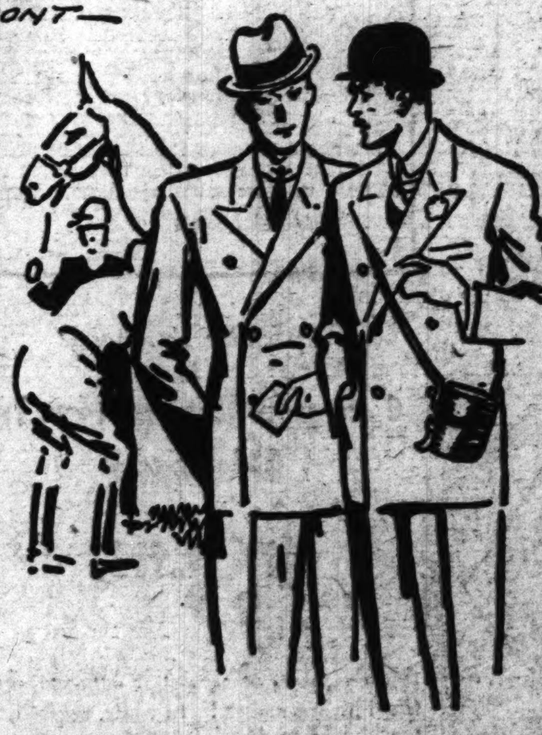
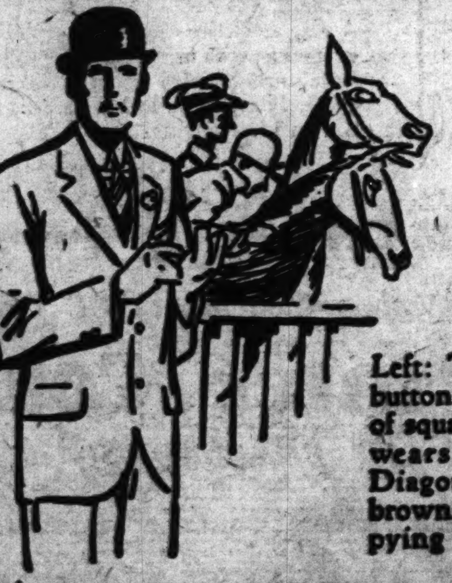
HUB LENZ
BELMONT—



Here we are at Belmont Park—the official closing chapter of the racing season—and an opening chapter of "what men will wear this fall and winter." The United Hunts has the distinction of attracting America's best dressed men and women—recognized leaders in finance, in society, in sports—the group that is the real pace setter for a great part of America's fashion





In the Paddock we found well-turned-out judges of horses. On the left the authentic English double breasted in Corona brown—right navy blue double breasted—a bit less formal yet with a definite air of smartness

The refreshment tent outside the Turf and Field Club—note the fitted double breasted overcoat; broad shouldered, trim waist—black and white weaves were worn by many of the well groomed members of the United Hunts

Left: Trouble at the barrier Three button single breasted (who is in hopes of squaring his accounts for the season) wears a brown self-pattern weave. Diagonals and plain-colored Corona browns and Pyramid greys were occupying the enclosure chairs and boxes

TO STUDY TEMBLORS IN NEW MADRID AREA

St. Louis U. and Government to Try to Determine Cause of Many Earthquakes.

An effort to determine the cause of earth tremors which have continued persistently in the district about New Madrid, Mo., since the log cabins of the settlement there were shaken down more than a century ago by the severest earthquake recorded in North America, is to be made by St. Louis University in co-operation with Government and scientific agencies.

The Rev. James B. Macelwane, S. J., head of the university's department of geophysics, will leave next week to select stations at which two seismographs, which record movements of the earth's surface, will be installed. The instruments are being furnished at a cost of $4000 by the National Research Council, which is affiliated with the National Academy of Science.

An appropriation of $5000 for surveys of the region, 150 miles long and 50 miles wide, extending roughly from Cairo to Memphis, on both sides of the Mississippi, is included in the budget of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, to be presented to Congress in December. A portion of this amount will be required for the erection of concrete monuments, relative changes in position of which will indicate movements of the earth. A triangulation survey, similar to the one carried out last summer in connection with flood control work, will be made.

Thus, the hitherto, unexplored geology of the district will be examined, the theory held being that disturbances are attributable to slips and faults in the deep earth crust underlying the soft sediment deposited by the river. Efforts will be made to determine the cause of the strain which fractures the crust.

Few lives were lost, because the population was small, when New Madrid was shaken Dec. 16, 1811, and again Jan. 23, 1812. Since then about 2000 tremors have been recorded, including a shock two years ago, when chimneys were shaken down at Jonesboro, Ark.

STUDIES LIVE BIRDS AT HOME INSTEAD OF DEAD SKINS

wrens varies between 104 and 112 degrees, the variation being due to lack of regulatory equipment in their physiological systems. New-hatched wrens are cold blooded, they take on the temperature of the surrounding atmosphere, and have survived body temperatures as low as 50 degrees. After four or five days their blood begins to warm, and after 10 days they do not differ in this respect from adult birds.

What good has the laboratory accomplished? Baldwin is often called upon to answer this question. "In the first place," he says, "We have exploded a lot of myths. It used to be that everyone was taught not to go near birds' nests. They were told not to handle eggs, or if necessary to pick them up with gloves or with a teaspoon. We know that is wrong. We handle the eggs and the young, and the mother birds pay no attention to us. But let a stranger come within 50 feet of the nest and they begin to scold. We have learned that most small birds do not mate for life, sometimes they have two mates in the same breeding season. We are studying live birds instead of dead skins in a museum.

Practical Value of Work.

"Our laboratory work started out to be research in the field of pure science, but before we knew it, it turned out to have a very practical significance. The Bureau of Entomology has asked for our statistics on temperatures of various parts of the body to help it in its work to eliminate lice in poultry.

"We are planning now to study the effect of fear, fatigue and other conditions on body temperatures. A doctor in the East who specializes in pediatrics has told us that information would be useful to him in his work."

About 4000 birds were handled this summer on Baldwin's estate. Bands were placed on 1800; the others had been banded in former years. A cat bird returned to the estate last summer for the seventh consecutive year and there were others there for their third or fourth summer.

400,000 Wild Birds Banded.

About 200 members are attending the convention, which is here through invitation of the Webster Groves Nature Study Society and the St. Louis Bird Club. Motion pictures illustrating methods of trapping and banding birds were shown to the convention last night in the auditorium of the medical school of Washington University.

Members from Canada and Northern states today told of the progress of bird banding in their territories. It is estimated that about 400,000 wild birds are now banded. The migration habits of the bronzed Grackle and of gulls on the Northern lakes, also were discussed.

A banquet will be held at the Kingsway Hotel tonight at 7 o'clock. Clark McAdams will tell of migrations of ducks and geese in the Mississippi Valley, Baldwin will talk on the American eagle, and Francis H. Herrick of Western Reserve University, will give an illustrated lecture.

VOLUNTEER RAPID TRANSIT COMMITTEE HOLDS MEETING

Harry Bortin, Engineer, Heads Citizens' Conference as Temporary Chairman.

The group calling itself the Voluntary Citizens' Conference Committee on Rapid Transit met at luncheon yesterday at the City Club and elected Harry Bortin, a consulting engineer, temporary chairman. It authorized Bortin to appoint a committee on permanent organization to report at a meeting next Thursday.

Those at yesterday's meeting besides Bortin were J. W. Burns, Richard Bland, B. A. Springrose, W. B Rutledge Jr., Dr. B. E. Lischer, W. T. Collins, W. F. Allen, Mrs. Louise Custer, Victor Packman, A. L. Abbott, T. M. Pegram and E. M. Read Jr.

A tentative outline of principles suggested by Bortin included the statement that the committee would oppose any new transportation franchise until a comprehensive rapd transit plan has been worked out after a thorough survey and approved by the people.

REVOLT IN RUSSIA REPORTED

Peasants Fighting Red Army, Rumanian Newspapers Say.

By the Associated Press.

CONSTANZA, Rumania, Nov. 8 —Newspapers here publish rumors of a peasant revolt against the Soviet Government in Southern Russia. Serious fighting between peasants and the Red Army was said to be in progress in Batum and Sebastopol.

Rumanian reports about events in Russia are generally to be taken with caution, because they have not always proved to be accurate.

SHBEL MACDONALD DEPLORES BRITISH SWANK IN AMERICA

Tells Labor Meeting It Is Wrong to Go to U. S. and Canada With Superiority Complex.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—"My impressions of America," were related last night by Ishbel MacDonald at a labor meeting which overflowed the Hampstead Town Hall and caused her to make an address in the open air as well as to those who packed the structure.

"I was struck very much with the sense that we Britishers have been wrong in going to the United States and Canada imbued with a superiority complex and trying to push our ideas on to Americans," she said. "I am afraid we have not had very good people to represent us there in the past."

Miss MacDonald said that on several occasions people in America told her it was "strange that you do not preach to us and tell us how to do things because we are used to having people come out here telling us how they do things and how we should do them." The daughter of the Prime Minister suggested that more English people ought to go to the United States and Canada for their holiday trips. "Then we would have a better understanding than at present between the two sides of the Atlantic," she said.

Miss MacDonald declined to express her opinion of American women. She said she had been asked to do so several times, but always had refused. "Not because what I think of them is unsayable," she explained, "but because it is a personal matter and I do not believe in talking about what one thinks of other people."

Feng Denies Alliance With Yen.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 8.—Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang's alleged statement that he and Yen Hsi-shan, Governor of Shensi Province were cooperating in the People's Army hostilities against the Nanking Nationalist Government caused a sharp denial on the part of Yen Hsi-shan. He authorized his Peiping representative to declare: "Yen Hsi-shan has authorized me to announce that the interview so far as Yen Hsi-shan is concerned is groundless." The Nationalist Government claims Yen Hsi-shan has accepted an appointment as vice chief commander of the Nationalist army, navy and air forces.

WMBB and WOK Barred.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Radio stations WMBB and WOK yesterday were restrained from further broadcasting through an injunction issued by Federal Judge Wilkerson. The Government complained the stations were using wave lengths other than those assigned by the Government.

SAILOR SAYS MAN AND WOMAN HELD HIM UP, GETTING $185

Member of Submarine Crew Sent to New London, Conn., by Police.

A tall woman and a short man, each displaying a revolver, held him up on Lucas avenue near Grand boulevard and robbed him of $185 and railroad transportation, William Berry, member of a navy submarine crew, reported to police at 10 o'clock last night.

Berry, a native of Greenboro, N. C., said he was due for duty at New London, Conn. today. Police took him to Union Station and put him on a train.

Clifford Barnes, attendant at a filling station at 6070 Cates avenue, was held up by two men and robbed of $20.

Jack Roufa, 5188A Cates avenue, was held up and robbed of 95 cents near Page boulevard and Kingshighway.

ANTI-JEWISH BARRIER IN MEDICAL COLLEGES

St. Louis U. Dean Says Students Are Excluded in Some Schools Through Pretext.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The Rev. A. M. Schwitalla, S. J., dean of the St. Louis University School of Medicine, yesterday told the Association of American Medical Colleges that able Jewish students often are excluded on a pretex from medical schools.

The excuse for denying them a medical education, he said, was the association's practice of grouping personality and poor scholarship as a basis for rejection.

"These considerations should be separated entirely as a a cause for refusal of admission to medical colleges," he said. "The combination of them is unfair to the student and results in the exclusion of the applicants for reasons other than lack of ability."

The Rev. Father Schwitalla recently completed a study of the scholastic achievements of medical students at St. Louis University previously rejected by the admission committees of from one to 25 other medical schools. He said there was little relation between the decisions of the committees and subsequent scholastic records of the rejected candidates.

Harold Rypins, secretary of the New York Board of Medical Examiners, said there was increased confidence in the ability of medical faculties to judge of matters pertaining to medical education without assistance from State agencies.

He said that only practical reasons prevented the acceptance of a degree earned in an accredited medical school as a legal right to practice medicine.

MUNICIPAL WAREHOUSE FIRES UNDER INQUIRY IN MINNEAPOLIS

Six in Six Months; Attempts Made to Destroy Graft Evidence, Prosecutor Thinks.

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 8.—Thinking an attempt had been made to destroy evidence of graft of which several local aldermen have already been convicted, William G. Compton, Assistant County Attorney, today began an investigation of six fires at the Municipal Warehouse in the last six months.

Charred and oil soaked, thousands of records, covering several years, have been removed to a guarded vault, while Compton pursues his investigation. Several records were destroyed in the fires, the most recent of which broke out Saturday night in the record room. Lead had been pounded into the lock on the fire door of the room, Compton said.

WILKINS FIVE DAYS FROM THE FALKLANDS

Explorer to Stop There Only Few Hours on Way to Base.

By CAPTAIN SIR HUBERT WILKINS,
Commanding Second Wilkins-Hearst Expedition Into Antarctic.

(Copyright, 1929.)
This story is published exclusively in St. Louis in the Post-Dispatch. All news articles from members of the Wilkins party or from special correspondents assigned to it will appear only in the Post-Dispatch in this city.

S. S MELVILLE, Nov. 7 (by Radio).—Approaching the Falkland Islands, there is a nip of ice in the air. Borne on the south wind, it stings our nostrils and awakens memories and stirs the imagination. It starts us wondering how long it will be before the warm and scented tropic breezes greet us again.

It is exhilaratingly cool in the sparkling sunshine, and this weather makes us eager to reach our base at Deception Island, stir up our whirlwind engines from their winter slumber, and soar on wooden wings above the majestic Antarctic.

Since leaving Uruguay, Cramer and Chessman, our pilots, have been poring over charts and memorizing the contours of the Island's conspicuous features. They are eager for the fray. Potter, our mechanic, handles his wrenches and spanners lovingly, anxious to get working. Everyone is spoiling for activity.

Our steam-heated quarters aboard the Melville are most comfortable and the fare and service are as excellent as aboard a trans-Atlantic liner. Our Norwegian friends are congenial and helpful, as usual.

Our complete equipment is safely stored, with nothing missing. Our wireless arrangements will not be complete, however, until we are anchored off Deception Island, which will be in about five days.

So far, the weather has been fine and the trip delightful. We are staying at the Falklands only a few hours, in order to visit the Governor and other officials.

TOYTOWN'S WORLD'S FAIR

Opens Saturday

Santa Claus, the same, generous, jolly little old gentleman that all the children love, with the same gay, red and white suit, "seven-league boots" . . . with the same merry twinkle in his very blue eyes, will be at Nugents Saturday. This year he left his reindeer behind, for fleet as they are, his new wonderful aeroplane is swifter and has more room to carry the thousands and thousands of marvelous toys from his big busy work shop at the North Pole. Nugents celebrate the arrival of Santa Saturday with an advance opening of Toyland's World's Fair and invite all the kiddies of St. Louis and surrounding vicinity to be on hand to greet old Santa and to marvel at the wonders of Toyland's World's Fair.

NOTHING LIKE IT IN ST. LOUIS . . . . NOTHING TO COMPARE WITH IT. A GREAT TREAT FOR THE KIDDIES

The miniature World's Fair with the midway leading direct to the home of Santa Claus in Fairyland . . . brilliant red and green lights . . . colorful flags and various booths which have been constructed to resemble exposition buildings at a Fair, housing Santa's wonderful toys, provides for busy mothers and eager childgen unlimited advantages in making selection of holiday toys.

UNIVERSAL AIR LINES CANOPY FOR ITS ST. LOUIS STATION

Permission to Erect Second Such Structure at Lambert Field Is Granted.

Permission to erect a temporary canopy similar to one already in use at Lambert-St. Louis Field was granted the Universal Air Lines yesterday by the City Airport Commission. The canopy, which is to be canvas over a collapsible iron frame, will be used for protection of persons boarding or alighting from air liners.

In granting the permission the commission pointed out that when the central air terminal building is constructed, there will be no further need for canopies, inasmuch as all passenger planes will start from one building and passengers will board the ships and alight under cover.

Transcontinental Air Transport, operating train-plane service between New York and California, owns the canopy already in use. Universal operates a competing line.

UNION LEADER CHARGED WITH STRIKE ATTACK

Organizer Identified as Leader of Assault on Two Upholsterers.

Salvatore Hoffmann, 36 years old, organizer for the upholsterers' union, arrested yesterday, was identified, according to police, as the leader of an assault on two nonunion upholsterers employed at the Landau Cabinet Co., Oct. 31.

The identification was made by Harry Buckles, 5568 Vernon avenue, who, with a companion, was severely beaten by six men who crowded Buckles' machine to the curb at Kingshighway and Forest Park boulevard. Hoffman, who denied the charge, was released on bond pending presentation of the case to the Circuit Attorney. He resides at the Fairground Hotel.

A strike of 150 union upholsterers was called several weeks ago when employers refused to meet wage and working condition demands. Negotiations between the union and employers so far have failed to bring a settlement and nonunion workers have been employed at a majority of the concerns involved.

Udell Smith, an upholsterer employed at the Artistic Furniture Co., 3446 Lindell boulevard, was assaulted by an unidentified man in front of the store at noon yesterday. The assailant escaped in an automobile as a policeman, who witnessed the assault, approached.

Preparing Album for Hoover.

By the Associated Press.

TEGUCIGALPA, Nicaragua, Nov. 8.—An illuminated autograph album, intended for President Hoover as souvenir of his South American trip last winter, was brought here yesterday by Oso Serricchio, an Argentine newspaper man. It is to contain the signatures of Presidents and Cabinet members of all Latin-American countries. After obtaining the signatures of the Honduran officials, Serricchio left for Salvador and Guatemala.

TURNERS' EX-OFFICER SOUGHT AS EMBEZZLER

Fred R. Goerisch Accused of Taking $1375 of the Society's Funds.

An order for the arrest of Fred R. Goerisch, former secretary of the St. Louis Turners Society, was sent to the police today by the Circuit Attorney's office, under a warrant charging the embezzlement or $1375.66 of the society's funds.

The warrant was issued last April on complaint of D. A. Braun, chairman of the board of the society, who stated the alleged embezzlement was discovered last September when Goerisch failed of re-election as secretary. The warrant was held in abeyance because Goerisch had left the city and his whereabouts was unknown. Members of the society reported recently that he had been seen in the city.

Goerisch, who is 40 years old and lived at 4040 Loughborough avenue, had been secretary of the society for many years. Shortly after he left office, his successor, E. H. Tellhorst, 7511 Minnesota avenue, reported that he could not account for the sum on which the complaint was based. The society is composed of various German gymnastic organizations in the St Louis district.

$1.08 INSURANCE JUDGMENT ON THEFT CLAIM FOR 862 TIRES

That Amount Awarded to Reliable Firm by Jury in Federal Court.

Judgment of $1 and interest amounting to eight cents was awarded to The Reliable Automobile Tire Co., 3117-19 Locust street, by a Federal jury in Judge Davis' Court yesterday. The claim was against the Aetna Casualty & Surety Co., Hartford, Conn., based on the alleged theft of 862 tires Feb. 11.

Testimony for the plaintiff was that the thieves entered the Reliable firm's building through a third story window and took the tires from the fourth floor, throwing them in a lot in the rear. A policeman on the beat and a clerk of a nearby hotel testified they saw no one about the building and heard no noise during the night.

The ground floor of the tire company's building was wired with burglar alarms which did not go off during the night.

DEATH OF YOUNG FOXES LAID TO NOISE OF PLANES

Nebraska Ranch Concern Files Suit for $40,000 Against Transport Company.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 8.—Suit for $40,000 damages in which it is charged that air mail planes flying low over a silver fox ranch at Meadow, Neb., caused the death of 56 young foxes was filed in District Court yesterday against the Boeing Air Transport Co. by the Nebraska Silver Fox Corporation.

The suit says that the planes fly at an altitude of less than 300 feet and that the noise, vibration and appearance of the machines at this height frightens the foxes, particularly the females. The greatest harm, the petition avers, comes during the months of April, May and June when the young are born. During this time in 1929 the petition states, young foxes were trampled by their mothers.

PATRICK J. GIBBONS BACK FROM VISIT IN IRELAND

Worker in Behalf of Freedom Gets Gift From His Native Town.

Bringing with him a blackthorn stick presented by his native town of Westport, in West Ireland, in appreciation of his services in the cause of Irish freedom, Patrick J. Gibbons, general agent for the Missouri State Life Insurance Co., in St. Louis, has returned after his first trip to the Emerald Isle since he left it on his honeymoon 20 years ago.

Gibbons was a delegate to the Irish convention at Philadelphia, Pa., in 1919 and later served on a committee which waited upon President Wilson to seek his influence in behalf of Irish freedom.

Ireland has changed greatly in the last two decades, Gibbons said, possessing an excellent system of hard-surfaced roads, making up-to-date resorts available. The Government has become stabilized, Gibbons said, and an old age pension has eliminated poorhouses.

ATTACK ON JEWS IN HEBRON LAID TO FALSE REPORTS

Police Head Says Arabs Were Aroused by Rumor Co-Religionists Were Killed in Jerusalem.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co. (The New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

JERUSALEM, Nov. 8.—The massacre at Hebron last Aug. 23 was recalled in all its details yesterday when Keelen Preedy, counsel for the Palestine administration, read before the British Commission investigating the causes of the rioting a report submitted by Cafferata, superintendent of the Hebron police, the only British subject in the city the day of the tragedy.

The report emphasizes that disorders were unexpected as relations between the Arabs and the Jews were friendly. False reports from Jerusalem that Jews were killing Arabs there started the trouble, the report stated. When these reached Hebron crowds assembled in the streets, stoning the houses of Jews and killing the one student they found in a religious school which they stormed.

The Jews were warned not to show themselves. Friday night passed quietly, Hebron authorities assuring the Chief of Police that he need not fear further violence.

Students Stoned to Death.

Early Saturday, Cafferata's report stated, two students who appeared in the street were stoned to death, despite his efforts to rescue them from the mob. The crowd, armed with clubs, axes and daggers, then began attacking Jewish houses.

The police were ordered to fire but not before the mob emerged from a house, where a large number of Jews had been concentrated on police orders and where 16 were killed. Dispersed by the police, the mob made for the Ghetto into which it penetrated despite pickets who had been posted to keep it out.

In the Ghetto, the witness saw indiscriminate looting of bazars.

Cross-examination by Lord Erleigh, one of the Zionist counsel, brought out the fact that, while the Mufti's alleged letter inciting to bloodshed was not circulated in Hebron, as far as the witness was aware, the head men of surrounding villages reported on Aug. 23 that the Grand Mufti had urged them to go to Jerusalem.

Cafferata denied reports of Jewish attacks on Arabs in Hebron.

Moslems Protected Neighbors.

Lord Erleigh introduced into the records a statement from the Zionist executive that the only redeeming feature of the Hebron tragedy was the fact that some Moslems sheltered and protected Jewish neighbors at the risk of their own lives.

Counsel for the Arabs tried to draw from Cafferata some circumstances mitigating the savagery of the attackers. The attorney attempted to show that the Jews brought trouble on themselves by their lack of discipline, appearing in the streets after they had been ordered to stay in their houses.

MACDONALD WINS THIRD VICTORY IN COMMONS IN WEEK

British Premier Successful Against Conservatives in Debate on Policy in India.

BITTER ATTACK MADE ON LLOYD GEORGE

"Hopes People Realize He Represents Only Few," Says Secretary of State of Asiatic Possession.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Prime Minister MacDonald's Labor Government has weathered its third storm within a week in the British House of Commons, and now apparently faces clearer sailing.

The third victory, gained yesterday, disposes for several months of criticism of policy in India and leaves the Simon Commission on Indian Statutory Reform free to continue its work.

Previously this week the Laborites had their way in gaining tacit approval for the unemployment plans of J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal, and in actual approval of arrangements which had been made for resumption of relations with Soviet Russia.

After a long debate yesterday the Commons voted withdrawal of a motion offered by a Conservative questioning wisdom of the recent declaration of Lord Irwin, Viceroy of India, on eventual attainment of dominion status for India.

During the debate the Commons heard Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, tell how he had agreed to Lord Irwin's declaration, but later withdrew his approval, heard a Labor Minister answer rather sharply David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, on whose pleasure the life of the Labor Government may depend, and heard Sir John Simon, Liberal, himself plead the Labor's cause.

Capt. Wedgewood Benn, Secretary of State for India, said he hoped the people of India would realize Lloyd George represented only a handful of the members of the House of Commons.

Lloyd George yesterday was in opposition to the Government for the second time within the week, having assailed the unemployment schemes of J. H. Thomas. He approved resumption of relations with Soviet Russia, however.

Snowmobile Loses Struggle With Antarctic Drifts; Crew Walks 80 Miles Back to Camp

Three Men of Byrd Party, Carrying and Hauling Supplies, Arrive at Base 10 Days After Car Breaks Down.

By RUSSELL OWEN.

(Copyright, 1929, by the Post-Dispatch and New York Times.)

This story is published exclusively in St. Louis in the Post-Dispatch. All news articles from members of the Byrd party or from special correspondents assigned to it will appear only in the Post-Dispatch in this city.

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Nov. 7.—(By Wireless).—Three men who started off in the snowmobile two weeks ago in another attempt at mechanical transportation in the Antarctic are back in camp. They walked back about 80 miles, having left the snowmobile parked in a drift with its rear end broken from bucking soft snow.

They made the 80 miles in eight days, one of which was spent in their tent during a blizzard, and were greeted with streamers from the radio towers, signal rockets and much good natured "razzing."

At the outset of their journey they went merrily for nearly three days, making good time over the unbroken barrier surface. The engine bucked a little in the snow, and dirt in some unaccountable way began to get into the gasoline line. Jim Feury, who was driving, cleaned it out several times, but the unequal feed adde to the bucking and apparently stripped some teeth from the master gear in the differential.

They met the returning dog teams of the geological party that were on the way back to camp from their first trip and two hours after they parted the snowmobile groaned, whirred and gave up the ghost.

A Gasoline Cache, Anyway.

"It was worth trying," Commander Byrd said. "It was an interesting experiment and if it had succeeded it would have helped the geological party immensely. Anyway," he added with a smile, "We have a gasoline cache out there now if we ever need it on a flight back to camp."

When the little car made its final buck and stopped, the three men, "Blackie" (G. Hamilton Black), who still believes it can be done; big Sverre Strom, who growled guttural skepticism at all machines on snow, and long legged Jim Feury, got out and looked at the car in disgust.

There wasn't a garage in sight and no passing motorist to tow them. Jim crawled underneath and all around the car and finally decided that nothing could be done. They and the machine had done their best, and a lot more than some in camp had thought they could do, but apparently the machine has not yet been built which can conquer hard ridges, bumps and soft snow on the barrier.

Nearly everyone thinks, however, that a specially designed snowmobile would work—a long, low, flexible machine with very wide and carefully designed treads.

There was nothing to do but to walk home. The idea of waiting for the supporting party to catch up with them on the way back was unanimously voted down. "We've got out here and we'll get back alone," was the decision.

And, just then, the sun, which had been shining brightly for several days, went out of sight behind clouds and they did not see it again, except for a moment, until they reached the bay near camp.

They piled the tent, sleeping bags and food on a sledge and started to pull, Strom ahead on skiis and carrying a 40-pound packsack on his shoulders and Black and Feury behind him, harness strapped around their bodies. It was hard pulling, for the sled was short and not one of the easiest running sledges in camp and it carried a little more than 300 pounds.

"Those men who started out to man-haul for three months down here were he-men," Black said when he got in. "My admiration for them went up with every step."

They would march for two or three hours and then halt for a little food and in this way managed to make a little more than 10 miles a day. The overcast sky made visibility very bad and frequently they could not see 30 feet in front of them, particularly when the wind kicked up a light drift.

They frequently had difficulty in picking up flags on the trail and the sledge and snowmobile tracks were almost obliterated. They would keep one flag in sight behind them until they could see another ahead, but sometimes the one ahead did not show up when it should and a man would leave the two others, and keeping them in sight, hunt around till he found the marker.

Easy to Wander From Course.

Sometimes it was far to one side, showing how easily one can wander from a straight line over these snowy wastes. The visibility played queer pranks. Sometimes a flag would jump out at the men before they expected it, and at other times they would see one apparently only a short distance ahead and then walk what seemed to be miles before reaching it.

They could see the water sky at the seaward edge of the barrier after they got about half way to camp, and they steered on a corner of that.

They were soaking wet when they stopped at night, but as they did not have to conserve fuel they sat around the cooker for two or three hours before turning in and dried their socks. Their underwear dried on the bodies naturally. They told stories and laughed at themselves and Strom played on a harmonica.

The day before they reached camp the geological party, which had just started, met them about 15 miles out, where they had halted for the night. That was the first that had been heard of them and word was sent back by radio that they were safe, which relieved everyone's mind.

Help Declined.

The next day Paul Siple with his pup dog team and Dean Smith went out to meet them, but they declined to let their load be pulled in by the dogs.

"We'll finish it," they said, not even stopping to talk.

And about an hour later they came in sight around the corner of the barrier heading up the inlet. The sun was shining and it was quite warm.

The mess hall had been decorated for them with streamers and placards and streamers of paper had been fastened to the radio tower. A signal pistol was fired several times, the balls of fire curving up against the clear blue sky.

The motor of the Ford plane was running, for the craft was just about to be pulled out of its hole, but men deserted it for a moment to welcome the returning tourists.

The wayfarers were stripped to their underclothes down to the waist and their faces were burned from wind and their hair was hanging over their eyes. But they came up the slope grinning and took their medicine.

Then just to show that a little walk of 80 miles did not amount to anything, they helped haul the Ford out of its snow hangar. But they all agreed that flying was a much pleasanter way of seeing the country than man-hauling.

And out on the barrier, all by itself, a small green automobile is lying in a snowdrift, with little chance of ever being driven up to a friendly gasoline station.

WORLD COURT COMMITTEE MAY BE REVIVED IN ST. LOUIS

Reorganization Discussed After Talk by Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip of New York.

Plans for reorganizing the World Court Committee, which functioned here four years ago under the chairmanship of the late Gov. Hadley, were discussed yesterday at a luncheon at Hotel Jefferson, following an appeal by Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip of New York, representing the American Peace Award, to work for the adoption of the protocol embodying the Root formula looking towards the adherence of the United States to the World Court.

Mrs. Vanderlip outlined the history of the protocol, which sets forth a definite procedure for the fifth reservation, and said that it probably would come before the Senate after the conference for the reduction of naval armament in London next January. It first must be submitted by Secretary of State Stimson for the signature of President Hoover.

The St. Louis committee, Mrs. Vanderlip said, will assist in the campaign for the adoption of the protocol by enlisting the interest of other civic bodies and bringing this favorable viewpoint to the attention of the Missouri members of the Senate.

Mrs. Vanderlip departed last night for Los Angeles, where she will speak.

$6,000,000 COTTON LOAN APPROVED BY FARM BOARD

Co-operative Will Be Enabled to Make Advances to Member Growers.

By the Associated Press.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The Federal Farm Board today approved a loan of not exceeding $6,000,000 to the Staple Cotton Co-operative Association to supplement loans to that organization from other sources.

The loan will enable the association to make advances to its member growers on the 16 cents a pound basis, and constituted a revision of a former loan of a small amount by the board.

The Oklahoma Cotton Growers' Association of Oklahoma City was loaned $5,000,000 to supplement advances from commercial banks. Of this amount the board advanced $493,000 on Nov. 7.

A commodity loan of $500,000 made to the North Dakota-Montana Wheat Growers' Association of Grand Forks, N. D., was increased to $2,500,000, the maximum of a commodity loan, to supplement loans from the Intermediate Credit Bank at St. Paul.

COOLIDGE GIVES A BREAKFAST

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Nov. 8. — Former President Coolidge visited Boston today for the first time since he was elected Vice President in 1920. Accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge, he arrived here last night to attend the seventy-third birthday anniversary of his old friend and political adviser, Frank W. Stearns.

Coolidge this morning entertained Stearns and several newspaper men, with whom he came in contact when he was Governor of Massachusetts, at a typical Coolidge breakfast—sausages, griddle cakes and maple syrup.

United Railways Co. of St. Louis (formerly Central Traction Co.)	Feb. 3, 1939
Vandeventer Avenue Railroad Co.	(Granted April 4, 1890)

The two franchises under which blanket grants covering all its lines are claimed by the company are the St. Louis Transit Co. franchise expiring March 18, 1939, and the Central Traction Co. franchise expiring April 12, 1948.

The Post-Dispatch has pointed out editorially that the city of St. Louis has the opportunity, by a court test of the franchise rights of the St. Louis Public Service Co., particularly as to the Jefferson avenue line, to take a definite step toward acquiring home rule over the street railway system.

Comptroller Nolte called attention recently to the fact that the street railway company pays no franchise tax on the Jefferson avenue line. The fact, as ascertained and published by the Post-Dispatch Nov. 1, is that the last franchise tax paid on account of the Jefferson avenue line was $9817.23 Jan. 10, 1912. The original franchise of the Jefferson line expired Feb. 6, 1912, and when the city filed an ouster suit against it former Circuit Judge Cave held in 1914 that the franchise rights of this line were extended to March 18, 1939 by the St. Louis Transit Co. franchise.

City Counselor Muench said he understood the line was being operated under the Transit franchise and that he would look into the fact that it was no longer paying a franchise tax—a fact he said was news to him.

Examination of the text of Judge Cave's decision in the Jefferson avenue case discloses the further interesting fact that the Court plainly states that the right of the line to operate until 1939 under the Transit franchise was conditional on its continuing to pay annually the franchise tax levied under the original franchise. This is the tax of approximately $10,000 a year which has not been paid since 1912.

Stating that he did not know whether the tax had been paid since 1912 (the point was not raised in the suit) Judge Cave said: "But if the facts disclosed a failure on the part of respondent (company) in that regard and a demand on the part of the city to forfeit (the franchise) for that reason, a different question would be presented."

This plainly indicated Judge Cave's opinion that the city would have had good grounds to ask for forfeiture of the company's right to operate for nonpayment of its franchise tax—a tax which has not been paid for 17 years.

If the city should go into court and establish the lack of right to operate the Jefferson avenue line without further permision of the city, the city could then dictate the terms on which operation might be continued. And one of the conditions the city might impose would be that the fare schedule for the whole system be reduced to what would be fair to the public and yield a reasonable return on the $49,000,000 which the Public Service Co. paid for the street car property. As is known, the present 10-cent schedule is designed to give the company a return on the estimated valuation of $63,500,000 allowed by the Public Service Commision under State regulation.

As several other underlying franchises have expired since 1912 and Judge Cave's decision is the only legal sanction for their purported extension to 1939, it is interesting to note with what distrust the company regards that slender thread of life.

In the first place, the company is reasserting blanket franchise rights under the Central Traction grant which Judge Cave specifically held conferred no such rights. In the second place, it has been for several years making determined efforts to obtain a new general franchise, although claiming that its franchise runs until 1939 in the one case and until 1948 in the other.

On Aug. 6, 1926, Samuel W. Greenland, general manager of the Public Service Co., told the city's Transportation Survey Commission that the Public Service Co. was operating under the Central Traction franchise. In the financial description of the company in Moody's Manual, based on information supplied by the company, it is stated its franchise extends for 50 years from April, 1896. This refers to the Central Traction grant.

The campaign of the present owners of the company for a new franchise, beginning with the enactment of the so-called service-at-cost law by the Legislature in 1925 on the initiative of Promoter J. K. Newman's associates, is fresh in the minds of St. Louisans from its detailed recital in the columns of the Post-Dispatch.

The very decision of Judge Cave, in which he held the Central Traction franchise did not extend the Jefferson line's operating rights because of "absence of clear and unmistakable language" giving an express grant to the company, raised in many minds the question, Would not the same point apply with equal force against the Transit grant?

In its answer to the city's ouster suit, the company had claimed rights on the Jefferson avenue line under both the Central Traction and the St. Louis Transit Co. franchises. Having disposed of the Central Traction claim, Judge Cave took up the Transit ordinance.

The Transit ordinance named the Cass Avenue and Fairgrounds Railway Co., Citizens Railway Co., Southwestern Railway Co., Southern Railroad Co., and Baden & St. Louis Railroad Co., and authorized * * * the sale, conveyance or lease of the rights, privileges, franchises and properties of one or more of said companies and of the companies whose tracks may be so intersected (by any one of the named companies) to another of said companies, or to the St. Louis Transit Co., its successors and assigns, and the acquisition thereof, with authority to hold, enjoy and operate the same for a period expiring with the term of the franchise of said Southern

SUPREME COURT RULES FRANCHISES MUST BE IN PLAIN LANGUAGE

THE rules of law laid down by the United States Supreme Court requiring franchises to be construed strictly according to their terms and whenever in doubt against the grantee, were summed up by the court in a Cleveland street railway case and later quoted with approval by the Supreme Court in the Detroit street railway ouster case in 1919, as follows:

"The rules of construction which have been adopted by the courts in cases of public grants if this nature by the authorities of cities are of long standing. It has been held that such grants should be in plain language, that they should be certain and definite in their nature, and should contain no ambiguity in their terms. The legislative mind must be distinctly impressed with the unequivocal form of expression contained in the grant in order that the privileges may be intelligently granted or purposely withheld. It is a matter of common knowledge that grants of this character are usually prepared by those interested in them, and submitted to the Legislature with a view to obtain from such bodies the most liberal grant of privileges which they are willing to give. This is one among many reasons why they are to be strictly construed."

BRIAND IN SPEECH TELLS ALL ABOUT RHINE AGREEMENT

His Refusal to Give Details to Parliament Before Cost Him Premiership of France.

TALK IS DEFENSE OF TARDIEU REGIME

Brings Documents With Him—Warns Hearers Address Will Be One of Longest He Ever Made.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—Foreign Minister Briand, announcing that he had decided to give Parliament full and complete explanation on the Rhineland and Saar Valley evacuation questions growing out of The Hague conference, ascended the rostrum in the Chamber of Deputies late today in defense of the newly-formed Tardieu ministry.

The former Premier warned the Chamber that his speech would be one of the longest he ever made. For the first time in his long political career, Briand carried voluminous documents instead of speaking without notes.

The atmosphere in the chamber was tense as it was realized that Briand, as Foreign Minister in the Tardieu Government, was agreeing to supply Parliament with information his refusal of which on Oct. 22 had caused his overthrow as Premier of France.

Briand challenged the parliamentary opposition to prove that France had received the worst of the deliberations and decisions at The Hague conference.

"France went to The Hague resolved to put the Young plan into operation and France succeeded," he said.

The Foreign Minister ridiculed criticisms that he had abandoned the just claims of his country and asked what was the 46,000,000 marks allowed Great Britain in comparison with obtaining adoption of the Young plan and final settlement of the war.

Discussing he Locarno pact, he said that instead of weakening the Treaty of Versailles it in reality had reinforced its execution.

Briand paid high tribute to the late Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister. He declared that Dr. Stresemann and himself, while seeking the best interests of their respective countries, did not discuss war settlement matters with purely ultra-Nationalistic aims, but treated the question from the viewpoint of European as well as world welfare.

"Not only Germany, but the world lost a great man when Dr. Stresemann died," said the French Foreign Minister amid the acclamation of many in the chamber.

Almost all the Deputies, except the Communists and a few Socialists, rose and cheered Briand.

He said that a few months more or less in French occupation of the Rhineland amounted to little providing the security of France was assured and the war problems were settled by the adoption of the Young plan.

The Chamber adjourned to 9:20 p. m. The crucial vote of confidence in the Government is expected to be taken early Saturday morning after an all-night session.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Missouri's Compensation Law.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE case mentioned by Mr. Wood, and referred to in your editorial of last week, cannot be used as an illustration of the inefficiency of insurance companies operating under the State compensation insurance law. The case, No. C-66142, employe Floyd Cochrane—employer, Springfield Traction Co., does not involve an insurance company at all. The risk was not, and is not now, insured. The Springfield Traction Co. is a self-insurer and does not carry any compensation policy in any insurance company and did not at the time this accident occurred, on Oct. 1, 1928. Therefore, if there was any delay in the settlement it cannot be blamed on an insurance company.

It was only because of the State insurance feature that the private insurance companies fought the compensation law. Otherwise they were in favor of it. Most of the companies served notice upon their agents that if a compensation act was not passed in this State they would withdraw as far as employers' liability insurance was concerned, as the activity of the damage suit lawyers was such that the business could not be transacted excepting at prohibitive rates which the average assured would not be willing to pay. The insurance companies co-operated with the Associated Industries, the same as all other business organizations did, in bringing about the passage of the workmen's compensation act.

When the question of State insurance came up in the Legislature, the employers of Missouri opposed this amendment to the compensation act. While the insurance companies took no active part in the opposition, as far as the Legislature was concerned, they did urge the employers to oppose State insurance, but not the compensation act itself, as they were strongly in favor of it.

There are only seven states in the United States which have state insurance—Nevada, North Dakota, Oregon, West Virginia, Wyoming, Washington and Ohio. The only industrial state of these seven is Ohio.

As an evidence of the inefficiency of the Ohio State fund in taking care of the employer, we can cite a recent case where an employe was killed in Ohio. His employer thought the case was covered by the Ohio State fund but when he presented the case to the Compensation Commission of Ohio he was informed that the State fund had not renewed the policy and that he was without coverage and the case was not compensable.

In other words, the Ohio State fund was not sufficiently interested in the employer's insurance to see that his policy was renewed, which is quite the contrary when an insurance company has the insurance. In that Ohio case the employer was sued for damages at common law and was obliged to pay a substantial amount in settlement of the case out of his own pocket. We can cite many instances of inefficiency in service in connection with compensation matters in states controlled by monopolistic state funds. Not long ago the manager of one of the state funds in a Western state stopped in St. Louis on his way East and remarked that he had given up his position because the appointment of his assistants was dictated solely by political expediency rather than ability. He found that whenever he asked for a payroll auditor or underwriter a man was furnished to him who was better qualified to be a machinist or a bricklayer, and that he himself was about the only man in the whole organization that knew anything about insurance.

The fact that state insurance has not progressed farther than seven states shows that its inefficiency is thoroughly appreciated.

Applause for the Police.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WE hereby wish to acclaim the Police Department for their vigilance on Halloween. The members of this association, with thousands of vending machines on the streets of St. Louis, did not have a single machine broken on this particular occasion.

New Zealand's Forward Step.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ZEALAND, that British dominion far from most of the world, evidently suffers no loss in progress from its isolation. Its Minister of Defense has stepped before its House of Representatives and announced that in the future the land's conscientious objectors to military service will be assigned to duty with the Salvation Army.

That action is a decided step forward. True, there may be conscientious objectors who will contend that service in the Salvation Army in time of war is of the nature of aiding and abetting the conflict. There may be something to that. Still, extending aid and mercy is a long way from shouldering a gun and engaging in the carnage. It is a still longer way from that medieval exercise of throwing honest men into prison.

PROHIBITION AND THE FEDERAL JUDICIARY.

In the course of instructing a new Federal grand jury, Judge Charles B. Faris of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Missouri has set a pattern which might very well serve to guide the judiciary everywhere in the matter of such a controversial cause as prohibition.

The country has not needed the revelations of Senator Brookhart as to what went on at Broker Fahy's dinner to realize that the dry laws are taken seriously only by those who believe in them. Perhaps one-half of the people of the United States do not believe in them, and it was among these latter that Senator Brookhart found himself. It is a position in which almost everyone finds himself or herself, sooner or later, an anomaly which has not failed to expose us to the raillery of foreigners visiting the United States. These visitors find us trying to live half wet and half dry, and in the course of trying to observe the customs of the country they feel very much like chameleons. It is not among certain elements of the population that this is true. The whole people are like that, even Judges and law makers.

Judge Faris reminded the grand jury of this obvious truth while advising it, as a court must, that "as patriotic, decent citizens, you must regard this law as any other." He added that the grand juror is "deaf, dumb and blind" who has not by this time realized that this law is one upon which the people have become divided. That is, it is a law which has not, as all laws must have to be respected, the consent of the governed. Judge Faris therefore said in substance that the grand jury is to take the law for what it is worth and no more. It is on its way to the joke book, there to slumber with the old Missouri statute against hunting on Sunday, the law in Kansas which makes it a misdemeanor not to kill a grasshopper on sight. The Texas-Kansas-Missouri nine-foot bedsheet law, the ordinance in Los Angeles which forbids street car conductors to shoot jackrabbits from the platform, North Carolina's disqualification of agnostics upon the witness stand and Iowa's hallowed commandment against driving on Sunday faster than a horse can walk. They were all devout reforms in their time, as the dry law has been in our own.

The Post-Dispatch has frequently said of the Federal judiciary that it is the ultimate safeguard of our liberties. Congress, as we are learning from an investigation of the lobby, may be swept off its feet in any direction. The States, as we learned some years ago in Oregon, may or may not prize the guarantees of the Constitution. The people, as we saw in the last presidential election, are under the skin the same people who for 300 years reddened the religious battle fields of Europe. Even the United States Supreme Court has been carried so far afield in the prohibition controversy that Justice Brandeis said in dissenting from the wire-tapping decision: "If the Government becomes a law breaker, it breeds contempt for law; it invites every man to become a law unto himself; it invites anarchy."

But the Federal judiciary, albeit sometimes reflecting the dry psychosis, as in the recent decisions that the buyer and seller are equally guilty, is in the main removed from the passions of this great conflict. The Judges are appointed for life. They are upon the whole a thoughtful body of men who are as learned in the law as they are familiar with those emotional phenomena which may be said to make history picturesque. The temperature of the Federal judiciary in the grave matter of prohibition has been perceptibly cooling for several years. Mr. Lincoln said that the country could not exist half slave and half free, and the Federal Judges are fully cognizant of what Prof. Howard Lee McBain of Columbia University calls the contradiction of the prohibition law meaning everything to one man and nothing to another.

Judge Faris has done more than to make vocal the present humor of the Federal judiciary on the subject. He has also sounded a warning that it is losing patience with this attempt by half the people to put the law upon the other half.

MR. TELEVOX AT THE STICK.

The mechanical man, who already has demonstrated his ability to fire furnaces, turn water on and off, sell cigarettes and guide steamships, now has taken to the air. With a gyroscope for brains and electricity for nerve impulse, an air-minded robot on a test flight held a plane on an even keel all the way from Cleveland to Washington. Once off the ground, Mr. Televox took full charge, and his sense of balance, keener than a human's, kept the plane flying straight and true. This left the pilot free to read detective stories, play solitaire or do embroidery work, with nothing to do but go up and come down. All the drudgery of flying was eliminated.

The gloom of night or the gray of fog are all the same to the robot pilot; he guides the plane onward without an inch of deviation. He is subject to no errors of judgment, no off days, no mirages or hallucinations. With the precision of a faultless machine, he can make no mistakes. Such a tireless, dependable fellow is needed everywhere. Getting a project launched isn't so much of a trick, but keeping it going along evenly and smoothly wears out the helmsman. Just suppose the ship of state had such a balance wheel.

Learning what the steel industry has been making ought to steel the resolution of the Senate coalition.

RELIVING THE BAD OLD DAYS.

When Dodge City, Kan., had a celebration the other day, four cowboys in Wild West costume rode their horses into a crowded restaurant, firing blank cartridges as they went, in an effort to recapture the fine, careless rapture of the bad old days. Deadwood Dick, the Indian scout, and "Poker Alice," woman gambler of the wild and woolly eighties, were the center of Nebraska's diamond jubilee recently at Omaha. Lawrence, Kan., had a historical pageant not long ago in which Quantrill and his raiders again swarmed down on the town, while crowds on the sidewalks applauded.

If this is to be the American style of commemorating the past it will be interesting to visit the municipal fetes of Chicago and other cities in, say, about 1979. The historic old machine guns will be taken out of museums for the day. Some aged survivor may produce the police uniforms worn by the gangsters in the memorable St. Valentine's day massacre, when seven men were shot down. Quaint old autos with bullet holes in them will dash down the streets, showing how the bold gunmen took their victims "for a ride." Of course, there will be imitation bombings and mock street corner holdups for the benefit of the historically minded, and a prison riot or two may be staged. And there will be the usual sighs over the glamorous past, when men were men.

TRAFFIC REMEDIES.

The idea, suggested to the City Plan Commission, of constructing a kind of scenic railway at the Locust-Lindell cutoff strikes us as wholly unsound. It is proposed that street cars dip underground at the end of widened Olive street, only to reappear on the west side of Leonard avenue. The idea proceeds from the assumption that the difficulty at this point arises from the cross traffic, whereas it is merely a reflex of the intolerable situation at Grand avenue. To sink a million dollars, more or less, into such an engineering freak without touching the root of the trouble only a few hundred feet away would be a piece of inexcusable folly.

A useful purpose, however, has been served by creating discussion of traffic remedies at what might be called St. Louis' Trafalgar square. It happens that one of these remedies is at hand. We refer to the installation of traffic signals which will be in operation in a few days. The city is placing great store on the signalization, believing it will do much to unravel the tangled skein that now exists. Another remedy is the elimination of a bottle-neck by widening Lindell between Channing and Grand. But for a piece of judicial ineptitude, this work would already be under way, or completed. It is in process of settlement now and, within a year or two, we may expect to see Lindell uniformly wide from Channing west.

But a real cure for the congestion at Locust-Lindell cutoff awaits the separation of grades at Grand boulevard where it crosses Olive, Lindell, Washington and other east-and-west streets. The first step is the city's plan to connect Clark avenue with Forest Park boulevard under Grand avenue with ramps for traffic turning at that point. That project will be an ideal laboratory for studies which we feel sure will lead to extension of grade separation throughout the city wherever two heavily trafficked streets intersect.

BACK TO THE STATUS QUO ANTE.

It was an inadvertence, not a snub. That is how Senator Hiram Johnson happened not to be invited to the party. Mr. Hoover has explained it and has expressed his regret. Mr. Johnson has graciously acknowledged the apology. The incident is closed. The shouting and the tumult is dead as a mackerel. And it is safe to say that the wide open spaces of the relations between the President and California's senior Senator will remain precisely as was.

IN ILLINOIS' RIVIERA.

It is a land of milk and honey, of sables and jewels. There play is the day's work. There dwelleth the carnival spirit. There the dogs caper nimbly under starry skies. There in emerald and amethyst afternoons Ethnos and Prince Mob glorify flashing flanks and clattering hoofs. There through glittering nights the votaries of chance may duel with fortune on the green baize of the Mounds Country Club.

Such is Illinois' Riviera—the Biarritz, Nice, Deauville, Monte Carlo of the once corn-tasseled prairies.

There the Lords of Privilege, if we may so designate the Mounds Country Clubmen, prosper and are happy. Upon them the law looks and sees no evil. No local wombat interrupts the sector's serenity. No bureaucratic killjoy has appeared ringing a virtuous curfew. No babbling Brookhart has been lured thither by a Mosaic hoax to be wined, dined and tempted. Nevertheless, an untoward incident has been reported from this acreage of immunity.

It seems some of the elect of that region, either in or out of the club, have been delinquent in their obligations to Uncle Sam. At any rate it is so charged. Among the accused men are names symbolic of Erin's shamrock dales, the cold Puritan piety of Marblehead, the myrtled slopes of Sicily, the barren range of Balkan hills. Gents who toil not, former officials, vendors of meats and sweetmeats, and contrabandits—these are the personages, it is alleged, who have failed either wholly or in part to report their incomes to the Federal Government.

The law is demanding its share of the unearned increment, and here's hoping it gets it.

COUNTING UP THE COST.

The special session, whose purpose still is in doubt with many members of Congress, is now well into its sixth month. It was supposed to deal with the farm problem.

The nation has had 530 of its $10,000-a-year men at work in this field for half a year, at a cost of more than $2,650,000 for their salaries alone. This is not to mention secretaries, sergeants-at-arms and tariff tutors. The tariff printing bill thus far has amounted to $325,000.

TEXAS JUSTICE.

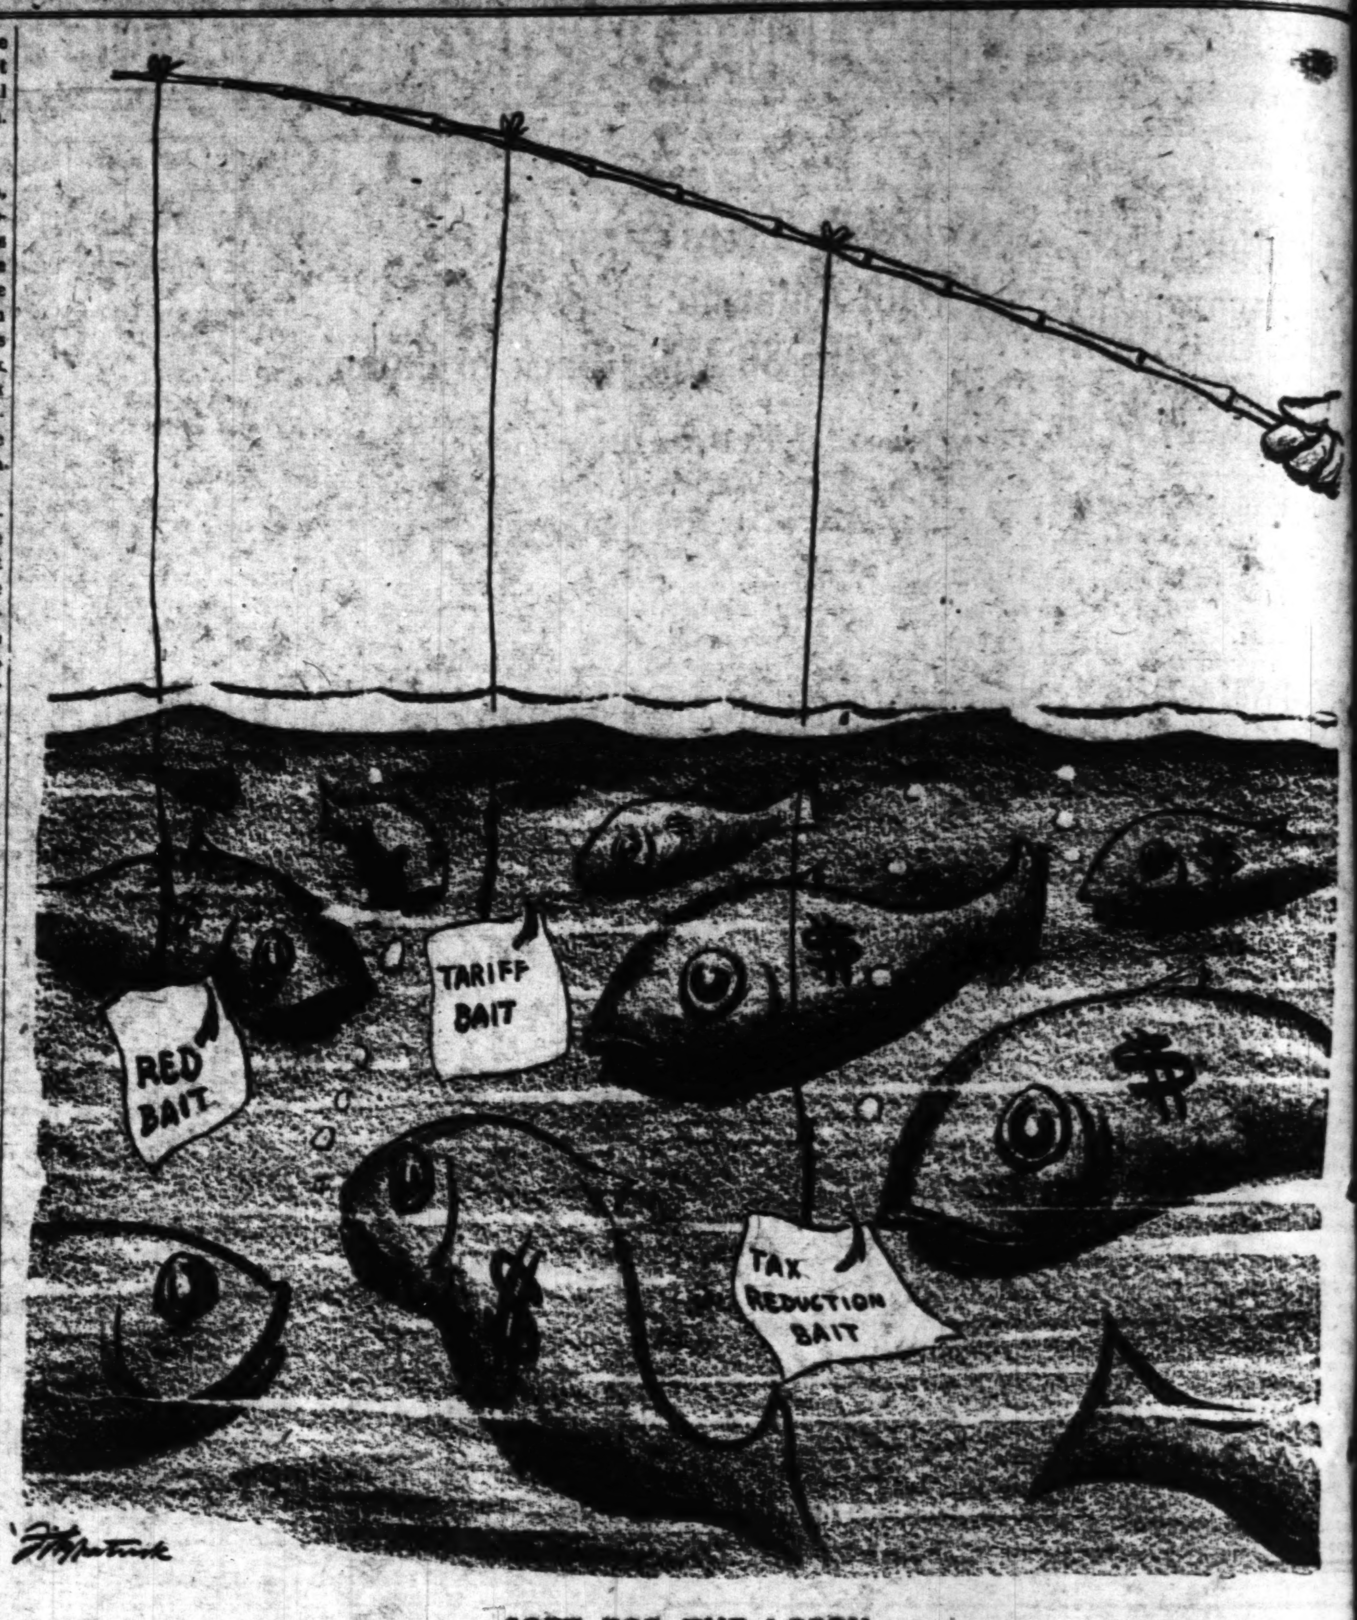
Reminiscent of the raw and careless justice of the frontier was a Texas jury's acquittal of Judge Hamilton for the murder of his son-in-law, Tom Walton. In the old days, when nearly everyone carried arms, the stock excuse for murder was self-defense. Although the poor youth whom he shot down was unarmed, Hamilton built his case around the ancient plea and the jury believed him.

A poignant tale of small-town life, a Tarkingtonian novel with tragic overtones, was the romance of young Tom Walton and the 18-year old daughter of Judge Hamilton. Walton, son of a widow, lived on the wrong side of town, had no social standing, and thus was ineligible as a suitor for Theresa, who came of a prominent and well-to-do family. But when they met as students at Texas University, removed from the petty social standards of their home town, they fell in love and eloped. After their secret marriage was two months old, Walton called to make a clean breast of it to his father-in-law, only to be met with a fusillade of bullets.

Hamilton's story is different. It is that the young scoundrel who had the temerity to marry above him had threatened Hamilton's life, that he had hired gangsters to trail his father-in-law, that he had boasted of being "deadlier than a rattlesnake," and of being a member of Scarface Al Capone's Chicago gang. Moreover, that the youth, as he entered Hamilton's office, had his hand in his pocket, suggesting to the Judge the presence of a weapon.

When a story like that can be made to stand up it becomes clear why homicide is America's favorite crime.

Denmark has refused to let Trotzky light there. He has still to hear from the Galapagos Islands.



SOFT FOR THE LOBBY.

Planting Trees to Beautify Highways

Great interest and activity in roadside planting makes definite standard of procedure necessary; trees must be located to allow for traffic needs and pole and wire lines; natural grouping, not exact spacing, makes best appearance; special care needed for safe landscaping at curves and corners; trimming of low branches essential.

From a Bulletin of the Portland Cement Association.

THE fact that many organizations aside from state, county and township highway departments are taking great interest in roadside planting makes it advisable for these departments to adopt certain standards of procedure to govern this work. Property owners, improvement associations, garden clubs, women's clubs, and other bodies are interested in making our highways more attractive as well as utilitarian and their work should be coordinated. Highway departments should have authority to compel conformity to standards, relating to roadside planting, established by them.

Pennsylvania and Michigan have appointed landscape gardeners, under whose direction new planting is planned and executed, and existing trees are preserved during highway construction. Shade trees of considerable growth may govern the location of a pavement so long as a serious disalignment is not the result. Locating engineers in Pennsylvania are instructed that "there is no excuse whatever for any trees being unnecessarily destroyed or injured during the progress of the work."

In locating roadside trees standard distances should be established from the edges of the pavement and from the property lines for a belt of planting at the same time giving due regard to safety for present traffic, possible future widening of the pavement, and drainage. The planting location must also take into consideration the location of pole and wire lines, the recommended position for which is at the extreme sides of the right-of-way preferably not more than three feet from the property or fence line.

On a 66-foot right of way (the standard highway) trees should be not less than 16 feet or more than 25 feet from the center line. Wider highways may be treated similarly, always reserving a bed of right-of-way for roadside planting which will not encroach upon other roadside utilities. Such a belt of roadside planting is far more to be desired than straight parallel rows of trees.

Tree planting in exact parallel rows at regular intervals, with those on one side of the highway opposite or alternating with those on the other, will greatly improve the appearance of our highways and add much to the comfort of the traveler. However, mile upon mile of such planting, even though the species be varied frequently, will soon become monotonous.

It is far more desirable from the standpoint of beauty and comfort to achieve a natural effect in highway planting; spacing many of the trees at uneven intervals, avoiding soldierly rows and making closely planted groups of three or more of a species. This arrangement will allow the individual specimens to reach their full size and typical shape, while the groups form mass effects not obtained by single trees regularly spaced.

For most species the intervals required to develop specimens will be at least 40 feet and in some cases as much as 60 or 75 feet. Such individuals will stand out in the future as typical of the species.

There are no grander trees than those native to our country. And, either as specimens or in groups at the roadside, they have individual and natural beauty.

In grouping trees the same species should be used, as a rule, that is maples in a group, oaks in a group, etc. It is advisable to reproduce so far as possible, the native growth of the district. If the road passes through an oak grove, carry the oak planting further into the open before planting another species.

As a part of the location problem must be included the setback of planting from road intersections, curves and railroad crossings. While it may be safe to preserve some native trees in these locations, and make the situations safe by trimming any low branches which block clear vision of approaching traffic it is safer not to plant any more trees in this area.

To leave the roadside treeless for 150 feet in each direction from an intersecting road may appear over cautious, but certainly the loss of one life or even one serious accident due to imperfect vision because of such planting is not justified on the score of the slight added beauty gained. The same reasoning holds for omitting planting for 400 feet in each direction from a railroad grade crossing. Curves are a somewhat different problem, depending on the degree and length of curvature, but it is wise either to leave out planting on the inside of a curve or at least to keep it judiciously thin.

A right-of-way for the necessary service lines should be designated which will permit full growth of trees in their selected location. Poles should be placed as near the sides of the right-of-way as possible, preferably centering three feet or less from the property or fence line. This permits a fairly free space for the planting.

Trees which have wide spreading branches should be planted farther from the pole line than those with compact head, or of smaller habit, but never should they be less than 12 feet from a wire. Generally, the wires should be 18 feet above all traveled portions of a road, cross roads or entrance drives and be not lower than 16 feet from the ground outside the traveled area.

For the sake of beauty it is better to leave trees untrimmed; let them take their natural shape, and not "head" them or "trim them up" as many inexperienced tree trimmers want to do. A good rule is to trim out only dead or unhealthy branches. Low branches that hinder clear vision of all traffic should be removed usually to a height of 10 feet above the road. Trim carefully to give wires an unobstructed right-of-way. Branches should not interfere with the wires in a wind storm.

Unless there is a well-organized department for planting and caring for trees and shrubs, it is well to have both planting and maintenance work done by a reputable nursery, under contract, guaranteeing replacement of defective stock or of failures within one year or other suitable period.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.

DECISION of black-mustached, heavy set Tom Williams of Illinois to accept President Hoover's appointment to the United States Court of Claims takes from the House one of the administration's stalwarts on farm relief. The Illinois Representative stood shoulder-to-shoulder with the President during the recent fight on the farm relief bill.

He was a member of the subcommittee which drafted the original bill. Also, he was one of the five House conferees who wrangled with a like number of Senators until a bill suitable to the White House was agreed upon.

President Hoover already has shown that he appreciates the work of the big Illinois Congressman. When he signed the bill, he did so with four pens—and one went as a gift to Williams. That was a departure, for, as a rule only two pens are used, and they go to the chairmen of the House and Senate committees who steer the legislation through Congress.

WILLIAMS has made no statement as to why he is quitting Congress for the bench. He was re-elected to the Seventy-first Congress, his eleventh consecutive term as a Representative. And he holds membership on two of the most coveted and powerful committees of that body—Rules and Agriculture.

But it is to be recalled that in standing with the administration on the farm question, Williams was necessarily an ardent foe of the debenture plan. After the Senate had voted for debenture, thus forcing the House to express its attitude, Williams was found in the column of those voting to eliminate it.

Now the Senate has come back and tacked it on to the tariff bill. And not only that, but there are dire rumblings heard among the irregular Republican bloc in Congress of possible recriminations in elections that are ahead. Young Bob La Follette, a member of this insurgent group in the Senate, voiced such an opinion only recently.

WILLIAMS represents the Twenty-fourth District of Illinois in the House. The 11 counties in his district, in the southeastern section of the State, are directly concerned with agriculture.

A seat on the United States Court of Claims is bomb-proof, politically speaking, as long as Hoover remains chief executive. And Williams enjoys the confidence and good will of his chief.

Is it possible that, taking all of these things into consideration, Williams decided to take advantage of the President's offer and thus escape the vicissitudes of politics?

e that now, just when the tistic mind seems to have ered unconditionally to the tific outlook, thus ceasing to be artistic, can it be that science, with a new outlook, has usurped the old position of art and is producing the only truly great imaginative structures of our age?

In other words, can we find in contemporary literature a single poet (in the true original sense) as great as Einstein, who builds with mathematical rather than verbal symbols? And have we a creative intelligence working anywhere in fiction that reveals the grasp and organizing power of a man like Sir James Jeans?

If it be true—and how amusing if true!—that our advanced artists and our advanced scientists have exchanged roles, may we not explain it by re-affirming the essential greatness of the human spirit at its best, a greatness by virtue of which even an originally narrow theory must lead at length to grandeur?

If we cannot now, in view of our prevailing temper, turn for large visions to the mighty world builders of other days, still greatness of vision may be ours, as "The Universe Around Us" clearly shows. It is an unhuman vision, to be sure; and that may be good for us when so much stress is being placed upon human desires. But it is not an inhuman vision, which is more than can be said for our characteristically modern literature.

The Greeks of the golden age used to lay great stress upon the principle of katharsis, the soul-cleansing power of tragedy. The same principle is to be felt at work in this masterly discussion of the universe as astronomers have built it up about us. And who can say how much is "real" (or what that means) and how much is creative dreaming? Not Sir James Jeans; for, after leading us in ways that we of the laity can follow through the deeps of space, weighing and measuring the suns and the planets, plotting their courses, stepping off the distances between the stars and to the remotest nebulae in strides of a million light-years, conjecturing how some mysterious primal "energy," in the process of running down, might have resulted in the phenomenon of matter and what the end of the process may be; musing somewhat sadly upon the apparent scarcity and fortuity of life in all this vastness—after all this he pauses to ask himself and us a question. Have we grown out of all this somehow, or has this grown out of us? So great is the moment of humility that he, a great scientist, is not ashamed to quote a great poet, asking if there may be something in the lines:

"We are such stuff
As dreams are made on; and our little life
Is rounded with a sleep."

The greatest sin the ancient Greeks knew was called hubris, a word that described for them the fatal opposite of humility before the mystery of things. The work of Sir James Jeans thus performs another function of great art, for he leaves the reader humbled. But to be humbled is not the same as to feel debased; and anyone who reads the book carefully may well come to think as follows: No doubt the universe is inconceivably vast. Perhaps life is a phenomenon limited to a few relatively tiny specks in this vastness.

But granting this, it is human consciousness that has given all this vastness all of the meaning that it has, and, as the author suggests, the whole visible construction with all its grandeur may be of our own making, whatever the thing in itself may be.

At the very worst, there should be ample room for glory in that thought. And the worst may well be false; for are we sure, as yet, that the livable truth is not within the human house all the while that we are looking for it to appear outside the window?

3 A. M. CURFEW DEMANDED FOR DEBUTANTES' PARTIES

Seventy New York Mothers Band Together to Make Early Hours Fashionable.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Seventy mothers of this year's crop of debutantes have banded together to enforce a 3 a. m. curfew. Seating dinner guests promptly at the designated hour no matter who or how many are late is to be the silent rebuke for stragglers.

Ways and means to carry on the campaign were discussed yesterday at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Seth M. Milliken in Madison avenue.

Mrs. John Henry Hammond, president of the New York Parents' League, said at the meeting: "The movement for early hours now on trial in New York is being watched by junior and parents' leagues all over the country. It is up to us to make it fashionable to have early hours."

Miss Mary Delafield, a debutante, spoke in behalf of the young people. She said: "At first the new rules were not very popular as no one wanted to go to bed early, but now we like them because we find we can go to more parties."

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.

THOUGHTS while strolling: What's become of collectors of birds' eggs: Slick Broadway boys who try to look like yokels. Walter Chrysler admiring the skyscraper named for him on Forty-second street. Who remembers when plasterers went to work in street cars?

Luncheon crowds oozing out of skyscrapers like human lava. Francis Hackett, a Kilkenny, Ireland, boy, who made good in the city. Delicatessen sign: "Take home a complete dinner—from soup to nuts." The Thirty-eighth street bootblack who wears a heavy black eyeglass ribbon.

The foolhardy who stand on high building ledges to watch parades. Another "French cafe" tries out sidewalk tables. B-r-r-r! Theatrical boarding houses curtained and sullen all day. But stir into activity at night. Nothing so awkward as a German police puppy. Ziegfeld's newest beauty — Ruth Morgan.

Sporty young men who live off their actress sisters. Waggish magic shop announces: "Parachutes for pent house parties." The fellow who doubles for Flo Ziegfeld in the movies. Several new apartment houses stressing the California - Spanish architecture. Arch Selwyn's cigar.

Herbert Bayard Swope going cross town—buckitty, buckitty! Moochers who hang around speakeasy entrances. And gin guzzling flappers known as Babe or Billie. The cellar cafes chantant with Russian cuisine—run by Italians. And with the quiescent gloom of a tomb.

That constant tremble on Park avenue from trains thundering into Grand Central. Nothing makes you feel so middle class as one of those butlers who wears a white sateen coat. The $1.50 tea rooms near exclusive hotels. Those clubmen who always open their newspapers at the financial page.

Debutantes with snubby noses, generous mouths and freckles. And fearful they will not be noticed. Gigolos who wear platinum chains cater-cornered across their vests. Fannie Hurst and her husband strolling arm in arm. Noel Coward's pink muffler.

THE legend of Fannie Hurst and her husband being domiciled in far-away separate apartments was long ago exploded. Yet so fixed did it become in public thought that people seem surprised when they appear in public together. They are a devoted couple, rarely separated save when he goes on concert tours, and are seen frequently in little restaurants off the beaten path—as moonstruck as two youthful lovers.

THE new Waldorf Astoria Hotel rising on Park avenue in the Forties has proved a great magnet for passersby. Because of its traditions, the rapidly mounting structure has inspired more newspaper comment than almost any building since the Woolworth flared up to the skies.

ONE of the features of the new inn will be a motor entrance tunnel. This will permit patrons to step from their motors to elevators without passing through foyers. Only those who have to endure the long waits to reach hotel motor entrances on the street can appreciate this innovation.

THERE is keen speculation, too, as to whether the famous Oscar is to be a member of the managerial staff. Oscar is a perpetual fount of newspaper copy. Ruddy-cheeked, moon-faced and with a port-winey mellowness, he might have stepped from one of those English prints of a Mine Host greeting an arriving coach. Oscar refused to remain parked at a glass-topped desk after his rise from the scullery. He paid personal visits to every department daily.

AN auto with a lighted cross attached to its hood has been racing up and down Broadway late at night recently. It has nothing else to indicate its significance.

"AT times," postcards L. S., Denver, "your stuff is O K and other times you give us all a pain. Week before last, for instance. What in the world was the matter?"

That week I was just shadow columning.

Few Cavalry Reserve Officers.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—A serious shortage of cavalry reserve officers was noted in the annual report yesterday of Major-General H. B. Crosby, chief of cavalry, to the Secretary of War. The shortage was attributed to the lack of a cavalry reserve officers training camp unit in the Seventh Corps Area. Authorization for the establishment of such a unit at the Kansas State Agricultural College at Manhattan, Kan., was withdrawn after the Legislature failed to appropriate funds for the construction of the necessary buildings. The Seventh Corps Area includes Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and North and South Dakota.

OKLAHOMA COURT HOLDS REVOCABLE PERMIT INVALID

State Supreme Bench Voids Law on Ground That It Grants Perpetual Franchise.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., Nov. 8.—Oklahoma's revocable permit law passed under a cloud of suspicion with the aid of a powerful lobby during the 1925 session of the Legislature, was declared unconstitutional and void by an 8-to-1 decision of the State Supreme Court this week. The law provided that any gas, water, light, heat, electric or power public utility company might surrender its municipal franchise and obtain in exchange from the State Corporation Commission a revocable permit which was in effect a perpetual franchise.

Justice Charles Swindall, one of the Republican members of the court, wrote the decision. It was concurred in by the two other Republican members, Justices Thomas G. Andrews and James B. Cullison, and Chief Justice Charles W. Mason, Vice Chief Justice E. F. Lester, Fletcher Riley, J. W. Clark, R. A. Hefner, all Democrats. Justice Albert C. Hunt, Democrat, dissented.

Many Utilities Affected.

Virtually every big public utility company in the state is affected by the decision for most of them, soon after the law went on the statute books, flocked to the State Corporation Commission and exchanged their franchises for revocable permits. Revocable permits they were called but perpetual franchises they would have been in fact, because they were subject to revocation only for cause by the Legislature. Records of the Corporation Commission show that 267 of the permits have been granted.

Attorneys express the opinion that the utility companies return to the old franchise laws under which they operated before the passage of the revocable permit law.

Grounds for Decision.

The revocable permit law was knocked out on three grounds: 1. That in effect it authorized the converting of a limited franchise into a perpetual franchise and thus violated that section of the Oklahoma Constitution that declares that perpetuities and monopolies contrary to the principle of free government never shall be allowed in the State.

2. That it deprives the voters of a municipality from granting, renewing or extending a franchise.

3. That it deprives the required number of voters of a municipality from asking that a franchise be granted, extended or renewed.

Justice Swindall took the position that the law took the control of public untilities out of the hands of the people whom they serve.

"Any act of the Legislature which provides for issuing a license, revocable permit, indeterminate permit or other instrument in the nature of a franchise which is not limited as to its time of existence violates our Constitution."

License to Monopoly.

In a vigorous concurring opinion Justice Lester said: "This legislation destroys competition and attempts to license monopoly through the Corporation Commission."

Near the close of the Legislature that passed the bill, charges of attempted bribery on the part of sponsors of the measure were made. An investigation was conducted but no prosecutions followed. Bills were introduced in both houses to repeal the law, but they failed. A bill to refer it to a vote of the people was killed. After the session closed, opponents of the law circulated a petition seeking to refer the measure to the people, but failed to obtain sufficient signatures. Then suit to test its validity was begun.

The press of the State praises the decision.

Press Praises Decision.

The Tulsa Tribune says: "The people should be relieved that the question is settled, that a long period of litigation is ended, and that they themselves will be the judges as to which bidder for a franchise shall be given it, instead of being left at the mercy of the State Corporation Commission."

The Daily Oklahoman: "A careful perusal of the court decision will convince the thoughtful that the court could pursue no other course and adhere to the letter of the Constitution. The court announces that the bill sought to do what the Constitution writers said should not be done in Oklahoma."

The Oklahoma News: "A perpetual franchise is forbidden in the Constitution. We have never been able to see how anyone could believe seriously that this law was constitutional. Nor have we been able to see that this law, robbing the people of local self-government in purely local matters, was proper."

The principal plea of the utilities was that the revocable permit law made it possible for them to obtain more advantageous arrangements for financial backing when they had assurance of authority to continue in business for an indefinite period.

S. C. FAILS TO MEET ONDITION COURT FIXED FOR JEFFERSON LINE

ctric Railroad Co." (March 18, 8.)

e reference to intersecting e was relied upon by the com- y to substantiate its claims since Jefferson avenue line was not ecifically mentioned in the ordi- ce.

udge Cave held the quoted lan- e, together with other language the ordinance, constituted "an quivocal, unmistakable, clear, a and express grant of a fran- to purchase and to operate the chased franchises, including the rson avenue franchise, up to ch 18, 1939."

e city contended the franchise indefinite and uncertain and clear as to its intent as any chise must be under the rule the United States Supreme Court down in numerous decisions summed up in a Cleveland way case. There the highest t laid down the rule that fran- es, being prepared usually by ests seeking the most liberal ts obtainable, were to be con- ed strictly and on all doubt- points against the grantee.

n his discussion as to the Cen- Traction franchise, Judge Cave ted out that to give it the pow- f extending generally the fran- es of such lines as the company ht later acquire under it would effect nullify the authority of city to grant franchises for s expiring before the date of iration of the Central Traction nance, and would deprive the throughout the extended period whatever compensation might e been provided for in the orig- franchise. He said that in his nion of the city could not by any inance divest itself of "what is erally understood to be an in- nable right, and that an ordi- ce so attempting would there- e void."

n the view of many persons this of reasoning applied with equal ht to the Transit ordinance, actually, as has been shown, city for the last 17 years has deprived of the annual com- ation for which the Jefferson ue line was granted a fran- e, while the line continues to ate.

e city was not satisfied with e Cave's decision and appealed e State Supreme Court where use the case was not pressed it dormant until 1919.

Meanwhile, in 1918, a new move a franchise was made which ed one of the most sordid chap- to the 30 years' history of et railway franchises in St. is. The company went to the Hall with a promise to pay its tax of which more than $2,- 000 was past due, and not to test a $60,000,000 valuation in rn for a new franchise extend- to April 12, 1948, the exact e of the expiration of the Cen- Traction ordinance. The Board Aldermen granted the franchise.

A wave of popular indignation e as soon as the people re- ed what had happened. The zens' Referendum League cir- ted petitions for a referendum n the night before they were be filed with the proper au- rities the safe in which they e stored was broken open and y were stolen and burned. An ploye of the street car company arrested and confessed that had arranged the theft acting er orders from his superiors. operating officials of the com- y were indicted, but on de- rer in the Circuit Court at gfield, Mo., the indictments dismissed, the grounds for demurrer being that the peti- ns were not property and there- e were not subject to theft.

Whether for conscience's sake or ause other plans were in the king, the company rejected the nchise and on Oct. 28, 1918, the rd of Aldermen repealed it.

A few months later, Jan. 12, 19, the new plan became known. yor Kiel announced he had "set- d" the mill tax controversy. The eet car company had agreed to y up, although the United States preme Court had held it was iged to pay and the city had ly to reduce its claims to judg- nt.

n return the city had agreed to miss the appeal to the State Su- eme Court questioning the Jef- n avenue franchise rights. ssociate city counselor had en- d into a written agreement with company's attorneys to stipu- e for affirmation of Judge Cave's ision by the Supreme Court, ing: "It being the intention of parties hereto that said judg- nt rendered in favor of railways affirmance thereof by the Su- me Court shall operate to firm- fix and establish the right of ays to operate its various lines reet railways in the City of St. is until the 18th day of March, 9, under and pursuant to ordi- nce No. 19,738." (The Transit nchise.)

This agreement was not filed h the court and never became a t of the record, and was not ntioned in either the stipulation r filed by the attorneys for both y and company or the decree of court.

The stipulation filed in the Su- me Court, Jan 15, 1919, was as lows:

"It is hereby stipulated and eed, by and between the ap- ant (city) and respondent in the ve entitled cause, through their spective attorneys, that the gment appealed from in said e, rendered by the Circuit rt of the City of St. Louis, ision No. 9, shall be affirmed he Supreme Court of Missouri."

n the same day the same at- neys filed a formal motion for rmation of the judgment, which rely stated that the "parties appellant and respondent in the above entitled cause move the court to affirm the judgment appealed from."

The court that day entered its decree, reading:

"Now at this day come the said parties, by their respective attorneys, and, upon their stipulation, it is considered and adjudged by the court that the judgment aforesaid, in form aforesaid, by the said Circuit Court of St. Louis rendered, be in all things affirmed, and stand in full force and effect, and that the said respondent recover against the said appellant its costs and charges herein expended and have therefor execution."

Thus it will be seen that the Supreme Court in no way passed on the merits of the case and its action at that time would not in any way bind it or serve as a precedent if the matter should again be brought before the court in a proper proceeding.

When the city administration was being criticised for this action, Charles H. Daues, then City Counselor, whose assistant had signed the agreement, issued a statement in which he said the agreement was merely a memorandum of the lawyers in the case stating their understanding of what was intended by it. He said it could not possibly act as a bar against the city in any other suit it might choose to institute questioning the Jefferson avenue or any other franchise that might have expired.

That "what the lawyers intended" was something they had no power to do is shown by the fact that the compromise agreement was not sanctioned in any way by the city's legislative body, the Board of Aldermen. Only the legislative body has the power to compromise claims of the city or enter into contracts, or to extend or alter franchises.

Thus the city is in a strong position to question the Public Service Co.'s franchise rights on two points, an dto find out what they really are: First, that the Transit grant does not extend the underlying franchises because no extension of franchises is stated in plain terms, as required under the Supreme Court decision in the Cleveland case; and, second, regardless of the outcome of a suit on that ground, that the right to operate the Jefferson avenue line has been forfeited by a violation of the condition upon which that right was upheld by Judge Cave's decision.

DANIEL T. HILL DIVORCED

Wife Obtains $500 a Month Alimony.

Mrs. Myrle K. Hill obtained a divorce today from Daniel T. Hill, advertising manager of the Western Advertising Co., on grounds of general indignities. The decree was granted by Judge Hogan in the Court of Domestic Relations.

Mrs. Hill by stiplation received alimony of $500 per month and custody of Kranklin K. Hill, 19 years old, now attending school in North Carolina. Three other children are adults. Mrs. Hill specifically charged that her husband lacked affection and was indifferent to her and told her that he did not love her. Hill entered a denial but did not contest. They lived at Hotel Warwick.

PROBATION HEARING FOR MRS. PANTAGES

Theater Man's Wife, Convicted of Manslaughter, to Appear in Wheel Chair.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 8.—While attorneys for Alexander Pantages, wealthy theater operator, convicted of an attack on Eunice Pringle, young dancer, are preparing to argue tomorrow their motion for a new trial, Mrs. Lois Pantages, wife of the theater man, will appear today before Superior Judge Carlos Hardy to ask for probation from a manslaughter conviction. A jury recently held her responsible for the death of Juro Rokumoto, Japanese gardener, as the result of an automobile accident.

Mrs. Pantages, who has suffered from shock and ill health for several weeks, will be able to appear for the hearing in a wheel chair, physicians said. She is said to be suffering from valvular leakage of the heart and an injury to a knee suffered in the automobile accident.

Probation authorities announced they had completed the report to be presented at the hearing, but did not indicate their recommendations. It was announced that members of the family of Rokumoto will appear.

Subpenacs also have been issued for the appearance of several persons who attended a party with Mrs. Pantages the day of the collision. The State charged the theater man's wife was intoxicated at the time of the accident and drove to the scene of the crash directly from an entertainment at a beach city.

District Attorney Buron Fitts meanwhile questioned members of the jury which convicted the woman's husband of a statutory offense in preparation for the hearing of Pantages' plea for a new trial. Fitts' investigation centered about information contained in affidavits filed by three woman jurors, who asserted their votes for conviction of Pantages were influenced by threats of William Vellage, another juror, that he "would see that the Rev. R. P. Shuler heard of their actions" unless they voted for conviction.

The women, Mrs. Christina Ulrich, Mrs. William Ingles and Mrs. Letta Steiner, said they originally cast not guilty ballots, but switched to guilty after the alleged threat and when it was agreed that the verdict would carry a recommendation for clemency. Shuler's radio talks in reference to Mrs. Pantages' trial resulted in his conviction on contempt of court charges.

Fitts announced he had obtained affidavits from nine members of the jury denying the use of threats or promises of clemency in bringing about a verdict.

The three women declined to change their affidavits. Fitts stated, however, there was no legal method by which a jury could impeach its verdict.

SAYS EDUCATION WILL KEEP FARMERS FROM PEASANTRY

By the Associated Press.

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 8.—American agriculture faces the alternatives of peasantry or better education and training for farmers, Dean H. W. Mumford of the Illinois College of Agriculture yesterday told Illinois bankers and land appraisers at the opening session of their annual short course.

"There is an opinion abroad today," Dean Mumford said, "that the college graduate cannot afford to be a farmer. If this is true it is a serious indictment. Personally I do not believe it is true. We are coming to the time when the man who has trained for his job and is willing to work is going to be rewarded accordingly.

"If there is any place in the land where a self respecting, educated man ought to be able to live a satisfactory life on the farm it is here in Illinois. If it can't be done here, it can't be done anywhere."

MAYO YACHT MAKES STOP-OVER AT ST. LOUIS

Noted Surgeon and Guests to Continue Downstream This Afternoon.

Vacation-bound for Southern waters, the 120-foot motor yacht North Star, with its owner, Dr. William J. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., and a party of friends, including Gov. Theodore Christianson of Minnesota aboard, is making St. Louis a port of call today on its voyage down the Mississippi River.

The North Star nosed into shore at the levee near the Eads Bridge yesterday afternoon, having left Wabasha, Minn., 75 miles south of St. Paul, Sunday. This afternoon the palatial yacht will start downstream. Capt. J. J. Richtman expects to finish the river trip of about 1900 miles "somewhere south of New Orleans" in about eight days.

Dr. Mayo is almost boyishly proud of his trim craft with its gleaming paint and shining brass. "I've been 21 years on the river," he said. "This is my third boat. I got her eight years ago and I guess she's covered 100,000 miles. Seagoing, too. We've been along the Gulf and the Atlantic Coast." He paced the deck with a reporter, explaining, "twenty-six laps to the mile."

Forward is a spacious living-room, containing lounging chairs, bright with chintz and flowers, and lined with bookshelves. Next is a dining-room with clean, compact cupboards. The kitchen is complete with sink, pantry, electric icebox and oil stove. There is a study filled with medical books. There are five staterooms, in addition to quarters for the crew of five, a cook and a maid.

Below is the engine room with its twin 200-horsepower motors. Nearby is the heating plant and generators that supply electricity for lighting and refrigeration. Above is the wheel and chart room. "Just a comfortable place to live," according to Dr. Mayo.

With Dr. Mayo, besides his wife and Gov. Christianson, are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kahler, Mrs. D. M. Berkman and Dr. H. S. Plummer, a colleague, all of Rochester.

ROOMING HOUSE, NOT COLLEGE DORMITORY, INVOLVED IN RAID

Michigan U. President Says Students Were Merely Removed Following Discovery of Liquor in Place

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Dr. Alexander Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan, said here yesterday that the dormitory closed at Ann Arbor by authorities of the university after liquor had been discovered in the attic was not in fact one of the university dormitories. He said it was a private rooming house occupied not only by students of the university but by persons having no connection with the institution.

Dr. Ruthven said the action of the university consisted merely in the removal of all students from the rooming house following the discovery that bootleggers had employed certain students resident there to act as their agents.

Any petition asking that this action be rescinded would be refused, President Ruthven said, but the university will aid the students in obtaining other quarters.

RECEIVERS NAMED FOR THE COLISEUM; IT WILL BE SOLD

Andrew H. Kauffman and Ben Philipson to Operate Premises Pending Foreclosure.

Receivers for the Coliseum property, Washington boulevard and Jefferson avenue, were named this afternoon by Circuit Judge Landwehr. The receivers are Andrew H. Kauffman, an investment broker, and Ben Philipson, a lawyer. Counsel for the receiver are Robert Burkham and Richmond C. Coburn. The receivers will sell the property at foreclosure sale, as requested in the receivership suit filed yesterday, and in the meantime will operate it for any income that may be obtained.

A hearing on the matter had been set for next Wednesday, but John H. Holliday, trustee for bondholders, went into court today, admitted the allegations of the receivership petition, and asked for immediate action. Walter R. Mayne, secretary of the New Coliseum Co., owners of the property, appeared for the company.

Mayne said about $176,000 was due to noteholders represented by the Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co., which filed the receivership suit, and that the bonds, for which Holliday was trustee, amounted to $75,000.

Records show that the Coliseum has been, for two and one-half years past, the basis of a financial pyramid of four deeds of trust, totaling $775,000, while the assessed valuation of the property is less than $300,000.

The Coliseum, which for nearly 21 years was the city's largest place of assemblage, and which was the scene of President Wilson's second nomination in 1916, was built in 1908. It stands on the site of Uhrig's Cave, open-air home of light opera and favorite midsummer and mid-city resort of St. Louis. The Cave property was owned by the McNeary brothers, John and Frank. Mrs. Frank McNeary, as Gertrude Lodge, was prima donna of the Cave musical organization.

$12,000 in Annuities.

The McNearys became the owners of the Coliseum property, and in its sale in 1919, they received a deed of trust providing for payment of annuities of $6000 a year for life to John McNeary, and $6000 jointly to Frank and Gertrude McNeary. All are still living. The annual payment of $12,000 is 6 per cent interest on $200,000. The purchasers were T. P. Bates and associates.

The second deed of trust, for $240,000, was given March 21, 1925, when the property was sold by Bates to the present New Coliseum Co. The purchasers made a first payment of $40,000, then reached an adjustment by which periodical payments of $1250 each were to be made. They made 21 such payments, but defaulted on the payment due one week ago. This occasioned the filing of the suit. The second deed of trust is now held by the John R. Thompson Securities Co. of Chicago. To protect its interest, the Thompson company lately made an annuity payment to the McNearys under the first deed.

The third deed of trust, for $100,000 was placed on the property May 2, 1927, and the fourth deed, for $235,000, was dated three days later. Attorney Holliday was named trustee under both.

Remodeling of the Coliseum, to enlarge its seating capacity, and the installation of the salt water swimming pool, were carried out by the present management, at a cost announced at the time as between $200,000 and $300,000. The management has endeavored to make the building a headquarters for indoor sport. Outside the summer swimming pool period, it has been used for the Veiled Prophet's ball, for pageantry, grand opera, horse shows and other exhibitions, and for two prolonged revival meetings, those of "Gypsy" Smith and Billy Sunday.

The officers of the New Coliseum Co. are: President, Theodore Crane of New York; vice presidents, Dan W. Jones, R. King Kauffman and M. J. Pickering; secretary, Walter R. Mayne, and treasurer, W. H. Brien.

JUDGE CUTS $75,000 VERDICT AGAINST THAW TO $25,000

Judgment Allowed Club Hostess for Alleged Mistreatment Ordered Reduced.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The $75,000 verdict awarded by a jury to Marcia Estardus, night club hostess, in her $100,000 suit for alleged mistreatment against Harry K. Thaw was reduced today to $25,000 by Supreme Court Justice Aaron J. Levy.

The verdict was returned two weeks ago after a second trial of the suit in which the woman charged Thaw had bitten her and beaten her with a hairbrush at a New Year's day party in his apartment in 1927.

The Judge had under consideration a motion to set aside the verdict, and announced he would grant the motion unless the woman, whose real name is May G O'Neill, would take $25,000, and her counsel consented.

Thomas A. McGrath, Thaw's lawyer, announced that he still intended to appeal.

"MUTTON HEAD" FINE SET ASIDE

Remark to Policeman Not Disorderly, New Jersey Court Holds.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 8.—Calling a New Jersey officer a "mutton head" does not constitute disorderly conduct, the Supreme Court has ruled.

Frank Rutherbeck of Bergenfield appeared in the First District Criminal Court of Bergen County recently to pay a fine imposed on his son for a minor traffic offense. William Knubel, a patrolman acting as clerk of the court, refused him a receipt. "Do you think, you mutton head," countered Rutherbeck, "that you are a czar around here?" The remark cost him $100 in a fine, but he carried the case to the Supreme Court. "A mutton head, as defined by the dictionary," the court ruled, "'is a dull, heavy, uninteresting person.' That the dignity of the clerk may have been ruffled by the language is possible, but that it was 'indecent' or otherwise disorderly as defined by the legislative power conferred on the borough council we think is unestablished. The conviction is set aside."

Longworth Returns to Capital.
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Speaker Longworth returned to the Capital today after an all summer absence from the city and immediately started conferences with Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the House Republican leader, and other Republicans over the course to be adopted by the House for the remainder of the special session.

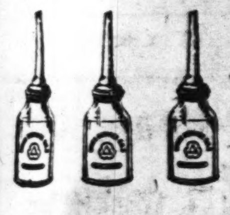
THE PERFECT PENNSYLVANIA MOTOR OIL



IT'S a pleasure to drive on Koolmotor gas in the winter. This superior fuel is a real high-test gas. That means instant starting even on the coldest days.

When you step on Koolmotor it goes right to work—it vaporizes quickly—it starts your engine at once. You don't have to wait or keep churning your motor—Koolmotor is ready to start when you are.

Instant starting isn't all. Once you've started you'll notice quick pick-up and powerful performance with never a trace of a knock.

This winter don't put up with faulty engine performance—use Koolmotor. The nearest Cities Service station or dealer has it.

TWELFTH AND OLIVE TRAFFIC LIGHTS IN USE

Safety Islands Provided for Pedestrians and Limit Placed on Left Turns.

Operation of the new automatic traffic signals at Twelfth boulevard and Olive street was started this morning. This is the second unit of the signals on widened Olive street to enter service. The whole system from Twelfth at the east to Channing avenue at the west, and with an extension in Lindell to Grand boulevard, will be in use in about two weeks.

Many motorists, not aware of the signal operations at Twelfth today, ignored them, without being rebuked by watching policemen.

At first, the only left turn to be permitted at Twelfth will be for vehicles going north in Twelfth and west in Olive. Two lanes will be provided for them next to the center of Twelfth, approaching Olive, and they will make the turn when the signal they face shows a white light. Meanwhile, straight cross movements will be halted.

Later, left turns will be permitted for vehicles bound east in Olive and north in Twelfth. City Traffic Engineer Hoffmann said it was thought left turns for vehicles approaching west in Olive and south in Twelfth were unnecessary and undesirable. There is no room available, he pointed out, for vehicles approaching west in Olive to await a turn signal.

Policeman May Be Needed, Too.

Until the entire Olive street signal system is in operation it is anticipated there may be some traffic jams at Twelfth. Because Olive is narrow east of Twelfth it may be necessary to maintain a policeman at this corner regularly in daytime, particularly in rush hours, to keep too many automobiles from going east in Olive, or to change the signal cycles by operating the switch manually. The time cycle was worked out tentatively by studying the time required for vehicular movements under a policeman's direction during recent months.

For pedestrians who are crossing Twelfth boulevard when signals change, safety islands have been arranged on either side of Olive, just west of the southbound car track in Twelfth.

Tonight the signals at Twelfth may be turned off early, or they may be left running all night. When the whole Olive street system is in service it will be switched off automatically for the latter part of the night. Hoffmann said it probably would be cut off about 11 p. m. or midnight and turned on at 6 a. m. Study is being made of the possibility of turning off signals elsewhere in the city, late at night.

Whole System Ready in a Week.

The first signal unit in Olive was put in service at Compton about three weeks ago. Next week the complicated unit at the intersection of Channing avenue, Olive, Lindell and the Lindell-Locust cutoff will be started. A week later the whole system will be ready, with the addition of units at Fourteenth, Sixteenth, Eighteenth and Twenty-first streets, Jefferson, Leffingwell and Garrison avenues, and in Lindell, at Theresa avenue and at Grand boulevard. All the units will be co-ordinated so that a motorist holding a fair rate of speed will not be stopped anywhere, theoretically at least.

Left turns out of the cross streets will be permitted at Fourteenth, Sixteenth, Twenty-first, Leffingwell, Garrison and Compton. Vehicles bound north in Theresa will not be allowed to turn left or go west in Lindell, but will have to go through the Theresa cutoff and make two right turns to head into Lindell.

Four Changes at Channing.

The scheme of signal operation at Channing has been announced. There will be four periods or changes during a cycle of 71 to 74 seconds. Vehicles will move only on green lights and will halt for red lights. No other color will be shown for them. A special signal has been suspended high over the intersection, out of the ordinary range of vision of motorists, to guide Olive street trolleys. It consists of white lights shaped like a plus sign. When the vertical bar is lighted cars will proceed. During the other three periods of the cycle the horizontal bar will be lighted and trolleys will wait.

The first period will last 20 seconds. Trolleys will move east and west in Olive. At the same time a signal for vehicles, erected in the intersection west of Channing, will show green for traffic bound east in Olive and Lindell to continue east in Olive.

During the second period, 10 to 12 seconds, vehicles going east in Lindell may continue east in Olive or in Lindell-Locust cutoff, and vehicles going west in that cutoff may continue west in Olive or Lindell. During the third period, 15 to 16 seconds, north and south traffic in Channing may cross the intersection.

The fourth period, 26 seconds, will be for vehicles going west in Olive to continue west in Olive or in Lindell, and at the same time those going east in Lindell may continue east in Olive.

To Cut Down Congestion.

A right turn from any direction will be permitted whenever vehicles are moving from that direction. In no instance will a left turn be permitted, nor will a vehicle going east in Olive be allowed to turn into Lindell-Locust cutoff. Congestion in the bottleneck of Lindell, between Channing and Grand, will be minimized by the fact that eastbound traffic in Lindell will be able to proceed in three of the four periods, being halted only for cross movements in Channing.

City officials will encourage drivers to cross the intersection with alacrity whenever the way is clear. It is thought that policemen will be needed at this intersection to keep traffic moving smoothly until drivers become accustomed to the system.

Signals in Locust, at Fourteenth, Eighteenth, Twenty-first, Jefferson and Compton are to be co-ordinated with the Olive system, to prevent blockades of Olive by cross traffic. This will benefit Locust street traffic, also.

Wins Husking Co test at Hillsboro.

Since 1887 Economy Loans For Homes

42 Years of Safety, Progress and Profit

DURING the past 42 years there have been many periods of greater or less financial depression.

Through all the years since its establishment in 1887 the Economy Building and Loan Association has paid 6% per annum, compounded March and September, on the Savings of its members.

Furthermore every dollar of its resources has been protected by non-negotiable first deeds of trust on homes, and its shares have always been cashable for 100 cents on the dollar, without deductions for fines, penalties or forfeitures.

They need help NOW in building their bones and teeth

"THE time to help your baby build good bones and teeth is during the first months and years of life," physicians are telling mothers.

"He must have special protection—even though he is breast-fed he needs it. Otherwise he may not have the finely-shaped head you want him to have, the full chest, straight legs, and sound, uncrowded teeth that will not decay easily."

Nature provides this protection—Vitamin D—in two ways. In sunshine and good cod-liver oil!

Direct sunshine would keep your baby safe, if he could get enough of it on his bare body. But this is not possible on account of clothing, clouds, fog and smoke. Even ordinary window glass filters out the rays that protect.

The use of Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil—then, is urged as the sure protection.

The country's leading specialists advise the use of Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil. They prefer it because they know they can depend on its high vitamin content.

Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil is very rich in Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin" which helps to build good bones and teeth, and also in Vitamin A which promotes normal growth and increases resistance to infections.

When you choose Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil, you are using a vitamin-tested, vitamin-protected oil. Be sure to insist on Squibb's. At all reliable drug stores. Plain and Mint-flavored.

Paul Revere Sold Liquor And Made "Store Teeth"

Revolutionary Hero Was America's Original Jack-of-All Trades, Descendant Shows by Records.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Aside from galloping through the night Paul Revere, the patriotic horseman of the Revolution, engaged in a number of avocations including the sale of liquor.

In correspondence made public today by E. H. R. Revere, great-grandson of the Revolutionary hero, bills of lading are included showing that Paul Revere sold a consignment of rum at 60 cents a gallon and a case of gin at a proportionate bargain figure.

Other documents, hitherto unknown, show that Revere was America's original jack-of-all trades, being at various times a dentist, a copper roller, a goldsmith, an engraver of the nation's currency, and a powder manufacturer.

In addition, he probably was the new republic's first great industrialist. The copper business which he founded in Boston is perpetuated today in a corporation headed by his great-grandson. The letters show Revere supplied copper to Robert Fulton for the famous Claremont, first steamboat. Revere also was a manufacturer of picture frames and ran a hardware store on Essex street in Boston.

Revere was proud of his ability as a dentist and sent the following reminder to past and future clients:

"Artificial Teeth

"Paul Revere

"Takes this method of returning his most sincere thanks to the gentlemen and ladies who have employed him in the care of their teeth. He would now inform them and all others, who are so unfortunate as to lose their teeth by accident or otherways, that he still continues the business of a dentist, and flatters himself that from the experience he has had these two years (in which time he has fixt some hundreds of teeth) that he can fix them as well as any surgeon-dentist whoever came from London. He fix them in such a manner that they are not only an ornament, but of real use in speaking and eating.

"He cleanses the teeth and will wait on any gentleman or lady at their lodgings. He may be spoke with at his shop opposite Dr. Clark's at the North End, where the gold and silversmith's business is carried on in all its branches."

MICHAEL LIFLANDER FUNERAL

Services Will Be Held at 10 A. M. Monday.

Funeral services for Michael Liflander, president of the St. Louis Bedding Co., who was found dead at his desk yesterday at the company office at 208 South Seventeenth street, will be held at 10 a. m., Monday, at the residence, 5811 Pershing avenue. He was 56 years old. Death was caused by heart disease. The discovery was made by a shop employe who entered the office to get some material.

Mr. Liflander became ill Wednesday afternoon, but disregarded the advice of his physician to remain in bed and went to the office. Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Anna Liflander, and a son, Michael S. Liflander, a student at Washington University. Interment will be in Mount Sinai Cemetery.

ORDERS CHECK ON PHONE LINES TO CENTERS FOR RACING DATA

Judge, Investigating Bookmaking in Baltimore, Directs Telephone Man to List Direct Wires.

By the Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 8.—E. L. Forrest, an executive of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co., was ordered yesterday to prepare for the Criminal Court a list of all houses conected by direct telephone wire with the three places described to the court as the centers from which horse racing information was distributed.

The order was issued by Judge Eugene O'Dunne, who earlier in the day started an investigation into the sources of information which a city detective told him made bookmaking possible. The detective named three men who he said supplied the information. The Judge ordered the three summoned to court.

The Judge said, "We want a record of the telephones to which each of these centers radiates, every home at which they terminate. We will learn what kind of houses are at the ends of the wires from the Police Department."

CHINESE NATIONALISTS CLAIM VICTORY OVER PEOPLE'S ARMY

Organ of Government Says Rebels Were Defeated on Wide Front in Honan.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 8.—The Kuomin News Agency, organ of the Nationalist Government, stated tonight that Nationalist forces had scored a sweeping victory against the rebelling Kuominchun or "People's Army," along the entire battle front in Honan Province paralleling the Kinhan Railway and also along the Lunghai Railway.

The news agency reports said the Nationalists had captured 50,000 rebels, causing a general Kuominchun retreat westward.

The Nationalists also assert that Yen Hsy-Shan, Governor of Shensi Province, has begun mobilizing forces to oppose the Kuominchun.

Florida U. Football Star Weds.
By the Associated Press.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Nov. 8.—Rainey Cawthon, captain of the University of Florida football team, last night confirmed a statement by County Judge Sale of Bronson that Cawthon and Miss Sarah Payne, Nashville, Tenn., had been married secretly at Bronson, Aug. 15, only to go through a second ceremony at the Little Church Around the Corner in New York City last Sunday.

FIVE WORKMEN KILLED IN EXPLOSION IN TUNNEL

Dynamite They Were Hauling in Shaft Goes Off Prematurely.

By the Associated Press.

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 8.—Five workmen were blown to pieces in a premature explosion of 80 pounds of dynamite in a shaft of the Metropolitan water development at Coldbrook early today.

The cause of the explosion could not be determined immediately. Fellow workmen told investigators that a dynamite explosion had been set off further in the tunnel at an early hour and that the five men were on their way toward the entrance, carrying 80 pounds of dynamite in one of the small cars used for that purpose. In some manner the dynamite was exploded. The men were blown to pieces and several hours later the parts of the bodies had not been recovered.

The victims: Joseph Edgicomo, 35 years old; J. Piotti, 40; P. Pondel, 41; Joseph Lukes, 38; Joseph Lorenzo, 38. All were living on the construction property.

Two other workmen in the tunnel were rendered unconscious by the last and the ear drums of both were shattered. Physicians expressed the opinion that they probably would be permanently deaf. They were following the party carrying the explosives at a considerable distance when the blast occurred. Both suffered severe shock.

The scene of the accident was at a point 450 feet below the surface and 5800 feet from the entrance of the tunnel at shaft No. 7.

KING GEORGE AGAIN TAKES PART IN LONDON SOCIAL LIFE

Calls on Sister, Entertains Daughter at Tea, Sees "Rose Marie" for Fourth Time.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—King George got back into the full swing of London social life yesterday for the first time since he became ill nearly a year ago. He had engagements for the afternoon and for dinner and then attended a performance of the American musical play, "Rose Marie," at Drury Lane Theater.

In the afternoon the King called on his sister, the Princess Royal, in her Portland Square home. When he returned to Buckingham Palace he was host to his daughter, Princess Mary, at tea. Later the Duke and Duchess of York dined with the King and Queen and then all four went to the theater.

Although he had witnessed the same musical comedy three times before, the King selected it again for his first theater party in many months. When he and the Queen and their son and daughter-in-law entered the Royal box, the audience cheered for several minutes, delaying the rise of the curtain.

The King smiled and bowed. He wore evening dress with a white flower in his buttonhole. The Queen wore a gold tissue dress with a long train and a gold tissue wrap trimmed with fur. The Duchess of York was dressed in pale pink with an irridiscent cloak.

$250,000 ALIENATION SUIT AGAINST WALTER B. PIERCE

Husband of Former St. Louisan Defendant in Action by New York Importer.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—De Courcy Browne, wealthy manganese importer who recently filed a separation action against his French wife, the former Paula Lautier, naming Walter Bryant Pierce, wealthy broker as co-respondent, today filed suit for $250,000 against Pierce, alleging alienation of affections.

Mrs. Pierce, the former K. Janavince Kerens of Washington, D. C., also has a separation suit pending in which she asks for $3000 a month alimony. The Brownes have three children.

Browne and Mrs. Pierce charge that Pierce and Mrs. Browne have deserted their families and gone to Paris to live.

Mrs. Pierce's grandfather, the late Richard C. Kerens of St. Louis, was Ambassador to Austria. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Kerens, left St. Louis with their daughter when she was a child and educated her in Europe and New York. She made her debut in 1922 at a ball at the Plaza Hotel in New York City. Pierce is a graduate of Harvard University.

COPY OF $75,000 WILL OF NEGRO DOCTOR UPHELD

A copy of a will of Dr. John W. McClellan, Negro physician who died in 1927, leaving a $75,000 estate to a Negro University and cutting off relatives with $1 apiece, was upheld by a jury in Circuit Court today after 40 minutes' deliberation. Five brothers, a sister and two daughters of a deceased sister contested probating the will and turning the estate over to Fisk University at Nashville, Tenn.

The original of the will could not be found. Testimony was that Dr. Oral S. McClellan, a brother of the dead physician, had removed his brother's safe from his office shortly after his death in 1927.

Judge Falkenhainer questioned two of the jurors, following receipt of a rumor that someone had talked to them about the case. Both denied it.

Shell Made More Accurate.
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Development of new ammunition for the 75-millimeter infantry mortar by the army ordinance department is announced today by the War Department. By providing a tail-like projection at the base with a number of vanes at the end it has been found in preliminary tests that the new ammunition can be fired more accurately and at a shorter range than the old.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

New or Different Recipes Are Always Interesting to the Modern Cook.

Lentil soup is a dish that should be served more often, especially in cold weather. Lentils are nourishing, inexpensive and, when properly cooked, appetizing. For soup use the red variety and soak one cupful over night in one quart of cold water. In the morning, cover with two quarts boiling water, add a large onion, one-half cup diced celery, the same of carrots, one tablespoon of salt and an inch slice of fat bacon or a ham bone.

Cover and boil slowly for two hours, or until the lentils are tender. Rub through a coarse strainer and serve with a thin slice of lemon in each soup plate.

Roast Chicken.

Singe, dress, wash and wipe with a clean, damp cloth a young roasting chicken. Stuff. Tie securely in shape, with wings and legs close to the body. Spread with melted fat and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Put in a quick oven 15 minutes. Add one cup water. Reduce heat to moderate oven and cook until done, allowing 15 minutes to a pound. Baste often, adding more hot water if necessary. Serve with giblet gravy.

Baked Haddock.

Cut two pounds haddock in portions for serving. Cream cold two tablespoons flour and two of butter together, then add one-quarter cup cold milk, salt and pepper. Spread over whole fillets. Place in a well greased baking dish. Sprinkle with lemon juice, chopped parsley or gratings of cheese. Bake in a hot oven 20 minutes.

Baked Apples.

Choose a firm, sound apple free from blemish. Remove the core. Place in a baking dish. Fill cavity in apple with sugar and spice. Put a lump or butter on top, a little water in bottom of the dish. Bake until tender. Serve hot or cold with, or without cream.

Corn Muffins.

One cup corn meal, one-fourth cup sorghum, one cup flour, one and one-half rounding teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, one cup milk, one egg, well beaten, one tablespoon melted butter. Sift the corn meal, flour, baking powder and salt together thoroughly, then add the milk and sorghum—gradually, and beat together thoroughly, add eggs and butter. Bake in gem pans about 25 minutes.

Ginger Wafers.

One cup sorghum, one cup lard and butter mixed, one cup sugar one-half cup sweet milk, four cups sifted flour, one level tablespoon ginger, one level tablespoon cinnamon, one level teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon soda, four level teaspoons baking powder. Mix well, roll out thin and bake in medium oven.

MARSHMALLOW GINGERBREAD IS A DELICIOUS DAINTY

Old-Fashioned Cooks May Not Approve of Dressing Up Gingerbread.

One and one-third cups flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon soda, one teaspoon ginger, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon baking powder, one-half cup sugar, one egg, one-half cup molasses, one-half cup sour milk, one-fourth cup shortening, one cup whipping cream, one-fourth teaspoon vanilla and fresh soft marshmallows.

Sift dry ingredients. Stir in beaten egg, molasses, sour milk and melted butter. Stir until a smooth dough.

Bake in two square cake tins in moderate oven 25 minutes.

Remove cake from oven. Leave one layer in tin, nd while hot cover top with marshmallows, cut in strips or in quarters. Return to hot oven for one minute.

Then take other layer from tin and place on top of first. Cut in squares. Serve with whipped cream flavored.

FROSTED CHOCO IS A REAL AFTERNOON RECEPTION DRINK

It Tickles the Palate of Lovers of Both Chocolate and Coffee.

Chill two cups of strong coffee.

Melt three squares of chocolate over hot water, add one-half cup of sugar and gradually stir in two cups of boiling water. Boil for five minutes, then add one quart of milk, one-fourth teaspoon of salt and a pinch of cinnamon—not more than one-fourth teaspoonful.

Heat to the boiling point and beat for two or three minutes with an egg beater.

Chill the mixture, add the coffee and serve with a tablespoon of crushed ice in each glass and a spoonful of whipped cream for a garnish.

The cream may be sprinkled with a few grains of cinnamon if desired.

When Custard Curdles.

Soft custards which start to curdle during cooking can usually be smoothed out by the following method. Remove pan immediately from heat, set in another pan of cold water and beat custard with an egg beater.

BAKED ALASKAN DESSERT

Makes An Attractive Dish When Cut and Served in Slices.

To prepare a Baked Alaskan Dessert bake a loaf cake. Cut a thin slice from the top and scoop out the center of the cake.

Fill cavity with firm ice cream and replace the top of the cake. Cover the entire cake with a meringue and place under the broiler long enough to cook the meringue. Serve at once.

It can be very attractively served by cutting in slices. Use four egg whites, eight tablespoons sugar and one quart brick ice cream.

BEAN HOLE BEANS
a cup of molasses
a cup of brown sugar
a layer of sugar-cured pork

BEAN HOLE BEANS

Far in the forests of Maine you will find beans like them. The North Woods cook could show you how the great, iron bean pot was filled with layers of beans and sugar-cured pork, sweetened with sugar and molasses, sealed with clay and buried in fragrant, smouldering embers thru the night in his earthen "bean hole."

No wonder they're so good

All the tang of the deep forests—all the brawn-building food of woodsmen—all the delicious, distinctive taste and "baked outdoors" flavor—different and better than any beans you ever bought—Bean Hole Beans.

It's so easy to try them tonight. Turn the can in a buttered baking dish and put them in the oven for 15 or 20 minutes. See what your family says about the "baked-in-the-ground" flavor of piping hot, crispy, crackly, brown Bean Hole Beans. Two sizes, medium, 15c; large, 25c.

A FEW POULTRY POINTERS FOR THE YOUNG HOUSEWIFE

Company Dinners Generally Graced by a Fowl of One Type or Other.

Poultry includes chickens, ducks, turkeys, geese.

Chickens are in season all year round, but broilers are more plentiful in the spring, roasting chickens in the summer and early fall, and fricasseeing or stewing chickens in the winter.

Broilers should be only a few months old and weigh from one to two pounds.

Old birds, especially hens over a year old, are best for stewing. Young cocks make the best roasters.

Freshly killed poultry is always preferable, and when selecting birds for broiling or roasting see that the breast bone is flexible, and the birds short and plump in shape, rather than long and thin.

Culinary Arithmetic.

Whipping cream doubles its bulk. One cup of whipping cream will make two cups of whipped cream.

POPULAR APPLE PIE PLAIN AND FESTIVE

In a Popularity Pie Contest Apple Pie Generally Gets a Prize.

Housewives who are really interested in cookery can offer no better contribution to "Apple week," which we are now commemorating, than to make a tempting apple pie.

When all is said about this, that and the other favorite dessert, the man of the family will generally cast his vote for old-fashioned apple pie.

The average family cooks make only one kind of apple pie. She either cooks the apples or she doesn't cook the apples, before filling the pie crust.

Be that as it may, it is a hugh mistake to confine one's culinary abilities to making one type of apple pie when there are at least a dozen different ways of making this toothsome dainty.

These several recipes tell how to make the more popular types of this favorite dessert.

Plain Apple Pie.

Three tart apples, one-half cup sugar, one-half lemon rind grated. Peel, core and slice apples very thin. Line pie plate with paste, put in apples, sugar and little water. Wet the edges, cover with paste rolled out very thin. Wash with milk. Bake in steady, moderate oven 25 minutes, or till apples are cooked.

Dainty Apple Pie.

Quarter and core four large apples. Grate, sweeten and chill. Beat the whites of three eggs stiff. Now add the apples, flavor and beat well. Place in a partially baked pastry shell and finish baking in a slow oven. Cover with whipped cream and serve hot.

Apple Custard Pie.

Yolks of three eggs, one cup sugar, one teaspoon corn starch or flour, one cup grated tart apple. Whip thoroughly. Add sweet cream to make enough to fill deep pie pan lined with rich crust. Dust with nutmeg and bits of butter. Bake slowly.

French Apple Pie.

Three apples, one cup sugar, one-half cup butter, one and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one cup milk, two eggs. Season to taste. Cover deep baking dish with sliced apples, season with sugar, cinnamon and add tablespoon of boiling water. Cover tightly and bake for 15 minutes in moderate oven. Make a batter of above ingredients and spread over the cooked apples. Bake till brown. Then invert a pie dish and cover with meringue made from whites of the eggs. Set back in the oven to brown.

German Apple Pie.

Make a rich pie crust for bottom of pie pan only. Dress and slice four medium sized apples. Slice thin lengthwise of the apple. Place slices of apples in pie tin, lapping over each other like shingles on a roof at an angle of 45 degrees, or half pitch. Sprinkle on top of apples one teaspoon of cinnamon, distribute evenly on top of apples one cup of sugar, beat up two eggs, add to the beaten eggs one-half cup plain commercial cream, spread carefully mixture of eggs and cream on top of pie. Cut up one tablespoon of butter into tiny squares and distribute over top of pie. Bake for one hour in deep pie tin.

Apple Pie—Tennessee Style.

Cook four large apples with sufficient water, and while hot press through a sieve. Now mix with this a tablespoon of butter. Cool and stir in the yolks of three eggs, which have been well beaten, the rind and juice of one lemon and a cup of sugar well mixed together. Cover a deep pie tin with pie crust and fill wth apple mixture. Bake in a moderate oven 45 minutes.

MEAT COOKERY SUGGESTIONS

1. When meat comes from the market remove it from the paper and place it in the icebox on a china or enamel plate.
2. Do not put meat into water to wash it. Wipe with a clean, damp cloth before cooking.
3. Do not pierce the meat with a fork while it is cooking; this lets out the juices.
4. To draw out the flavor of meats, as for broths, start the cooking in cold water, bringing slowly to the boiling point.
5. To keep flavor and juices in meat, expose it to extreme heat first, then reduce the temperature and cook more slowly.
6. Cook the tough and cheaper cuts of meat very slowly and for a long time.
7. Baste meat and poultry often while roasting.
8. Learn to make appetizing, nourishing dishes of the cheaper cuts of meat.
9. Use the internal organs of beef and lamb—liver, kidneys, heart and sweetbreads—to increase the vitamins in your diet.
10. Serve Yorkshire pudding with roast beef, dumplings with stew and fried apples with pork to give your meat course "the perfect touch."

Candied Mint Leaves.

Wash and dry the mint leaves. Whip an egg white until it is stiff. Dip the leaves in the egg white and sprinkle with sugar. Place on an oiled paper in a very slow oven until the leaves are dry. These should not be discolored with the heat.

HOW TO PREPARE SHRIMP

Fresh Shrimp, Daintily Cooked, Make an Appetizing Dish.

Shrimp, like other food fish, may be cooked tough by too long cooking and too much heat.

Boiling shrimp for use in various dishes: To each quart of rapidly boiling water add one tablespoonful salt, one tablespoonful vinegar, and a pinch of cayenne pepper. Drop shrimp in the boiling water, reduce heat, cover, let simmer very gently 12 minutes. Drain and chill.

When ready to use them, remove the shell. With a sharp knife take out the black vein along the back. Use whole or cut in half lengthwise.

Creamed Shrimp.

To one pint of rich white sauce add one tablespoonful minced parsley, one tablespoonful lemon juice, and one and one-half cups shrimp. Serve with thin slices of well-toasted bread.

DEEP DISH APRICOT PIE IS A TOOTHSOME MORSEL

A Wholesome and Nutritious Dessert to Follow a Light Meal.

Few sweets are more toothsome than deep-dish apricot pie. To make it take one-half pound evaporated apricots, one-half cup sugar, individual custard cups and pastry dough made according to your favorite recipe.

Wash apricots, cover with warm water and soak until soft, over night if possible. Drain off liquid, add sugar and simmer until a thin syrup is formed. Add the apricots to the hot syrup. No further cooking is necessary. Fill glass custard cups two-thirds full and cover with pastry. Bake about 15 minutes in a hot oven. Delicious hot or cold, with or without whipped cream.

Apricot roly poly is another tempting apricot dessert. To make it, take two cups flour, four teaspoons baking powder, three-fourths teaspoon salt, two tablespoons sugar, four tablespoons fat, one egg, one-half cup milk, one-half cup apricot juice, one cup suger and stewed apricots.

Mix as baking powder biscuits, sift dry ingredients, rubbing in fat, adding egg slightly beaten with milk. Roll to one-quarter inch thick in an oblong. Spread with cooked apricots. Sprinkle with sugar, dot with butter, roll crosswise to make a long roll, place in well-greased bread pan. Bake in hot oven about 10 minutes heat, baste with syrup ma boiling apricot juice and su minutes. Serve with cream.

No single coffee grown can give you this glorious flavor

WHERE do you suppose the old Maxwell House in Nashville procured the rare coffee for which it was so widely famed? No single coffee grown yields that inimitable flavor; it had to be blended into being before it could delight the epicures of the Old South.

A Southern gentleman of the old school devised that rich and mellow flavor, and time so treasured his recipe that you can enjoy it today. The world sought out his coffee and year after year has demanded it in such measure that now it is the largest selling packaged coffee in the world!

Your grocer has Maxwell House, waiting for you to try. So sure is he that it will please you, just as it has pleased more people than any other coffee ever packaged, that he will unhesitatingly return your money if you are not fully satisfied.

HOT SOUP STIMULATES A JADED APPETITE

A Clear Flavorful Bouillon Serves the Purpose Most Admirably.

One of the most pleasing ways to stimulate the appetite at the beginning of a meal is to serve a clear but very flavorful soup.

Many kinds of appetizers, as the different kinds of canapes, and fruits, either alone or in combination with other fruits, are in vogue, but for real flavor almost any of the varieties of soup having stock for a foundation would be hard to surpass.

Bouillon belongs to the class of appetizers. To make bouillon, take four pounds of soup meat, including bones, one-half cup diced carrots, one-half cup diced potatoes, one-half cup celery, cut fine; one small onion, sliced; five cups boiling water, one-tablespoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper.

Cut the meat from the bone and into cubes of about an inch. Put these and the bone in a large pan, a roaster will do, and sear them in the oven with the sliced onion for 15 minutes at 500 degrees.

Remove from the oven and add the seasonings, diced vegetables, and the five cups of boiling water. Put back in the oven after the temperature has been reduced to 275 degrees (or 250 degrees), and let simmer for the length of time called for above, depending on the temperature used.

This soup should be made a day before it is wanted and let stand in a cool place. Then any excess fat can be easily skimmed off as it will have hardened on the top.

If it is not possible to let the soup stand over night, the fat can be skimmed off with a spoon when hot if great care is taken.

If the soup is desired free from all fat, it can be poured over some cracked ice while still warm and the fat particles will harden and adhere to the ice. Any fat remaining after this treatment can be taken off by passing a clean blotting paper through the surface of the soup. The blotting paper will absorb the fat.

If a perfectly clean soup is desired, the vegetables should be strained from the liquid and the white of an egg with the washed and crushed shell added to the cool soup.

Place it over the fire and stir constantly until it has boiled several minutes. Remove from the fire and strain through a very fine clean cheese cloth.

This clear broth can then be reheated and served very hot. For a more filling soup, the vegetables may be left in.

SOME SIMPLE SUGGESTIONS FOR READY PREPARED RICE

Creamy Rice Puddings and Rich Soups Made in a Moment's Time.

To know the convenience afforded by ready-to-use rice, read these simple suggestions:

It is good as a cereal or for dessert. Serve hot or cold, with cream and sugar. Fruit juice, fresh fruit, nutmeg or cinnamon may be added, if desired.

Delicious rice puddings and custards can be prepared in just a few minutes. Simply combine desired quantity of rice and milk. Heat to a boiling point. Add thoroughly beaten yolks of several eggs. Let simmer but do not boil. Beat whites of the eggs thoroughly, and fold in. Remove and let cool.

For tutti frutti custards and puddings, just place peaches, pears, bananas, raisins, figs or apple sauce in bottom of individual dishes. Cover with rice prepared as above.

For tasty rice soup, add prepared rice to your veal or chicken broth. It is a desirable addition to all kinds of soups.

You'll find ready-cooked rice useful in preparing appetizing dishes from leftover meats. Also, in preparing stuffed peppers, onions, cabbage, squash or tomatoes; meat and cheese loaves; chop suey, croquettes, omelettes, stews, hashes, salads, muffins and in all other dishes in which rice is ordinarily used.

CANNED APPLES FOR WINTER

Apples May be Home Canned Like All Other Fruits.

Prepare apples in any way desired. Pack jars full. Fill with hot water and put on covers loosely.

Have wash boiler ready with slatted bottom or piece of heavy wire screen to set jars on. Place jars in boiler so they do not touch each other or the sides of the boiler.

Put in enough warm water to come up about two inches on jars. Put on cover and bring to boil. Boil gently 20 minutes, lift cover from boiler, allowing steam to escape, then clamp down covers, allowing no air to enter the jar.

Let jars stand in water 10 minutes before removing. This is especially desirable for saving fruit that would otherwise go to waste.

They may be prepared in any way desired, and sweetened to taste when wanted for use.

Mock Lobster Salad.

Two pounds haddock fillets boiled in salted acidulated water. Flake hot fish. Add two chopped pimentos. Pour over the whole 10 tablespoonfuls best vinegar. Mix pimento gently with the vinegar through the fish. Set away to chill. To one cup mayonnaise add one-half cup India relish, two tablespoonfuls lemon juice. Mix mayonnaise through the fish. Serve on crisp lettuce. Garnish with chopped parsley and paprika.

CREAMED HADDOCK WITH PEAS

Two cups uncooked fillet of haddock. Cut fish in one-inch cubes. In a double boiler heat two tablespoons butter, add two tablespoons flour, stir until smooth, add two cups hot milk, stir until it thickens. Season with one-half teaspoon (level) salt and a shake of pepper.

Put the fish in the cream sauce, let cook 15 minutes. Drain a small can peas, add to the fish.

Serve on a hot platter with triangles of toast or saltines.

LAMB AND PEPPER HASH IS AN UNUSUAL DISH

Try Making It the Next Time There Are Leftovers From the Lamb Roast.

Chop leftover roast lamb through the meat chopper and to each three cups of chopped cooked lamb add one large green pepper, chopped, one small onion and one and one-half cups of finely diced cooked potatoes.

Mix and season to taste with salt, pepper and tablespoon of catsup. Add any leftover gravy or enough milk to moisten. Melt three tablespoons of butter in a heavy frying pan, put in the hash and smooth it down.

Cook slowly until well browned underneath. Fold over and turn out on a hot platter.

Garnish with parsley and slices of fried tomato.

The secret of making good hash lies in having the mixture well moistened, free from excess fat and slowly cooked. Beef, veal or corned beef may be used in the same way.

Try This Next Time.

If a small amount of lemon juice is sprinkled over the bananas it helps to prevent them from turning dark. However, it is wise to peel the bananas just before serving, if possible.

REGULATING THE INDIVIDUAL DIET REQUIRES KNOWLEDGE

Enough Advice Is Proffered on the Subject to Satisfy the Most Timid.

One of the best group of suggestions for regulating your diet is that recently given by a well-known doctor in which he makes the following recommendations:

Eat fruits and vegetables both raw and cooked, in quantity as they supply bulk, most of the essential minerals and the vitamins.

These classes of foods also supply a large amount of water which is such an important part of the diet.

Eat in moderation eggs, fish and meat for the body-building protein. Fat is high in fuel value, and therefore heating, so eat sparingly in hot weather of butter, oil, cream, fat meat and nuts.

Starches and sugars are grouped with fats as energy foods of high fuel value, use them moderately in summer, and in larger amounts in cold weather.

Cook Enough for Two Days.

Boil more potatoes than are needed for the next meal. The following day they may be creamed, fried or scalloped. If there are not quite enough for the third day, eggs and meat may be combined with them.

Steamed Rice.

Wash one cup rice and soak in a quart of water over night. Drain. Add slowly to two and one-half cups boiling salted water. Boil five minutes. Steam over boiling water until tender, stirring occasionally with a fork.

How to Marinate Foods.

All meat, fish and vegetables for salads are improved by marinating. To prepare ingredients in this way toss them lightly in a dressing of three tablespoons of oil, one tablespoon of lemon juice or vinegar, and a seasoning of pepper and salt, and place on ice for our hour before serving.

You Ask for "Hostess Chocolate Layer"

—Will You Try It?—

It's baked to a remarkable old Colonial recipe, and delivered fresh to leading grocers. Note details below

By ALICE ADAMS PROCTOR

THE luscious-looking cake above, Madam, is becoming a real sensation among particular hostesses here.

Women who try it say "No more baking for me!" More than ten thousand housewives have written in to praise it. And domestic science experts regard it as a masterpiece.

We bake it for you to a recipe widely used in Colonial days. Our ingredients are the finest that money can procure, surpassing in most ways those you can buy yourself. (Exactly what they are, we show in box above at right.)

Now for cost. You'll be amazed to discover that by buying this cake you save half the cost of baking it at home. In view of the rich ingredients used, this may seem almost incredible, until you learn how we reduce the retail price by purchasing our ingredients in vast quantities.

It is known as a "Hostess" Cake.

OUR COSTLY INGREDIENTS

FLOUR. Made from the country's choicest wheats. Specially milled for us.

MILK. Every drop pasteurized twice.

BUTTER. A fine grade of fresh creamery butter. It tests "90 score" by United States Government standards.

EGGS. All carefully inspected, not once, but five times.

FLAVORINGS. We make our own. No others equal our standard.

"Delicious? Oui, Madame!"

A brand name that has come to stand for the very finest in bakery products.

So start, if you will, with our Chocolate Layer. Or if you prefer, our Devil's Food. Or our Cocoanut Layer. Or our now-famous Cup Cakes. All baked to time-proven recipes and endorsed by the Good Housekeeping Magazine.

In ordering, only remember this: Whether you ask for a Hostess Devil's Food or a Hostess Chocolate Layer, emphasize that word "Hostess."

This is highly important if you want the kind of cakes described here.

Since they cost no more than ordinary kinds, to accept a substitute is folly. One trial will prove this.

BAKED BY THE BAKERS OF WONDER BREAD

HOME-MADE CREAM PUFFS ARE DAINTY

Several of the Many Variations Possible for Serving Them.

Everyone likes cream puffs. They are not hard to make, and by serving the home-made variety one can achieve quite a feeling of "chefiness," for there is something very professional looking about those puffy brown balls of emptiness!

Filled with a thick, well flavored custard, they are general favorites, but they are no less appreciated when the filling consists of ice cream or whipped cream stiffened with a little gelatine, or a combination of fruit and whipped cream.

Tiny cream puffs—no bigger than a 50-cent piece—filled with cream cheese are delicious with a salad, or filled with deviled ham or mashed sardines or any of a number of such things, they make unusual and delicious appetizers.

No matter what the filling, the shells or puffs are made in the same way, and here is the recipe.

Put one-half cup of butter and one cup of boiling water in a saucepan and heat to the boiling point. When boiling rapidly, pour in one cup of sifted flour all at once and stir vigorously with a wooden spoon until the mixture forms a ball around the spoon and comes away from the sides of the pan. This will probably not take more than a minute or two.

This part of the process must be done quickly, and the flour dumped in all at once or the mixture will not be smooth. Remove from the fire and empty into a bowl. Cool slightly, say for about 10 minutes, then add four eggs, one at a time. The eggs are not to be beaten before adding them to the flour mixture, but each egg must be thoroughly beaten into the mixture before the next is added. At first you will find that the dough will separate into a number of small flakes, but by beating, it will join together again into a velvet-smooth mass.

When the eggs have all been added, drop the dough from a spoon onto a greased baking pan, leaving at least two inches between each cream puff to allow for rising. Bake in a moderate oven for 30 to 40 minutes, depending on the size.

If they are to be small and filled with cheese for serving with salads, drop from the tip end of a teaspoon into tiny mounds and bake 20 minutes.

Average sized puffs are dropped from a full teaspoon.

To make eclairs draw the dough between two spoons to make an oblong of two to three inches long and one inch wide. Eclair pans may be bought that shape the mixture.

When the cream puffs are done remove from the oven and let cool before attempting to fill them. If they have not been cooked enough they will collapse as they cool. If the oven is not hot enough the puffs will not rise as they should and will probably have a lot of soft doughy material in the centers when they are cut open to fill.

A good custard filling is made by scalding two cups of milk with one-half cup of sugar. While the milk is scalding, beat two eggs until very light and add one tablespoon of sugar mixed with one tablespoon of cornstarch. Pour the hot milk into this, beating constantly. Return to the saucepan and stir over a slow fire until thickened, smooth and boiling. Cool, add flavoring to suit taste.

Cut a slit along the side of each cream puff and pour the cold custard in with a teaspoon. Ice if desired with vanilla, chocolate, coffee or strawberry icing.

HARD GINGER COOKIES

This Is a Delightful Small Cake That All Children Like.

Hard ginger cookies are in demand where there are boys and girls in the family who need something refreshing and nourishing to eat on their return from school in the afternoon.

These ginger cookies exactly fill the bill. Make them with one-half cup shortening. One-third cup brown sugar, one-half cup molasses, one egg, two cups cake flour, one teaspoon ginger, one-half teaspoon salt and one one-half teaspoon soda.

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually. Then add molasses and egg and fold in sifted dry ingredients. Chill, roll one-fourth inch thick and cut with cookie cutter. Bake in moderate oven about 12 minutes.

Caramel Filling for Cake.

A delicious cake filling and one that is very nutritious, too, can be made by placing an unopened can of sweetened condensed milk (not evaporated) in boiling water to cover and boiling steadily for two hours. Result—a caramel frosting all ready to spread on the cake. This is a filling to use on days when the cook is especially busy.

MAKE PUMPKIN PIE OLD-FASHIONED WAY

No Matter How Modern We Are Most of Us Still Love This Delicacy.

Pumpkin pie is truly an American dish and one that so is closely associated with our winter holidays that it has become traditional.

Whether it be served warm or cold, the pie that is baked at home is a favorite over the bakers' variety.

A real old-fashioned recipe is given here—one that has been used in my family for many years. The only difference that modern times has made in it is the substitution of undiluted evaporated milk for fresh cream, and a deep glass pie plate for the yellow crockery one that grandmother always used. Canned pumpkins can be used with great success and an equally great saving of time, for the peeling and steaming of the vegetable and then rubbing it through a strainer takes considerable time. The canned is ready to use as it comes from the can, and is excellent in flavor.

Old-Fashioned Pies.

To make two medium-sized pies about one and one-half to two inches deep you will need three cups of cooked, strained pumpkin.

If you prefer to use the fresh, select a medium-sized pumpkin, cut in pieces, peel and remove the seeds and pithy middle section. Cut in inch cubes or squares and steam until tender. This will take anywhere from one to two hours. When tender, rub through a coarse strainer to make a smooth, thick pulp.

Beat four eggs until light, add one and one-half cups milk and one cup rich cream or undiluted evaporated milk. Mix together one and one-half cups light brown sugar, two teaspoons salt, two teaspoons cinnamon, one teaspoon allspice and one teaspoon ground ginger. Add these to the pumpkin, mix well and then add the eggs and milk. Stir until thoroughly blended.

Line two deep pie plates with pastry and build up a rim about one-third inch high around the edge. This is done by cutting a strip of pastry one inch wide, folding it and pinching it upright along the edge of the pie plate. Fill with the pumpkin filling and bake in a hot oven for 15 to 20 minutes or until the crust begins to brown. Reduce the heat and continue cooking for an hour and a quarter, or until the pie is brown on top, glazed and firm.

Test by running a silver knife through the center. If the knife comes out clean, the pie is done; if it is milky or sticky, let it cook a little longer.

Quick cooking is necessary in the beginning to prevent the filling soaking into the crust. Slow, cooking is needed for most of the time in order to insure a smooth, custard-like consistency.

Let those who will cover it with cheese or marshmallows—I claim they lack the epicure's taste, for the flavor of pumpkin, eggs, cream, sugar, cinnamon and all-spice that is developed by a judicious mixture of these ingredients baked slowly and in a deep pan lined with a flaky, crisp pie crust needs no further embellishment.

Worth Remembering.

Marshmallows will not stick if the knife with which they are cut is dipped into hot water.

Now Try Toast This Way

To Get It Crisp and Golden Brown

You make it with this slo-baked bread so many dietitians are endorsing. Please start with it today, waiting only to read the truly remarkable facts printed about it below.

MADAM: Now you can get toast golden brown practically every time. Get it through the use of a delicious slo-baked bread endorsed today by domestic science experts.

Much of the dainty toast you admire in other homes is doubtless due to this bread. For millions of women today will buy no other kind.

It is called Wonder Bread and it comes to you from the Continental Baking Company. The company, as you may know, that also bakes the famous "Hostess Cake" so many women are turning to.

Because it slices firmly, it eliminates danger of crumbling, even when exceptionally thin slices are your aim. Hence it's splendid for sandwich making. Being oven-fresh when you buy it, it keeps its freshness amazingly.

So try it, please, and be convinced. If your family is like other families you will undoubtedly be won at once.

OVER THE RADIO

At 7:30 every Wednesday evening the Happy Wonder Bakers present the Wonder Period over KSD and 27 associated stations of the National Broadcasting Company.

This program has been called the new sensation of the air. Tune in and hear the famous Happy Wonder Bakers Trio. And their orchestra conducted by Frank Black.

Remember, it's every Wednesday evening. You'll enjoy every minute.

As the new-day bread for toast, Wonder Bread has won women by the millions. But in considering this, please do not overlook the wonderful things it does in fostering a healthy, happy family.

In the matter of calorific value it is most remarkable. Each loaf you buy contains more than 1100 calories.

Hence if eaten daily Wonder Bread replaces as much as 30% of all the energy your children burn up in play. Thus it promotes active minds and bodies; and brings a new glow to pallid faces.

It provides in addition much necessary protein. The element, as you may know, that replaces worn-out body tissues and hence helps build sturdy muscles.

It contains also calcium and phosphate, now judged by dietetic authorities essential for growing children in the hardening of teeth and bones.

Thus "Wonder Bread three times daily" is the advice of leading present-day dietitians. In view of the facts described above, the wisdom of this becomes plain to anyone.

What Goes Into It

To maintain its quality day after day we go to great lengths.

We employ a large staff of food experts to test each shipment of ingredients. We specify a specially milled, short patent flour. (We use only the heart of the nutritious wheat berry.)

We use double the usual amount of milk. Every drop is pasteurized.

Please Make This Amazing Test!

Here's a test that proves how good Wonder Bread really is: Toast a slice of Wonder Bread and a slice of any ordinary bread. Now, Madam, just compare them. The Wonder Bread toast will be browned evenly over the entire surface. No scorched edges! The other slice will be only partially and unevenly browned. This test will astonish you. Just try it!

We employ, too, a special method of baking. Slo-baking, it is called. A proven scientific method that seals in the dietetic value of our ingredients and vastly improves their flavor.

Hence when you get Wonder Bread you get the best. It knows no rival. Millions have found this to be so.

Won't You Try It?

So please try it at once. Simply to prove what wonderful new advantages it offers you and yours.

Note its dainty flavor. Its freshness. See how evenly it toasts. How easily it slices.

But remember! Ordinary breads are not like this. Avoid them. Insist on Wonder Bread always.

HEYDT BAKERY
Continental Baking Company

Always Demand Wonder Bread!

In ordering bread remember only this: The advantages described above cannot be obtained for any ordinary bread. Wonder Bread and Wonder Bread alone offers you these remarkable advantages. Hence, since it costs no more, to accept any substitute is folly.

SERVE OYSTER COCKTAILS AT THE FAMILY DINNER

Housewives Will Find Their Dinners Will Become More Interesting.

Oysters are the most important bivalve found on our coasts. There are two classes—native and plants.

These oyster fisheries extend along the Atlantic coast from Cape Cod to Texas. The oyster fisheries of the west coast are much smaller. The west coast oyster is very much smaller than the Atlantic coast oyster.

The vitamin content is very high. The oyster is also a very abundant source of iodine supply.

Oyster Cocktail Sauce.

One bottle catsup, one bottle chili sauce, one bottle prepared horseradish, two tablespoonfuls Worcestershire, two tablespoonfuls lemon juice, 10 drops Tabasco sauce. Pour ingredients in a pint jar, shake well, keep cold for future use. Use half quantity when using fresh-grated horseradish.

Three tablespoonfuls sauce to six oysters for individual serving.

Suggested cocktail combinations: Mixed fish and oysters and clams; plain clam cocktail or oyster cocktail. All shellfish such as oysters, clams, small scallops, bits of lobster, crab meat and shrimp. You con't go wrong with these combinations, they can be greatly varied by using bits of left-over fish at any time.

APRICOT CREAM CAKE

A Good Way to Dress Up a Cake Bought at the Store.

Surprise your family some evening with this unusual and easily made cake. They'll come back for more.

Bake a two-layer sponge cake. Drain cooked apricots and rub through coarse strainer.

Whip cream; add powdered sugar and vanilla.

Spread apricots on the layers, cover with whipped cream and put layers together. Sprinkle top of cake with finely chopped blanched almonds.

A plain one-egg butter cake may also be used as a basis for this dessert.

OLD TIME DESSERTS HAVE THEIR APPEAL

A Group of Old-Fashioned Dishes That Are Often Poorly Prepared.

There are some of the old-fashioned desserts that we turn back to time and time again—rice pudding, especially if it is made with raisins; prune pie with a coating of cream; steamed pudding and the many fruited Bavarian creams—these are all favorites, but are, alas, often a disappointment because carelessly prepared or because of lack of knowledge.

The following recipes have stood the test of long usage and are sure to be satisfactory if faithfully followed. Each serves six.

Rice Pudding.

Wash one-half cup rice in several waters, then put in a saucepan with one and one-half cups boiling water and one-half teaspoon salt and boil for eight minutes, or until the water is absorbed. Then remove from the fire, add a can of sweetened condensed milk, three cups boiling water, two tablespoons butter, one-quarter teaspoon salt and the same of grated nutmeg. Mix, pour into a deep pudding pan and bake in a slow oven for one hour or until thickened and creamy and brown on top.

At the end of the first half hour, it may be necessary to add one cup more of boiling water. If it is desired to add raisins, wash from one-half to one cupful and stir in about 20 minutes before the pudding is done. Stir two or three times during cooking to keep the pudding creamy. Serve hot or cold.

Prune Pie.

Wash one pound prunes, cover with cold water and let soak over night. In the morning cook slowly in the same water for 20 minutes, or until tender. Cool, then cut each prune lengthwise to remove the pit.

Mix lightly with one-quarter cup sugar and reheat to dissolve the sugar. Bake good pie dough over an inverted pie plate. Bake it in a hot oven for 15 minutes, or until crisp and brown. Cool, slip from the pie plate to a serving dish. Fill with the prunes.

Chill, cover with sweetened whipped cream or a stiff custard sauce and serve cold.

Banana Bavarian Cream.

Soak two tablespoons gelatine in one-half cup cold milk for 10 minutes. Scald one cup milk. Mix together one-half cup sugar, two well beaten egg yolks and the grated rind of half a lemon. Add the hot milk gradually to this mixture, and return to the saucepan. Stir constantly until slightly thickened.

Remove at once from the fire, stir in the gelatine and when the gelatine is dissolved, add three ripe bananas that have been peeled, mashed with a silver fork and mixed with one tablespoon lemon juice. Stir in a pan of cold water until the gelatine begins to stiffen and then fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, one cup of cream whipped stiff and one teaspoon vanilla extract.

Pour into a quart mold and set aside to chill. Garnish with a little whipped cream if desired, and sliced bananas.

Caramel Pudding.

Caramel pudding is a good dessert for youngsters who have to be coaxed to use milk. Mix one cup soft brown sugar with one and one-half cups milk and stir over a slow fire until the sugar is dissolved. Beat the yolks of two eggs, add one tablespoon cornstarch or three tablespoons flour and stir until smooth; then add one-half cup cold milk. Stir this into the hot sugar and milk mixture and continue stirring until thickened, smooth and boiling.

Remove at once from the fire and whip in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and one teaspoon vanilla. Chill before serving.

CRAB APPLES MAKE TASTY MARMALADES AND SPREADS

Finished Products Are Very Attractive and Tart to the Taste.

Crab apples are still in market and it behooves the housewife to put up a supply of this fruit for winter use.

A delicious crab apple spread is made with four quarts crab apples, three cups sugar, four cups water, two tablespoons ground cinnamon and two teaspoons salt.

Wash and quarter crab apples, but do not pare or remove cores Put into preserving kettle with water. Bring to boil rapidly; then simmer until tender.

Mash through a strainer and return to fire. Add sugar, cinnamon and salt, and simmer 45 minutes.

Place in jars and cover with paraffin. Keep in a cool place.

STEWED GOOSE IS GOOD

Take two onions, peel and chop, and put them in a saucepan with a tablespoonful of butter and fry until soft; dredge them with flour and stir in half a pint or so of the water in which the bones of the goose have been boiled.

Cut up into dice shaped pieces any or all of the cold cooked goose and put it into the saucepan with a wine glass of white wine and a tablespoonful of vinegar, and season to taste with salt and pepper.

Cover closely and stew for half an hour slowly. Turn out and serve very hot.

Steamed Pudding.

Wash two cups of ripe cranberries, cut in half or chop coarsely and mix with one-half cup of sugar and two tablespoons flour Mix and sift two cups dry, stale bread crumbs with one-half cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon, the cranberries, one-fourth cup melted butter, two beaten eggs, one-half cup milk and one and one-half teaspoons baking powder. Pour into a pudding mold, cover and steam two hours. Turn out and serve with hard sauce.

Your Husband will thank you!
for this Culture Ripened Coffee

PERHAPS your husband has "balked" when you've tried to interest him in a coffee substitute or some near-coffee with all the invigorating qualities taken out. No doubt he has felt the need for "a coffee that won't disturb" but, in order to get it, is not willing to drink a flat, devitalized coffee. Right?

Then he certainly will thank you when you set Forbes Culture Ripened Coffee before him—a coffee with the rich flavor and full invigorating effect of "Old Government Java," yet with the real disturbing elements—the gallotannic acids—neutralized.

You can tell him how culture ripening provides this happy combination in coffee.

—how this newly discovered and patented process employs the same mellowing "culture" that used to form on coffee when it lay for long periods in the warm, moist holds of the old wooden sailing ships —how that natural process enriched the coffee flavor and freed it from tannin

—how that natural ripening no longer took place when fast steel-hulled steamboats replaced the old sailing vessels

—how Forbes culture ripening today duplicates Nature's process and overcomes the effects of gallotannic acids by ripening coffee under conditions exactly like those which existed in the holds of the old sailing ships

SAUSSELE NOT LIKELY TO START IN GAME WITH MISSOURI TOMORROW

STAR HALFBACK HANDICAPPED BY HIP INJURY; WASHINGTON WILL BE OUTWEIGHED IN BACKFIELD

By Henry L. Freund

Washington University's Bears and the Missouri Tigers meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 p. m. at Francis Field in the traditional battle between these schools. The game will mark the resumption of athletic relations after a lapse of one year, and will be the thirtieth meeting between Washington and Missouri.

The entire Bear squad had a long workout yesterday afternoon in which new plays were tried out behind barred gates. Dr. Sharpe has developed some new formations which may prove puzzling to the visitors.

Coach Sharpe said last night that he plans to start Clarence Ax at quarterback against the Tigers. This is Ax's third and last year on the squad. Last season he got into many of the games because of his ability at place and drop kicking and because of his splendid defensive work.

"Red" Saussele was in uniform for the second time this week, but did only light work as his injured hip still bothers him. It is probable that the red-headed flash will not start against Missouri, but will be held in reserve, ready to enter the game when needed. With Saussele out of the game Wald will move back to halfback and Ax to quarter with Rawdon and Hornsby at fullback and the other half. With "Red" in the game Rawdon will have the edge at fullback over Scott Hornsby and will do the punting.

Springer to Play End.

Bert Springer, who played a great defensive game at end against Carnegie will get the call at right end. Springer, a converted quarterback, was playing his first game as an end last week. The rest of the Washington lineup will be the same as in the last two games. Butz will be at center, Captain Jablonsky and Senn at guards, Paris and Glazer at the tackles and Springer and Coover, ends.

The Missouri starting line-up as given out last night indicates that the Bears' forward wall will have the edge in weight against the Missourians. Coach Henry may change his starting line-up before the game as his squad includes many reserves of equal caliber with the usual starters.

The Bears will have an 8-pound edge on the line but this weight advantage will be heavily overshadowed in the backfield where the Tigers will average over 11 pounds heavier than the Washington ball carriers. If Saussele starts the game the weight advantage for Missouri will be increased, as Ted is 21 pounds lighter than Hornsby, who will start if Saussele does not.

Extensive preparations have been made for tonight and tomorrow in honor of the homecoming game. A mass meeting will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in Francis gym where Charles M. Hay, Daniel Bartlett and Alfred Cantwell, all alumni of the school, will address the meeting. Cantwell was captain of the 1923 Washington eleven that beat Missouri 13-7 in a surprise game. At 8:45 a gigantic bon fire will be held at the east end of Francis Field followed by the annual freshmen shirt-tail parade.

Gov. Caulfield to Attend.

At the game tomorrow Gov. Caulfield of Missouri will occupy a box on the Missouri side of the field during the first half of the game and then change to a box on the Washington side for the second half. The Governor is a graduate of the Washington University Law school. A cross-country race between the freshmen and varsity teams will be started towards the close of the second quarter in order that the finish will be between the halves. Medals will be awarded the first five to finish.

Arrangements have been completed to broadcast the game tomorrow as well as for the St. Louis game on Thanksgiving. A loud speaking system will also be in use during and before the game so that the crowd will be informed of each play and penalty.

Temporary bleachers have been erected at the east and west ends of the field to accommodate the large crowds that are expected for the game.

The officials for the game will be Howard Millard (Illinois Wesleyan), referee; Joseph Ramp (Cincinnati), umpire; Dwight Ream (Washburn), head linesman; James M. Gould (West Point), field judge.

Night Football Is Banned by Lincoln Schools

By the Associated Press.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 8.

NIGHT football, gaining in popularity throughout the country, is "out" as far as Lincoln's high schools are concerned.

The Board of Education has declared a ban on after-dark games, following a report from Superintendent M. G. Lefler, which said:

"There probably is a question as to whether the assembly of large numbers of adolescent children under cover of night, is conducive to the moral control which a body like the Board of Education is willing to assume."

Coach Henry Plans to Use Aerial Attack; Johanningmeier to Play

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 8.—The Missouri Tigers, including 31 football players, a staff of coaches and trainers, 87 Missouri University band members, cheer-leaders and 3000 Missouri University students and alumni will rally in St. Louis today and tomorrow in quest of an elusive repast—Washington Bear meat.

The football squad departs late this afternoon, arriving in St. Louis at 9 o'clock. Head Coach Gwinn Henry and C. L. Brewer, director of athletics, depart in advance of the squad to attend a Missouri University alumni rally tonight at the Coronado Hotel.

Despite the fact that the Tigers fell unexpectedly before the Kansas Aggies, 7 to 6, here last Saturday, Brewer predicted more than 3000 Tiger supporters would attend the game. The size of the Missouri student delegation forced university officials to arrange for a special train to carry undergraduates to St. Louis. The student special will arrive in St. Louis at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Missouri's last practice session gave indication that Coach Gwinn Henry may rely on the aerial route to do much of his gaining against Washington. Virtually the entire practice session was given over to perfection of new pass variations that should give more than one Bear defensive back a brainstorm.

Eligibles All Tall Players.

With Captain John Waldorf, 204, and Russell Dills, 145-pound halfback, handling the hurling end, Henry's aerial offense was working more smoothly than in any other practice this fall. The most dangerous feature of the Tiger passing offensive the Bears will have to overcome is the fact that Coach Henry has perfected an aerial type of play, which features four eligibles for passes who are more than six feet in height, and who, despite their size, are about the fastest men on the Missouri eleven. Both ends, Hursley and Gladden, are well above six feet. Hursley scales 187 and as captain of the track team, steps a quarter in less than 50 seconds. Gladden demonstrated his speed last Saturday by outdistancing a half dozen Kansas Aggie tacklers when he ran for the sole Tiger touchdown after receiving a pass.

Carl Johanningmeier, St. Louis sophomore, who formerly was a stellar member of the St. Louis Soldan eleven, is another pass receiver of note, standing in height fully as well as either end, and pointing to a record as the outstanding Tiger sophomore quarter miler as evidence of his speed. Scott Kennedy, 185, another regular member of the Tiger backfield quartet, steps the hundred in 9.9, and does just about as well in his football togs.

Captain Johnny Waldorf usually handles the passing to this array of giant pigskin snaggers, but virtually every other member of the Tiger backfield roster tosses an occasional pass. Bernie Schaff, other regular back, holds his position largely because of his ability to send opposing linemen spinning on their heads when they threaten Waldorf's pass tossing.

McCauley to Play Center.

Henry continued to use Lawrence McCauley, reserve center, in place of the veteran Ray Smith, out with injuries. Kern Reece, 212-pound fullback, did the snapper-back honors for a second eleven. Tiger coaches said Smith's condition was considerably better, but felt they would not be justified in risking him in the game tomorrow.

Both Paul Marvin and "Big Jim" Baker, veteran tackles, were still out of uniform at yesterday's practice. Both will be left in Columbia over the week-end in the hope that they will recover in time to make the trip to New York for the New York University game next week.

The Missouri-Washington game tomorrow will be the renewal of Missouri's oldest gridiron rivalry, the Bears meeting "Missouri State U." in its first grid encounter in 1890. Washington won, 28 to 0. Five thousand witnessed the first Tiger-Bear struggle and paid 25 to 50 cents a seat to see it. Missouri's end of the gate was $850 and after paying expenses, the Tigers turned $400 into the athletic treasury.

Army Has Edge on Illinois, Season's Records Show; Crowd Of 68,000 to Attend Battle

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 8.—Army, led by its red-headed halfback, Captain Chris Cagle, who flits about the gridiron in the Red Grange manner, invades the Illinois stadium tomorrow for one of the major intersectional battles of the season. A capacity crowd of 68,000 will view the game.

Every ticket has been sold and there will be no "turn backs" to put on sale at the stadium, C. E. Bowen, ticket manager, announced.

Both teams have been beaten and tied, but still rank high in their respective sections. Army's record is four victories, a tie with Harvard and a defeat by Yale. Illinois has won three, was tied by Iowa, and downed by Northwestern.

On the season's showing, Army has the edge, and the Illini scouts report that Cagle and Murrel are better backs than any Illinois has met in the Big Ten circles. Coach Zuppke after seeing Cagle against Stanford last year, characterized the All-America halfback as the best runner he had seen since Grange.

"Onward Christian" Cagle does things in a large way and in a short time. Inserted in the South Dakota game, which served as a warm-up for the Cadets before the Illinois trip, he scored two touchdowns in five minutes and threw a 40-yard pass to Messinger. The Army eleven functions as he does, and it rang up 27 points in one quarter in that game.

In six games the "kaydets" have scored 148 points, nearly 25 a game, which is evidence that the Illini must perfect a good defense or score frequently themselves.

Army has not lost a game to a Middle Western team, except Notre Dame, since 1890, and in that period has defeated Chicago, Kansas, St. Louis U., Detroit and Nebraska. Illinois' record against Eastern schools is four victories out of five games. The Illini has lost one game to Colgate and defeated Syracuse and Pennsylvania twice each. Coach Bop Zuppke, whose men took things easy in early practice this week to recover from the Northwestern defeat, intends to star practically the same eleven unless "Frosty" Peters is able to play. In that event "Frosty" ill resume his old place at quarterback and Mills will be used as a halfback. The line from tackle to tackle remains intact with the changes on end being confined to three men, Wolgast, Jolley and Steinman. Yanuskus, halfback; Robinson, fullback; Useman, quarterback; Hills, tackle, and Roush, guard, are the most likely to play if the regulars need a rest.

Men prominent in State and national affairs, both civic and military will visit the campus for the game. Among the most noted are Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the United States Army, Gen. Frank Parker, commanding general of the Sixth Corps area, and Gov. Clyde Reed of Kansas.

After the Army engagement, the Illini appear against Chicago next week in the final home game of the season. The contest with Stagg's Maroons, taken lightly by fans earlier in the season, assumed a new aspect when Chicago invaded Princeton and tamed the Nassau Tiger.

15,000 Chicago Fans Will Attend Army-Illini Game

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.

STARTING tomorrow morning, 15,000 Chicago football fans, the greatest number ever to leave the city to witness a game, will begin leaving for Champaign to watch the Army and Illinois contest.

Twenty-three special trains will be involved in the movement to and from the scene of the game. On one of the first trains will be Secretary of War Good, and Colonel Gowenlock, chief of staff of the 33rd division.

HARMON SEEKS SHARKEY FOR CHICAGO FIGHT

CHICAGO, Nov. 8. — Promoter Paddy Harmon of the Chicago Stadium, has opened negotiations with Jack Sharkey, Boston contender for the vacant world heavyweight throne, for a match early next year.

Harmon hopes to match the winner of the Tuffy Griffith-Paolino Uzcudun bout which will be decided in the stadium Nov. 29, with the victor of the Otto Von Porat-Phil Scott bout at New York, the winner of the elimination to fight Sharkey. Harmon's offer is $50,000 and a percentage of the gate. Sharkey's price is a flat guarantee of $75,000 which may upset Harmon's plans.

FORMER COLLEGE STARS ORGANIZE GRID TEAM

Benny Hobson, former college football player, has organized a football team of former college stars, to represent St. Louis in professional games. Three games are already scheduled, it is reported, the first of which will be played at Cincinnati a week from Sunday. The team's first practice session has been set for tonight at the Battery A Field, starting at 8 o'clock. Prospective candidates have been invited to report.

AGE LIMIT FOR SCHOOL ATHLETES MAY BE LOWERED

By the Associated Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 8.—Discussion of a proposition to provide for the membership of junior high schools in the Missouri State High School Athletic Association will come before the Association's annual meeting next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at St. Louis, it was announced here last night. The proposition will be discussed and then voted on by members about a month before the 1930 meeting. The vote will be taken by mail.

Another major problem to come before the state meeting is that of changing the age limit for high school athletes from 21 to 20 years old. If the Association makes this change, the revised ruling will go into effect Sept. 1, 1930.

Still another matter to come before the session will be the prohibition of football practice before Sept. 1, 1930. This move, too, is reported as looked upon favorably by a majority of the Association's members.

According to present plans the junior high schools of the State would be admitted to membership in the State Association under the same general provisions made for high schools. The junior high schools, however, would be guided by a separate division of the State Association, with rules and regulations to be drawn for the separate division.

At present the State Board of Control guides the destinies of the high schools of Missouri, and with the admission of junior high schools to the Association, a junior high school board of control might be appointed. Otherwise, the present board of control would direct junior high schools along with the high schools.

CENTRAL EAGLES LOOK FOR HARD GAME WITH DRURY COLLEGE TEAM

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FAYETTE, Mo., Nov. 8.—Coaches C. A. Clingenpeel, and George Kline and 22 members of the Central College football squad will depart at noon today by bus for Springfield, where the Eagles meet the Drury College eleven in a Missouri College Athletic Union game tomorrow. Unabashed by last week's 19 to 6 set-back at the hands of the powerful Rolla Miners, the Eagle squad has been hard at work this week in preparation for a conference come-back.

The defeat by Rolla last Friday marked the second conference loss the Eagles have suffered on the home field in four years, and was the fourth defeat from either a conference or non-conference team.

Central has won two of three games on the Eagle-Drury record, although the Springfield aggregation has the advantage in total scoring. The scores:

1914—Central 0, Drury 35.
1916—Central 24, Drury 13.
1928—Central 7, Drury 6.

Marquette's Game Changed

By the Associated Press.

CRYSTAL CITY PLAYS CHICAGO QUINT TONIGHT

Presenting a battle-front entirely different from that which wound up the 1928-29 season, the Crystal City five of the Greater St. Louis Girls' Basketball League will oppose the Jewish People's Institute of Chicago tonight and tomorrow night at the Crystal City (Mo.) gymnasium. Crystal City is 30 miles south of St. Louis on the Lemay Ferry road.

Capt. Marie Madison, who was the unanimous choice of league fans for a forward position on last year's all-star team, will open the new season at center. Martha Politte, who sometimes worked at the pivotal berth, will be at a forward station. Jeanette Magre will be inserted at the opposite forward, while the guards will be Helen Magre and Betty Carpentier. Miss Carpentier will be the only member of the team who has had previous experience in intercity battles. As a member of the Hollands two years ago, she played against the Illinois Women's Athletic Association five.

Rae Levine and Mildred Christensen, a pair of the visitors' deadly basket shooters, will undoubtedly thrill the crowd with great shots, while little Anna Goldstein, the 16-year-old forward, is another who may prove troublesome for the Crystal City guards.

The Chicago team is due to arrive in St. Louis late today and will be escorted to Crystal City by a delegation from that community. The Crystal City band will provide music before both games and between the halves. Mayor Danks and city officials will be in attendance.

It was announced today that "Doc" C. A. Callan, who refereed in the Greater St. Louis League last year, and Bill Seifert, who handles high school games in the vicinity of Crystal City, will be in charge of the games.

Oklahoma Plays Kansas Team in Big Six Battle

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 8. — For the second consecutive week the Big Six football game in which Kansas plays holds the conference spotlight.

Beaten by Nebraska last week only after the 1928 champions had stood them off on the goal line in the closing minutes, the Jayhawkers tomorrow will invade Norman, Ok., and attempt to divest Oklahoma of its record of no defeat in the conference. Oklahoma and Nebraska are the two unbeaten members, although Nebraska's record is marred by a tie with Missouri.

Jim Bausch, big fullback, who gained consistently and for long distances against Iowa State and Nebraska, probably will be the main offensive cog of the Kansas attack against the Sooners. Oklahoma has worked this week on a defense against Bausch and also for the air game which it expects Kansas to use.

"Bo" McMillin's Kansas Aggies, upsetters of the dope in their 7 to 6 defeat of Missouri a week ago, will engage the tail-end Iowa State eleven in Manhattan tomorrow. The Kansans may be minus some of their regular backs but will have more strength in their forward wall with the return of three regulars, including Captain Freeman, a tackle, who have been casualties for the last two games.

KIECKHEFER QUALIFIES AS ENTRANT IN U. S. 3-CUSHION MEET

By the Associated Press.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 8.—Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago last night qualified as the northern section's entrant in the national three-cushion billiard tournament to be held at New York in January. He defeated Joe Moriarity of Chicago, 50 to 38, in 52 innings.

Kieckhefer, whose high run was seven as against McCourt's four, by his victory will meet three other sectional champions in the New York tournament.

Joe Moriarty of Chicago won in an earlier game from McCourt, 50 to 32, in 58 innings. As a result, McCourt and Kieckhefer were thrown into a tie for first place and the final game was a play-off.

HAKOAH ELEVEN TO PLAY IN NEW SOCCER LEAGUE

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 8.—It was learned here yesterday that Andrew Brown, former president of the U. S. Football Association, will head the soccer league that has just been reorganized from among the warring factions of the American League and the U. S. F. A. Bill Cunningham of Boston has resigned as president of the defunct American League and it is understood that Dave Scott, secretary, has been dropped.

Hakoah and New York Giants have affiliated with the new league, making it a 10-team circuit. The other members are: Fall River, Providence, New Bedford, Boston, Pawtucket, Brooklyn and New York Nationals.

Mandell Accepts Terms for Battle In Florida Ring

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 8.

SAMMY MANDELL, world lightweight champion, has accepted terms for a bout here December 6, it was announced last night by G. R. K. Carter, Miami Beach match maker. Mandell will meet Louis Gonzales, Cuban welterweight, or Harry Kid Brown, Eastern boxer.

Gonzales and Brown meet here next Friday in the semifinal of Carter's first show, the winner to get the Mandell shot. The opening show features Dave Shade, well-known California middleweight and Dick Evans, Ohio fighter.

CARMEN HILL'S CASE HOLDS UP SERIES CHECKS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8. — Although nearly four weeks have passed since the last game of the world series, the shares of the second-place Pirates and the fourth-place Cardinals of the National League have not been mailed out by Commissioner Landis, it was learned today.

Inquiries at the baseball office disclosed that a dispute over the right of Pitcher Carmen Hill, who spent part of the season with the Pirates and the rest of the year with the Cardinals, was responsible for the delay.

It was stated that when the Cardinals voted on how they would divide their fourth-place world series money, they ignored Hill, having been informed that the Pittsburg players had voted him a full share.

However, according to the rules of baseball, Hill could not accept any money from the Pittsburg club, which accounts for the delay in sending out the Pirates' checks.

Landis has power to change the allotment of shares, if he thinks a team has not given any eligible individual a fair amount. He is trying to learn the wishes of the Cardinal players before deciding what Hill shall receive.

NEVADA ELEVEN FLIES TO LOS ANGELES FOR U. S. C. FOOTBALL GAME

By the Associated Press.

RENO, Nev., Nov. 8.—The "Wolf Pack" of the University of Nevada took to the air this morning in order to avoid the rigors of a 400-mile train ride to Los Angeles, where the Wolves meet the University of Southern California gridsters tomorrow. Thirty-two players were to hop off at 9 o'clock in eight cabin planes. The schedule time for the trip is three and one-half hours.

SCALPERS SELL TICKETS ABOVE COST DESPITE BIG SEAT SURPLUS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Psychology has become a tool of Chicago ticket scalpers.

Working on the principle that anything hard to get is much sought after, speculators offered tickets for the Wisconsin-Chicago football game tomorrow at Stagg Field for $8 apiece—$5 more than the regulation price. And with 20,000 good seats still unsold, made several sales yesterday.

Among the sales was one to a representative of the University of Chicago ticket committee, who bought a pair of seats located back of the goal posts—and had the scalper arrested.

No rain is expected to mar the contest tomorrow, the Weather Bureau promising fair weather over the week end.

JOYCE TO START IN ST. LOUIS U. BACKFIELD IN AGGIE CONTEST

By Glen McDonald

The St. Louis University Fr men were back on the jo Sportsmen's Park yesterday a noon and showed the Oklah Aggies plays to the first and se varsity elevens. Coach Hear Anderson sent the Billikens thr a long dummy scrimmage, conc trating on a defense against aerial attack. With the "frosh" passing aces, Joe Steph and "Doodles" Rushing, thro the pigskin, the varsity had hands full.

The Billikens depart tomorr evening at 6:58 for the game w the Aggies at Stillwater, Okl Monday. Coach Anderson will ta 27 players, but has not decid which members of the squad w make the trip. Coach Chris Flanagan, Manager Lou Thom and Trainer Bob Bauman will a company the team. Coach Ch Walsh will scout South Dako University tomorrow in the gam with Western Union College Brookings, S. D.

New Men In Lineup.

Several new men will be se in the starting lineup. Two sopho mores, Frank Kennedy and Sylves ter McIntosh, have been nominate for the ends in place of the vet erans Lyle Drury and Vic Daubner. These youngsters earned the right to start by their fine performances in the last two games. Both are sure tacklers and fast getting dow the field under punts, a thing th was missing among the wingme who played in the early seas games.

Rufus Schultz, a 188-pounde who played his first full ga against Coe College, has be picked to start again. He replac Firpo Joseph, one of the line sta of the team last year. Titus Co nell, a veteran of three seaso will work at the other tackle. S far the work of the four outstan ing guards on the squad, Mar Antoon, Max Newton, Eddie Brow and Gene Schwartz, has been particularly pleasing. All will be used but the starters will be the two veterans Brown and Schwartz. Jack Corcoran who filled in as Eddi Davidson's substitute last year ha definitely displaced the vetera pivot man and will work at center.

There will be only one change i the backfield. Jack Joyce, forward passing ace, will replace Charley Eaton at left half. Eaton wa handled pretty roughly in Saturday's game and he is still limping from an ankle injury. Tony Kimmell is a fixture at the other halfback post, with Captain Joe Lintzenich at fullback and Charley McKinney at quarterback.

Ford Brown Is Injured.

Ford Brown who has been doing the kicking for the Billikens when Captain Lintzenich is not in the backfield will probably miss the game because of an injury but the locals will be just as strong as usual in the kicking departme with McIntosh in the lineup. Punting was stressed in yesterday's practice and McIntosh showed to advantage.

Wednesday's night game between the Bear and Billiken freshmen partly answered the question of who is going to fill the places of the veterans, Schwartz, Cornell, Eaton and Lintzenich who finish their football careers this year. "Poodles" Podelwitz at guard, Harry Bochrath, a 210-pound tackle, Joe Stephan and Ben LaPriesta, two outstanding backs looked like good varsity material.

It was announced that tickets for the Washington-St. Louis Thanksgiving Day game are on sale and can be purchased at the following places: St. Louis U. MISSOURI SHOULD HAVE NO TROUBLE BEATING BEARS, ROCKNE SAYS

JOYCE TO START IN ST. LOUIS U. BACKFIELD IN AGGIE CONTEST

By Glen McDonald

The St. Louis University Freshmen were back on the job at Sportsmen's Park yesterday afternoon and showed the Oklahoma Aggies plays to the first and second varsity elevens. Coach Heartley Anderson sent the Billikens through a long dummy scrimmage, concentrating on a defense against an aerial attack. With the two "frosh" passing aces, Joe Stephan and "Doodles" Rushing, throwing the pigskin, the varsity had its hands full.

The Billikens depart tomorrow evening at 6:58 for the game with the Aggies at Stillwater, Okla., Monday. Coach Anderson will take 27 players, but has not decided which members of the squad will make the trip. Coach Christie Flanagan, Manager Lou Thomas and Trainer Bob Bauman will accompany the team. Coach Chile Walsh will scout South Dakota University tomorrow in the game with Western Union College at Brookings, S. D.

New Men In Lineup.

Several new men will be seen in the starting lineup. Two sophomores, Frank Kennedy and Sylvester McIntosh, have been nominated for the ends in place of the veterans Lyle Drury and Vic Daubner. These youngsters earned the right to start by their fine performances in the last two games. Both are sure tacklers and fast getting down the field under punts, a thing that was missing among the wingmen, who played in the early season games.

Rufus Schultz, a 188-pounder, who played his first full game against Coe College, has been picked to start again. He replaces Firpo Joseph, one of the line stars of the team last year. Titus Cornell, a veteran of three seasons, will work at the other tackle. So far the work of the four outstanding guards on the squad, Maron Antoon, Max Newton, Eddie Brown and Gene Schwartz, has been particularly pleasing. All will be used, but the starters will be the two veterans Brown and Schwartz. Jack Corcoran who filled in as Eddie Davidson's substitute last year has definitely displaced the veteran pivot man and will work at center.

There will be only one change in the backfield. Jack Joyce, forward passing ace, will replace Charley Eaton at left half. Eaton was handled pretty roughly in Saturday's game and he is still limping from an ankle injury. Tony Kimmell is a fixture at the other halfback post, with Captain Joe Lintzenich at fullback and Charley McKinney at quarterback.

Ford Brown Is Injured.

Ford Brown who has been doing the kicking for the Billikens when Captain Lintzenich is not in the backfield will probably miss the game because of an injury but the locals will be just as strong as usual in the kicking department with McIntosh in the lineup. Punting was stressed in yesterday's practice and McIntosh showed to advantage.

Wednesday's night game between the Bear and Billiken freshmen partly answered the question of who is going to fill the places of the veterans, Schwartz, Cornell, Eaton and Lintzenich who finish their football careers this year. "Poodles" Podelwitz at guard, Harry Bochrath, a 210-pound tackle, Joe Stephan and Ben LaPriesta, two outstanding backs looked like good varsity material.

It was announced that tickets for the Washington-St. Louis Thanksgiving Day game are on sale and can be purchased at the following places: St. Louis U. Gymnasium, 3672 West Pine boulevard; Washington U. Gymnasium; Leacock's, 621 Locust street, and St. Louis U. Alumni Office, 221 North Grand boulevard.

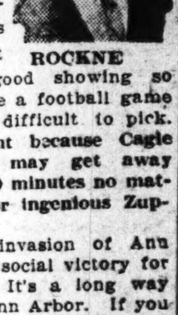
NOTRE DAME COACH PICKS ARMY TO TRIM ILLINOIS; MICHIGAN TO WIN OVER HARVARD ELEVEN

By Knute Rockne
Member All-America Football Board.
(Reg. U. S. Patent Office.)

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 8.—For the first time in football his- ry an Army team is coming West to play a Western team. Many Western team has gone East to play the Army, but owing to the rict regulations of the military service the Cadets' trip to Chamign tomorrow is the first time that the strict bonds of red tape ong this line have been broken. Neither Illinois nor the Army ave been as successful this year as usual, but yet the game is the ading attraction in the Middle West due to the fact that over a eriod of years the two schools have been rich in football traditions nd history.

The Army backfield has been st as good as ever but the line as been rather spotty. Illinois as been playing good defensive all, but so far the attack has ailed to show ery much. This not typical of Zuppke team Anyone going ack over past ecords will no ice that the Il inois teams un ler Zuppke always came back with a bang whenever they ave been beaten.



ROCKNE

The West Pointrs are anxious o come West d make a good showing so should be quite a football game ith the winner difficult to pick. pick West Point because Cagle a threat who may get away ny one of the 60 minutes no mater how clever or ingenious Zupke's may be.

The Harvard invasion of Ann rbor is another social victory for e Middlewest. It's a long way om Boston to Ann Arbor. If you ow what I mean. Neither of se teams have had the success far this year that their admirrs had hopes for, though Harvard id tie the Army team by means f a last-minute forward pass seveal weeks ago.

Picks Michigan to Win

The Michigan team has not hown anything as yet though I an't see any fairness in making Kipke the goat for this. The reat Michigan lines of of the last lozen years or so have been due ery largely to Tad eiman and if Kipke had had Weiman as line oach this year the chances are hat the results would have been ifferent. But even so I think Kipke is doing good work in ringing an improved showing rom Saturday to Saturday and he team ought to show its best so ar for the Harvard classic. It ks like a pretty even game but pick Michigan by an eyelash. I ort of have a hunch that Michian will rise in all its might Sat rday and play the kind of football it is capable of.

The University of Iowa football eam will have a lot to do with the onference championship this fall s the tall corn boys will meet the o undefeated teams, Minnesota nd Purdue, on successive Saturays. Tomorrow at Iowa City they t Dr. Spears' steam roller from nneapolis. The power of Dr. Spear's team seems to be just as plentiful as of old with enough ank threat, snappy forward passng and smart kicking to give the team complete versatility. The Iowa team has been playing nice football but I believe Dr. Spears' team has a little too much horse power.

Northwestern Should Win

Northwestern after its great victory over Illinois goes down to Ohio State to play. The present indications are that Northwestern should win handily but Dick Hanley's men should beware of a let down after their supreme effort as Williman's men cannot be taken lightly. But, if everything goes according to Hoyle, Northwestern should win.

I pick Wisconsin to beat Chica by a very small margin. The isconsin team, to a lot of people, has been somewhat of a disappointment this fall. I believe the team lacked an inspiring leader of the field capable of lifting the other members of the team who are big physically but who are rather phlegmatic emotionally. Chicago, after its superb victory over Princeton, next Saturday should let down a little and it is on this account that I believe Wisconsin will shade them.

Purdue will take a breather in "Ole Miss" at Lafayette. Drake has been playing some good football in spots, but does not look formidable enough to threaten Notre Dame too seriously, when the two teams meet in Chicago.

Tigers to Win Easily

In the Big Six territory the Kansa-Oklahoma game stands out. I can't help but feel that Kansas will win this game. "Bo" McMillan's Kansas Aggie eleven, after their surprising victory over Missouri, should not have much trouble with Iowa State, while Missouri should take Washington University from St. Louis rather handily. Creighton, which has been taking Marquette rather regularly of late years, will find the task impossible this fall, as the Creighton team is having an off year and Marquette is stronger than ever. Marquette should win rather decisively. Detroit should win from the University of West Virginia, which is not as powerful as in past years. Ohio Wesleyan seems to have the edge over Wittenberg, while Coe College should emerge the victor in their annual struggle with Carleton.

Loyola of Chicago invades New Orleans to play Loyola of the South. There ought to be a chance here for a sort of merry quip, but the best I can think of is that Loyola of Chicago ought to win, unless the temperature of New Orleans proves too much of a handicap.

In past years, when Butler and Wabash clashed the occasion has always been one of the most interesting games in Indiana. This year, however, Wabash is away below par on material, as the school faculty has become somewhat hysterical over high-class marks, and so Butler should have a comparatively easy time of it when the two teams meet Saturday.

Colonel Bell moved into serious contention quickly on outside, opened up a good advantage after reaching turn and, holding on stubbornly, just lasted. Double O steadily improved his position, slipped between the leaders in final eighth and, closing fast, just failed to get up. Blue Ash was under pressure the entire trip, moved up stoutly entering stretch and held on well. Pagan Laddie had no mishap. Sonora quit badly after showing brief early speed. Nicaragua was done after reaching final three-eighths.

Ashburne, well ridden, improved his position gradually after a half mile, easily disposed of Griff W. and won with something in reserve. Griff W bumped Son shortly after start, but recovered quickly and drew into decisive contention on the stretch turn, but weakened thereafter. Chiz worked his way up on outside and finished gamely. Yorktown was a factor to stretch, where he quit. Burma Maid lacked speed and never reached serious contention. Repay quit.

$2 mutuels paid: Ashburne, win $14.54, place $5.92, show $5.14; Griff W, place $4.40, show $4.28; Chiz, show $7.54.

Midsolea responded strongly when called upon after reaching last turn, easily wore down Valdosta and swerved badly in final eighth, where she continued fast. Royal Yeoman had good speed in the going, dropped back suddenly on stretch turn, yet gamely outstayed Valdosta. Latter, under strong restraint opening half mile, sprinted into a clear lead when ready, but faltered badly in last eighth. Rose O'Neil had no mishap. Coby began fast, ran out badly on first turn and showed a good effort. James M dropped out of contention after a half mile and refused to respond to hard pressure.

ROSE OF SHARON, 1929 RACING SENSATION, DIES

By the Associated Press.

VERSAILLES, Ky., Nov. 8. — Rose of Sharon, Johnson N. Camden's famous filly, died at Hartland Farm, near here, yesterday afternoon.

The racer succumbed to an attack of pneumonia after having been shipped to the farm several days ago from Baltimore. She was regarded as the outstanding 3-year-old of 1929 and was said to be insured for $50,000. She was by Light Brigade out of Rose of Mundy.

Rose of Sharon did not start as a 2-year-old but made her record in the 3-year-old class. She won the Ashland, Kentucky, Latonia and Illinois Oaks, four races for fillies of her age. She was trained by Dan Stewart, trainer for the Camden Stable.

Rose of Sharon was the only filly ever to have won the Four Oaks. Her last victory was in the Potomac Handicap. The filly started in 14 races, finished first ten times, second twice, third once and was unplaced once. Her winnings totaled $64,069.

There is every indication that the four lineups given out as representative of Cleveland, Beaumont, Soldan and Central for tomorrow's City High School League football double-header, will be unrecognizable as the ones which started in the previous games, because injuries and poor playing have caused the coaches to make many alterations. The leading Soldan team meets Beaumont in the first game at the Public Schools Stadium and Cleveland and Central battle in the second game starting at 3 p. m.

Cleveland's lineup will show the most changes, since four of its regulars are out with injuries. The biggest blow to the Carondelet school is the loss of Joe "Red" Mosar, considered the league's most aggressive center. Clyde Zehnter, a tackle, and Frank Ebl, 275-pound guard, will not start in the game. Ed Keith, a fine defensive back, will view the battle from the stands on crutches.

Coach Bert E. Fenenga has shifted Dick Bockrath from tackle to center; Risch from end to guard and Halm from guard to tackle. The new players to appear in the Cleveland lineup are Norman Dreschal, a tackle; Dan Cubbage, a guard, and Harold Vogt, an end. It is probable that Ralph Prinz will replace Earl Jansen as quarterback and Mike Cianciola will play in the injured Keith's place. Ray Paglusch, end; George Ketterer, half and Capt. Ken Bieber, fullback, are the only regulars who have not been shifted.

Whereas Cleveland was forced to alter its lineup because of injuries, Beaumont will present a different front, because Coach Burns M. Franklin is disgusted with the showing made by his squad in the Central game. Franklin began his shake-up by relegating the Simpson brothers, Ralph and Lloyd, Harris Bach and Reinhart Schultz, to the second team. Ray Margherio replaced Dick Achuff at center, Achuff being moved to end. John Lackey and Roland "Pete" Heckenberg, will start at left tackle, and guard, respectively.

Edwin Donk was taken out of the backfield and placed at guard, flanking Margherio. James Duby, at tackle, was the only lineman, who was undisturbed. The right end position is being fought for among Otto Schwandt, Bergdoll Igou and John Kyler, with Schwandt favored to start.

The North Enders' backfield will be unchanged except that Bob Kalbitz or Ed Gebhardt will start at fullback. Deurveau Henderson, quarterback, Elmer Nickel, and Herb Bohringer, halfbacks, will complete the quartet.

Coach James F. Cook contemplates shifting the Soldan backfield to give Dick Coe and Ed Hicks an opportunity to show what they can do. If this pair starts, Harold "Red" Jones and Godfrey Hartnett will be benched. It is likely that Cook will use Linscott Hall at right end instead of Howard Butts. The remainder of the Soldan line consisting of Harry Minkey, Ed Becker, Bill Bray, Vance Wright, Edmond Schneider and John Vainiko, will remain intact. Dave Cook and Bill Robinowitz are certain to start in the backfield.

Only two alterations are noted in the Central team. Fred Lande has been nominated to start in place of Isadore Gaizler, in the backfield. Coach Paul H. Conant made the change with a view to supplying a greater offensive power for the Mid-Cityans.

Soldan is favored to win from Beaumont, but the outcome of the Central-Cleveland game can only be hazarded. Cleveland had been conceded a slight advantage until the toll of injuries weakened the eleven.

FOOTBALL

by James M. Gould

Billikens Powerful

AT first flush it may not seem that Washington U. has much to shout over in the result of the Freshman game with St. Louis, there really is a silver lining to that 47-0 cloud. The Washington varsity teams of the past few years have lacked reserve material and, without reserves, no varsity can attain greatness. Wednesday night, Coach Walker had a numerically strong squad of youngsters and, it is a football axiom, that if you have the men, you can teach them the game. Washington, it appears from the size of the Freshman squad, may have many to choose from for Varsity places a year from now

As for the Billiken youngsters, they showed what is perhaps the most powerful first-year squad seen in this section of the football world. It had everything. A powerful, sweeping attack with fast backs, dashed through wagon-wide holes made by a sturdy line. On defense, the standard was just as high. Without the use of trite superlatives, the worth of the team cannot be adequately described.

Anderson May Depart?

Along about this time of the year rumors begin to float around affecting the tenure of office of college coaches. The first to make its appearance in 1929 has to do with Head Coach "Hunk" Anderson of the Billikens. "They say" that Hunk may not be back.

To those who have followed St. Louis University and its teams this year, it seems that the university authorities would be making a monumental mistake in changing the coaching system inaugurated by Anderson and personally directed by him. Nor could any one else direct an Anderson-system team as could "Hunk." With the varsity material remaining for next year and a great set of freshmen coming up, it would be not only dangerous to drop the present pilot but, in the opinion of football men, unjust and absolutely silly.

The report of Anderson's possible going is just a hazy rumor of course. The university could strengthen its position considerably by issuing a firm denial of any such possibility.

Heartley Anderson ranks with the greatest coaches in the country; his loss to St. Louis University and to St. Louis sport would be irreparable.

No, They Don't Care!!!!

SOME correspondent recently quoted Gwinn Henry, Missouri football coach, as saying that his chief interest was in winning Big Six conference games and that "he didn't care" how the Tigers fared in non-conference contests. Those who know Coach Henry know just how ridiculous ascribing such a statement to him, really is. Sir Gwynn "bleeds" whenever his team loses to no matter what class of opponent just as all other good coaches do. It would hardly be wise for Washington to count much tomorrow on anybody connected with the Missouri U. "not caring" how the game comes out.

When Bob Neyland played football at West Point, he was regarded as a first-flight backfield man. Neyland now is coach at the University of Tennessee and has not been beaten since Vanderbilt downed the Volunteers late in 1926. Twice, they have been tied Major Bob has 23 victories in 25 games to the credit of his team. And, then, there's Gus Dorais who, some years ago, used to heave forward passes which one Knute Rockne was wont to catch for Notre Dame. As Detroit U. coach, Dorais ran his string of consecutive victories to 19 before being tied, last Saturday, 6—6, by Marquette.

Safeties Are Important

AS has been pointed out, safeties have become important scoring factors this year. In games played last Saturday, as an illustration, Syracuse, Villanova and Michigan State each scored a pair of safeties. Chicago, California, Pitt, Ohio State, Navy, Tennessee, Findlay and Johns Hopkins also scored by this method. In all, there were 15 safeties recorded in the day's play.

The proposal to put the college football games directly in the hands of the team-captains and have the coaches go away somewhere for a week-end visit, is dying a natural death. How much afraid the coaches were that the experiment would be tried was indicated by Bob Zuppke of Illinois, who, asked for an opinion of the plan, said. "Why not turn the band back to the students?"

SPECIAL PRACTICE FOR TROJANS IN PREPARING FOR NOTRE DAME GAME

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 8.—Told by scouts that Notre Dame's backfield is as good as its famous Four Horsemen, is unstoppable, the Southern California Trojans today took specialized practice in punching holes in interference.

This was Coach Jones' preparation to meet Knute Rockne's famed screen of guards and ends for his fleet back, Elder and Carideo. They play at Chicago on Nov. 16.

According to Aubrey Devine, who saw Notre Dame in the Carnegie Tech and Georgia Tech games, Elder, Carideo, Mullins and Brill are as good as Miller, Crowley, Layden and Stuhldreher, the Irish terrors of a few years ago.

JACK DEMPSEY, VETERAN RACING WRITER, DEAD

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—The death of Jack L. Dempsey, veteran racing authority and writer, has taken from the turf sport one of its most interesting characters.

Dempsey died yesterday at Dallas, Tex., where he had gone to report the racing revival meeting in the Lone Star State. In death he has joined Sam Hildreth and James Rowe Sr., famous American trainers; Mars Cassidy and Lester Dean, noted starters, and John E. Madden, one of the country's leading breeders of thoroughbreds, all of whom died within the past few months.

The oldest turf reporter in the country in point of service, Dempsey ruled all press boxes in which he worked, and devoted time and physical effort to keeping out everyone but workers. Publishers of newspapers, politicians and even relatives of reporters, were ordered out by Dempsey. At the Kentucky Derby several years ago a gate crasher, carrying a portable typewriter and field glasses, attempted to enter the press box just as the field paraded to the post. Dempsey detected him and tossed him out bodily.

Acknowledged as the greatest of chart-makers and handicappers, Dempsey probably finished loser in betting. He was a heavy player of favorites but usually was unlucky. In his selections for yesterday the day of his death for the daily racing form, with which he had been for 30 years he picked five winners out of six at the Arlington Downs track.

He had been ill throughout the long Chicago season, but missed few afternoons of racing. He had planned to go to his home at New Orleans for a vacation following the closing of the Chicago season, but later decided to attend the revival of the sport in Texas. Funeral services were to be held this afternoon at New Orleans.

Belleville Plays Wood River Team In League Game

With East St. Louis idle and Belleville playing Woodriver Saturday, prospects are that the two St. Clair County teams will remain tied for the Southwestern Illinois High School Conference lead after week-end games. Except for a tie game with Alton, Woodriver has lost all its conference games by top-heavy scores.

Granite City appears to be the only stumbling block in the way of the leaders before their game on Thanksgiving day. Belleville will meet Granite City, Nov. 16, and East St. Louis is scheduled to meet last year's champions on the following Saturday. Although defeated by Collinsville, the Granite City team has shown flashes of form and may defeat either or both the leaders.

On paper, East St. Louis appears to be the class of the conference, as its victories have all been by large scores and over the same teams that Belleville has barely been able to defeat. Belleville defeated Edwardsville 6 to 0 and Collinsville b yan 8 to 0 score, while East St. Louis won over the two teams 34—7 and 27—0, respectively. East St. Louis defeated Alton 25—7, while Belleville's score with the Madison County boys was 17—0.

The feature of the week-end card is the game between Edwardsville and Collinsville Monday on the former's field. Both teams defeated Woodriver by approximately the same scores and lost to East St. Louis and Belleville. Alton plays Granite City today in a game which will have little bearing on the standing and which Granite should win easily.

SHURTLEFF'S STRONGEST ELEVEN WILL OPPOSE CARBONDALE TODAY

Shurtleff College will oppose Carbondale Normal this afternoon, seeking its third straight conference victory. The Pioneers have split even in their conference games to date and Coach Wood is very desirous of winning the Carbondale game to finish above .500 in the Little Nineteen ratings. A nonconference game with Culver-Stockton next Friday will close the season for Shurtleff.

After losing to Charleston and Macomb Teachers Colleges by close scores, the Pioneers came back and defeated McKendree and De Kalb Teachers.

Coach Wood will have the strongest lineup he has been able to muster this season in today's game. Carson Green, big fullback, will be in shape as will "Bill" Nicolet, regular halfback. Eli, former Granite City star, a converted halfback, has strengthened left end, an outstanding weak spot on the team all season. The rest of the lineup will be as follows: Left tackle, Bertle; left guard, Hester; center, Riehl; right guard, Auwarter; right tackle, Slaughter; right end, Hortin; quarter, Chapman; left half, Nicolet; right half, Medler; fullback, Green.

284 HARRIERS TO TRY FOR HONORS IN COLLEGE RUN

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—A record of 23 varsity cross country teams comprising a grand total of 284 of the best college long distance runners in the East, as well as a handful from the Middle West, was announced yesterday for the Eastern intercollegiate cross country championship to be run, Nov. 23, at Van Cortlandt Park here.

The total exceeds by five the number of teams entered for the classic chase in 1928 and 1927 and indicates widespread interest this year in the strenuous sport of galloping six long miles over hill and dale.

Constituting the first intersectional threat in the history of cross country, Michigan State College entered a team of nine men headed by Capt. Theodore Willmarth and Lauren P. Brow. The other 22 contestants, all of them Eastern institutions, are Bates, Carnegie Tech, City College of New York, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Fordham, Harvard, Lafayette (single entry), Maine, Manhattan, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, New York University, Pennsylvania, Penn State, Pittsburg, Princeton, Rutgers, Syracuse, Union, Williams and Yale.

Cornell, with a pack of 34 men entered, leads the field in quantity but only seven are permitted to run on a team. At the opposite extreme is Lafayette which named only its speedy ace, Hugh M. Masterton, concentrating its ambitions upon the individual title. Penn State which now holds the team championship and has pretty well monopolized it in recent seasons, nominated 23 men but not any such stars of last year as Bill Cox, George Offenhauser and A. W. Bass Jr., were not among them, having been lost by graduation.

Sixteen teams comprising 195 individuals have entered for the three-mile freshman event, making a total of 479 athletes entered for the varsity and freshman runs.

In the freshman chase will be Carnegie Tech, Columbia, Cornell, Dartmouth, Fordham, Maine, Manhattan, M. I. T., N. Y. U., Pennsylvania, Penn State, Pittsburg, Princeton, Syracuse, Union and Yale.

UNK PEDDLER AND WIFE, EVICTED, CAMP IN VACANT LOT

an't Pay His Rent of $10 a Month; Says He Earns Only 50 Cents a Day.

For two nights Michael Gorbiek, junk peddler, his wife, Annie, and friend, Frank Kankol, have huddled beside a fire, with part of their furniture as a windbreak, in a vacant lot near their home, 1407A North Ninth street, from which they were evicted Wednesday for non-payment of rent.

Yesterday morning, as the three shared half a loaf of bread and a can of black coffee donated by a neighbor, Gorbiek told of his troubles.

"I make only about 50 cents a day selling bottles, at three for a cent, and rags and sticks of wood, from my pushcart. I couldn't pay the rent—$10 a month. I don't know what we'll do. We have to beg for food. I came here in 1914 with $1500 and now I've got 10 cents. The Provident Association offered to send me to the Municipal lodging house for a few nights and my wife to another place. I didn't want to leave her because she's expecting a baby. I can't get a job. I guess I'm just a garbage man."

J. H. Blackford, agent for the landlord, says Gorbiek moved in about eight months ago and has paid only two months' rent. He ascribes Gorbiek's troubles to "too much whisky."

BONDS IRREGULAR IN LIGHTER TRADE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The bond market made an irregular showing today in the last session of the week. The three hours of trading found volume considerably lessened. While prices fluctuated within narrow limits with ga and losses about evenly distributed.

The prime rails inclined to easiness, but secondary carriers proved more popular and scored moderate improvement. Erie 5s, Rock Island 4½s, Central Pacific 5s and Grand Trunk 6s were strong.

Convertibles displayed wide irregularity, moving up during the first hour and a half and then reacting as stocks sold lower. Net changes in the share feature gr were mostly small. Public Service of New Jersey 4½s, which touched a new low yesterday, recovered most of their loss.

COTTON CLOSES HIGHER ON NEW YORK MARKET

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Pre-bureau covering and a little spurt of buying brought on by the Government crop report were responsible for early advances in the cotton market today. The demand was supplied as prices worked above the 17⅛ cent level for January contracts and there were reactions which carried the market below yesterday's closing quotations under a renewal of liquidation and some Southern selling. The demand was sufficient to check the decline, however, and the market steadied later on trade buying and covering. Mid-afternoon prices were 16 to 20 points net higher.

Futures closed steady, 21 to 28 points higher: December, 17.37-38c; January, 17.49c; March, 17.78-80c; May, 18.06c; July, 18.18c; spot steady; middling, 17.60c.

Cotton opened steady at an advance of 18 to 27 points today on further covering and buying stimulated by relatively steady Liverpool cables.

Washington advices quoting the head of the Federal Farm Board with reference to cotton and wheat values also came in for bullish comment, but the advance met considerable realizing and some Southern selling, and after selling up to 17.51c for January, at the opening, the price reacted to 17.41c.

Offering were not heavy, however, and the demand continued in sufficient volume to steady prices and hold the market about 15 to 20 points above yesterday's closing quotations before session advanced far.

Much of the trading was attributed to evening up commitments in preparation for the Government crop report at 11 o'clock.

The Government report placing the crop at 15,009,000 bales and the ginnings to Nov. 1 at 10,889,314 failed to materially stimulate the market. The report was close to the average views of New York Cotton Exchange members as revealed by the recent canvass and while it brought in some buying, the demand was supplied on advances of a few points, while prices later eased off under realizing or renewed liquidation.

At midday, active months were selling within a point or two either way of yesterday's closing quotations. December contracts, which had sold up from 17.31c to 17.39c right after the report, reacted to 17.14c.

New Orleans Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 8.—Cotton futures closed steady at net advance of 24 to 28 points. January, 17.44c; March, 17.71-72c; May, 17.97c; July, 18.09c bid, 12c asked; December, 17.30-31c.

CURB IRREGULAR AFTER EARLY RISE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Price trends turned highly irregular on the Curb Exchange today, as trading quieted down to normal proportions, and proceeded in an orderly manner for the first time in a fortnight. The ticker kept fairly well abreast of the market. Total sales were but 1,274,100 shares, as compared to yesterday's turnover of 2,380,100.

Leading shares generally opened higher, but a steady stream of profit-taking and week-end liquidation wiped out many of the early gains and depressed several shares below yesterday's closing prices.

Electric Bond & Share, after selling up about 6 points, reacted and closed fractionally lower. Electric Investors mounted 13½ points, but retained only 2¼ points of its gain at the close. American Superpower closed slightly lower, while United Light & Power A and Middle West new closed firm. Middle West old stock soared more than 50 points, and Commonwealth Edison closed up about 10.

Oils were particularly irregular. Cities Service opened with a block of 25,000 shares, compared to recent openings of 85,000 to 225,000, at 31½, up ½, sagged to 29½ and closed at 30, off 1. Gulf dropped nearly 7 points, while Humble and most of the Standards were setady to firm. Cosden regained yesterday's loss of 15 points.

Several of the industrials were well supported. Aluminum Co. closed 10 points higher, and National Sugar, Zonite, Consolidated Dairy, Ford of Canada A and others made substantial progress. Sidney Blumenthal was a soft spot, dropping about 10 points.

In the investment trusts and specialties, Goldman Sachs, after an early upturn, reacted and closed off about 4 points, while Lehman Corporation sagged fractionally. Guardian Fire A dropped 8 points to 50, a new 1929 low.

THE BISHOP MURDER CASE

A PHILO VANCE DETECTIVE STORY

By S. S. Van Dine

CHAPTER 35.

DURING the week following the finding of Pardee's body Vance was restive and more distrait than usual. He attempted to interest himself in various matters, but without any marked success. He showed signs of irritability; and his almost miraculous equanimity seemed to have deserted him. I got the impression that he was waiting for something to happen. His manner was not exactly expectant, but there was a watchfulness in his attitude amounting at times almost to apprehension.

On the day following the Drukker funeral Vance called on Arnesson, and on Friday night accompanied him to a performance of Ibsen's "Ghosts"— a play which, I happened to know, he disliked. He learned that Belle Dillard had gone away for a month's visit to the home of a relative in Albany. As Arnesson explained, she had begun to show the effects of all she had been through, and needed a change of scene. The man was plainly unhappy over her absence, and confided to Vance that they had planned to be married in June. Vance also learned from him that Mrs. Drukker's will had left everything to Belle Dillard and the professor in the event of her son's death—a fact which appeared to interest Vance unduly.

Had I known, or even suspected, what astounding and terrible things were hanging over us that week, I doubt if I could have stood the strain. For the Bishop murder case was not ended. The climatic horror was still to come; but even that horror, terrific and staggering as it proved, was only a shadow of what it might have been had not Vance reasoned the case out to two separate conclusions, only one of which had been disposed of by Pardee's death. It was this other possibility, as I learned later, that had kept him in New York, vigilant and mentally alert.

Monday, April 25, was the beginning of the end. We were to dine with Markham at the Bankers' Club and go afterwards to a performance of "Die Meistersinger:" but we did not witness the triumphs of Walther that night. I noticed that when we met Markham in the rotunda of the Equitable Building he seemed troubled; and we were no more than seated in the club grill when he told us of a phone call he had received from Prof. Dillard that afternoon.

"He asked me particularly to come to see him tonight," Markham explained; "and when I tried to get out of it he became urgent. He made a point of the fact that Arnesson would be away the entire evening, and said that a similar opportunity might not present itself until it was too late. I asked him what he meant by that: but he refused to explain, and insisted that I come to his house after dinner. I told him I'd let him know if I could make it."

Vance had listened with the intensest interest.

"We must go there, Markham. I've been rather expecting a call of this kind. It's possible we may at last find the key to the truth."

"The truth about what?"

"Pardee's guilt."

Markham said no more, and we ate our dinner in silence.

AT half past eight we rang the bell of the Dillard house, and were taken by Pyne direct to the library. The old professor greeted us with nervous reserve. "It's good of you to come, Markham," he said, without rising. "Take a chair and light a cigar. I want to talk to you—and I want to take my time about it. It's very difficult. . . . " His voice trailed off as he began filling his pipe.

We settled ourselves and waited. A sense of expectancy invaded me for no apparent reason, except perhaps that I caught some of the radiations of the professor's obviously distraught mood.

"I don't know just how to broach the subject," he began; "for it has to do, not with physical facts, but with the invisible human consciousness. I've struggled all week with certain vague ideas that have been forcing themselves upon me; and I see no way to rid myself of them but by talking with you. . . ."

He looked up hesitantly.

"I preferred to discuss these ideas with you when Sigurd was not present, and as he has gone tonight to see Ibsen's 'Pretenders'—his favorite play, by the way—I took the opportunity to ask you here."

"What do these ideas concern?" asked Markham.

"Nothing specifically. As I have said, they're very vague; but they have nevertheless grown fairly insistent. . . . So insistent, in fact," he added, "that I thought it best to send Belle away for a while. It's true that she was in a tortured state of mind as a result of all these tragedies; but my real reason for shipping her north was that I was beset by intangible doubts."

"Doubts?" Markham leaned forward. "What sort of doubts?"

Professor Dillard did not reply at once.

"Let me answer that question by asking another," he countered presently. "Are you wholly satisfied in your mind that the situation in regard to Pardee is exactly as it appears?"

"You mean the authenticity of his suicide?"

"That and his presumptive culpability."

Markham settled back contemplatively.

"Are you not wholly satisfied?" he asked.

"I can't answer that question." Professor Dillard spoke almost curtly. "You have no right to ask me. I merely wanted to be sure that the authorities, having all the data in their hands, were convinced that this terrible affair was a closed book." A look of deep concern came over his face. "If I knew that to be a fact, it would help me to repulse the vague misgivings that have haunted me day and night for the past week."

"And if I were to say that I am not satisfied?"

The old professor's eyes took on a distant, distressed look. His head fell slightly forward, as if some burden of sorrow had suddenly weighed him down. After several moments he lifted his shoulders and drew a deep breath.

"The most difficult thing in this world," he said, "is to know where one's duty lies; for duty is a mechanism of the mind, and the heart is forever stepping in and playing havoc with one's resolutions. Perhaps I did wrong to ask you here; for, after all, I have only misty suspicions and nebulous ideas to go on. But there was the possibility that my mental uneasiness was based on some deep hidden foundation of whose existence I was unaware. . . . Do you see what I mean?" Evasive as were his words, there was no doubt as to the disturbing mien of the shadowy image that lurked at the back of his mind.

MARKHAM nodded sympathetically. "There's no reason whatever to question the findings of the Medical Examiner." He made the statement in a forced matter-of-fact voice. "I can understand how the proximity of these tragedies might have created an atmosphere conducive to doubts. But I think you need have no further misgivings."

"I sincerely hope you're right, the professor murmured; but it was clear he was not satisfied. "Suppose, Markham—" he began, and then stopped. "Yes, I hope you're right," he repeated.

Vance had sat through this unsatisfactory discussion smoking placidly; but he had been listening with unwonted concentration, and now he spoke.

"Tell me, Prof. Dillard, if there has been anything—no matter how indefinite—that may have given birth to your uncertainty."

"No-nothing." The answer came quickly and with a show of spirit. "I have merely been wondering—testing every possibility. I dared not be too sanguine without some assurance. Pure logic is all very well for principles that do not touch us personally. But where one's own safety is concerned the imperfect human mind demands visual evidence."

"Ah, yes." Vance looked up, and I thought I detected a flash of understanding between these two desperate men.

Markham rose to make his adieu: but Prof. Dillard urged him to remain a while.

"Sigurd will be here before long. He'd enjoy seeing you again. As I said, he's at 'The Pretenders,' but I'm sure he will come straight home. . . . By the way, Mr. Vance," he went on, turning from Markham, "Sigurd tells me you accompanied him to 'Ghosts' last week. Do you share his enthusiasm for Ibsen?"

A slight lift of Vance's eyebrows told me that he was somewhat puzzled by this question; but when he answered there was no hint of perplexity in his voice.

"I have read Ibsen a great deal; and there can be little doubt that he was a creative genius of a high order, although I've failed to find in him either the aesthetic form or the philosophic depth that characterizes Goethe's 'Faust,' for instance."

"I can see that you and Sigurd would have a permanent basis of disagreement."

Markham declined the invitation to stay longer, and a few minutes later we were walking down West End avenue in the brisk April air.

"You will please take note, Markham old dear," observed Vance, with a touch of waggishness, as we turned into Seventy-second street and headed for the park, "that there are others than your modest collaborator who are hag-ridden with doubts as to the volition of Pardee's taking-off. And I might add that the professor is not in the least satisfied with your assurances."

"His suspicious state of mind is quite understandable," submitted Markham. "These murders have touched his house pretty closely."

"That's not the explanation. The old gentleman has fears. And he knows something which he will not tell us."

"I can't say that I got that impression."

"Oh, Markham—my dear Markham! Weren't you listening closely to his halting, reluctant tale? It was as if he were trying to convey some suggestion to us without actually putting it into words. We were supposed to guess. Yes! That was why he insisted that you visit him when Arnesson was safely away at an Ibsen revival—"

Vance ceased speaking abruptly and stood stock still. A startled look came in his eyes.

"Oh, my aunt! Oh, my precious aunt! So that was why he asked me about Ibsen! . . . My word! How unutterably dull I've been!" He stared at Markham, and the muscles of his jaw tightened. "The truth at last!" he said with impressive softness. "And it is neither you nor the police nor I who has solved this case: it is a Norwegian dramatist who has been dead for 20 years. In Ibsen is the key to the mystery."

To Be Continued.

COYOTE

Through sagebrush, cactus, and mesquite,
The coyote bounds on flying feet.
He chases rabbits in the rocks,
And preys upon the ranchers' flocks.

Although he seldom takes old rams,
He'll eat the little woolly lambs;
And this is such a wicked sin
That men set traps to catch him in.

But little prairie wolf is sly,
He knows as much as you or I.
So if they'd catch him in a snare,
They have to hide their traps with care!

All coyotes like to hunt at night.
They bark and howl and snarl and fight;
And two can fuss around a feast
And sound like five or six at least!

Daily Story FOR CHILDREN

By Mary Graham Bonner

The Snow Flurry.

"MY DEARS," said the Little Black Clock, "we have an invitation for this evening, and as I had the chance to talk to you before bedtime I took the liberty of accepting without asking either of you about it."

"I guess we'll want to go, all right," John said.

"You know what we like," Peggy added.

The Little Black Clock grinned. His face was really and truly all smiles. He did so want to be liked by the children. And he had his wish, for John and Peggy thought the world and all of him.

"It was not a very usual invitation," the Little Black Clock said, waving one hand as he spoke. "But it did sound interesting."

The Little Black Clock took Peggy by one hand and John by the other. He seemed to have plenty of the magic, for how quickly the scene could change, and how quickly they found themselves away from their own house!

"Heigh-ho, heigh-ho, the wind
We'll have some snow, heigh-ho,
heigh-ho."

"Did I hear someone singing?" Peggy asked.

"Yes, you heard our host. We're almost there! Ah, there he comes!"

He looked rather blown in appearance and his dark suit was trimmed with white.

"I'll have to introduce you," the Little Black Clock said.

"John and Peggy, this is Sir Snow Flurry."

And before they had a chance to speak Sir Snow Flurry gave a long whistle, and then he sang the little song they had heard a few minutes before.

IEET THE IEAD MAN the LGONQUIN LUB

By Fay Profilet

IFIED by 20 years of ex- ence in the hotel and cater- business and possessing a executive ability, Mrs. Ju- ke is achieving a unique essful career for a wom- of assuming the entire ment of a country club. e exception Mrs. Lemke is y woman engaged in man- club given over largely to this district and her four ul years in this capacity at onquin Country Club of St. ave proven that the affairs ganization of that sort may bly managed by a woman.

Not until after she ned their confidence in her did she learn of their sus- nature regarding her as a r. To her great satisfac- had unknowingly over- eir prejudices.

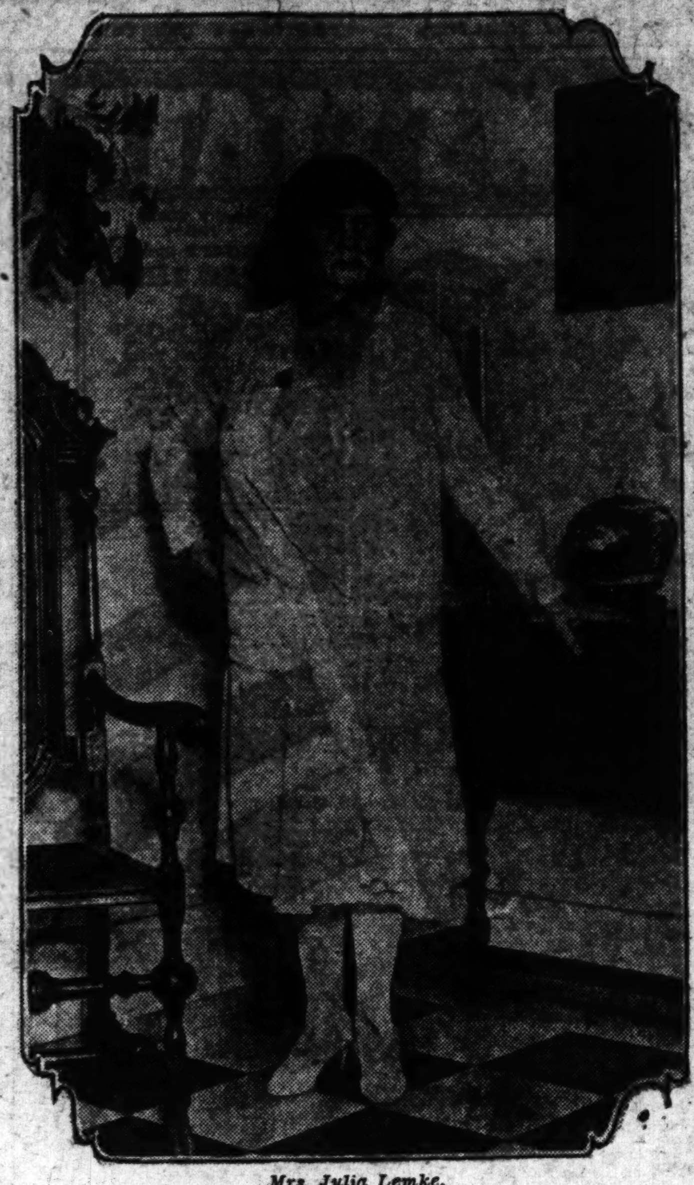
First we fixed the club like a home and with every- organized and running y it is really just like hav- party every day." And it th housewifely pride that wed e through the great ith its cheerful open fire green covered furniture; room with its tables pret- orated in bouquets of gar- wers; the spacious veranda ernistic decorations and her nd span kitchen that is her de and joy.

"I just have one rule," said Mrs. Lemke, "and that is that we make a specialty of everything we cook. No matter what it is or how simple it is well cooked and well served."

THIS fact is attested to by the reputation the club has gained for its fine cuisine during her operation of the club house. Everyone who has dined or lunched at Algonquin remembers the "Lemke biscuits" and no bridge luncheon is complete without the frozen fruit salad made from a special recipe developed by Mrs. Lemke, a past-master at culinary art.

She has inaugurated a "golfer's table." It is placed near the exit to the locker room and is designated by a sign, "Golfers' Table," making it exclusively for those who wish to eat quickly and get out on the course. From the enthusiastic foursome occupying this table when I visited the club many games of golf are played there rather than on the greens.

When asked what she gave the golfers to eat, she said, "The men all seem to like our soup, then the golfers' lunch is popular. The main thing with them is that it is well prepared. And they eat every bite," she added with a smile of satisfaction. "Food can either be hashed up or it can be artistic," she explained, "and that is what counts at parties. I usually plan my luncheons from the centerpice the hostess chooses. That is, we plan a certain decorative motif or an idea for several of the courses, and I use many of my private recipes in preparing the menu. We do all our decorating and must continually think of something different for we entertain many of the same people at practically all the parties. The only gift I claim," she modestly said, "is that I seem to have the faculty of imparting my ideas to others. And I have my same faithful cook that I had when I was manager for the hotel in connection with Peckman Brothers Catering Co., more than 20 years ago."



Mrs. Julia Lemke.

SHE enthusiastically confided her plans for the Christmas season, just how she intended to decorate the club and just where the Christmas tree would be placed. "And I must start thinking about my fruit cake; we make 100 pounds every year." All the buying, marketing and the personal supervision of everything prepared in the big kitchen of the club is added to the multiplicity of her tasks. But she is so absorbed in her work she talks about it as if it were really "just giving a party."

"Mrs. Lemke has the respect of her club members," said Charles P. Melton, chairman of the House Committee, "because she has executive ability, a keen sense of direction, and because she is an artist and an expert caterer. She just seems to be able to do everything a little bit different and a little bit better. She set her heart on making Algonquin one of the most attractive clubs in this district and has been highly successful."

PARIS MODES TODAY

Special Cable by Pierre LeBaux, Director of the Paris Fashion Board, and E. Winifred Boulter, Associate Director.

PARIS, Nov. 7.

THE brief popularity of the Sun God has been forgotten. Smart Parisians are burning incense before the shrine of the Moon Goddess at present. Nightly the fashionable clubs of Paris are the scenes of brilliant gatherings where the all white or all black evening gowns carry the honors and where complexions slowly are returning to the cooler tones of white. The few colors that are worn are rich and luscious—wine reds and purples or lovely blues and greens in stained glass tones.

It is difficult to say what fabric leads. There are, perhaps, more sheer velvets than other fabrics, but there is satin, heavy flowing crepe, taffeta, lame and even chiffon. The evening gowns are long, not with the extreme length and trains that some of the couturiers favored, although these are predicted as the season reaches its height. At present, they sweep to the ground all around or in the back and at some other structural point.

The silhouettes are varied, there is the princess silhouette that is best illustrated by Lanvin's model of black faille with lines of brilliants. There are the slender Choruit and Redfern gowns of satin, velvet or chiffon that have straight snug corsages with narrow belts at the natural waistline and with irregular skirt drapey from the knees to the floor. Madame Louiseboulanger's most novel silhouette has its skirt flounces attached at the natural waistline under a slight bolero. The Molyneux models owe their popularity to their conservativeness. They have neither extremely high waistlines nor long skirts. Their novel feminine lines are achieved by ruffles that show a Spanish influence, by tiny half capes and by occasional flowers.

Every day, in spite of the gayeties of the night before, the Bois de Boulogne is crowded before lunch time with a chic procession enjoying the crisp autumn air and the Rue de la Paix is filled with chic shoppers preparing for the hunts. The most striking note about those busy women is their femininity. They wear, of course, some of the usual novelty tweeds, untrimmed or trimmed with lapin or badger. But even these have higher waistlines and longer skirts. London Trades and Schiaparelli tweeds are scattered evenly throughout the crowd. The most becoming London Trades coat is of loosely woven diagonal tweed with a rather long flared skirt, a belt encrusted a little below the natural waistline and a chic scarf collar of lapin.

Another version of the tailored coat with a scarf collar of lapin is shown by Vionne in dark brown kashmir, a fabric that is most successful with this soft fur.

Chanel's coats are slightly fitted with a princess line and have a number of interesting variations in the fur treatment. Several have long collar of lapin or Persian lamb and a number have deep borders of lapin. In some of the coats Chanel introduces a darling contrasting color in the lining.

A flannel cloth moistened with turpentine will remove water spots from a waxe floor.

A Silk Stocking Hint

SILK stockings will last longer if selected and treated with care. When you buy them make sure the weave is close and firm and that the stockings are sufficiently long so the tops an be doubled when the garters are adjusted. This will lessen the strain on the stocking.

It is possible to minimize the danger of runs if you are careful about rubbing your stockings against the seats on chairs and never sit with the legs crossed or pull up the stockings from the back seams.

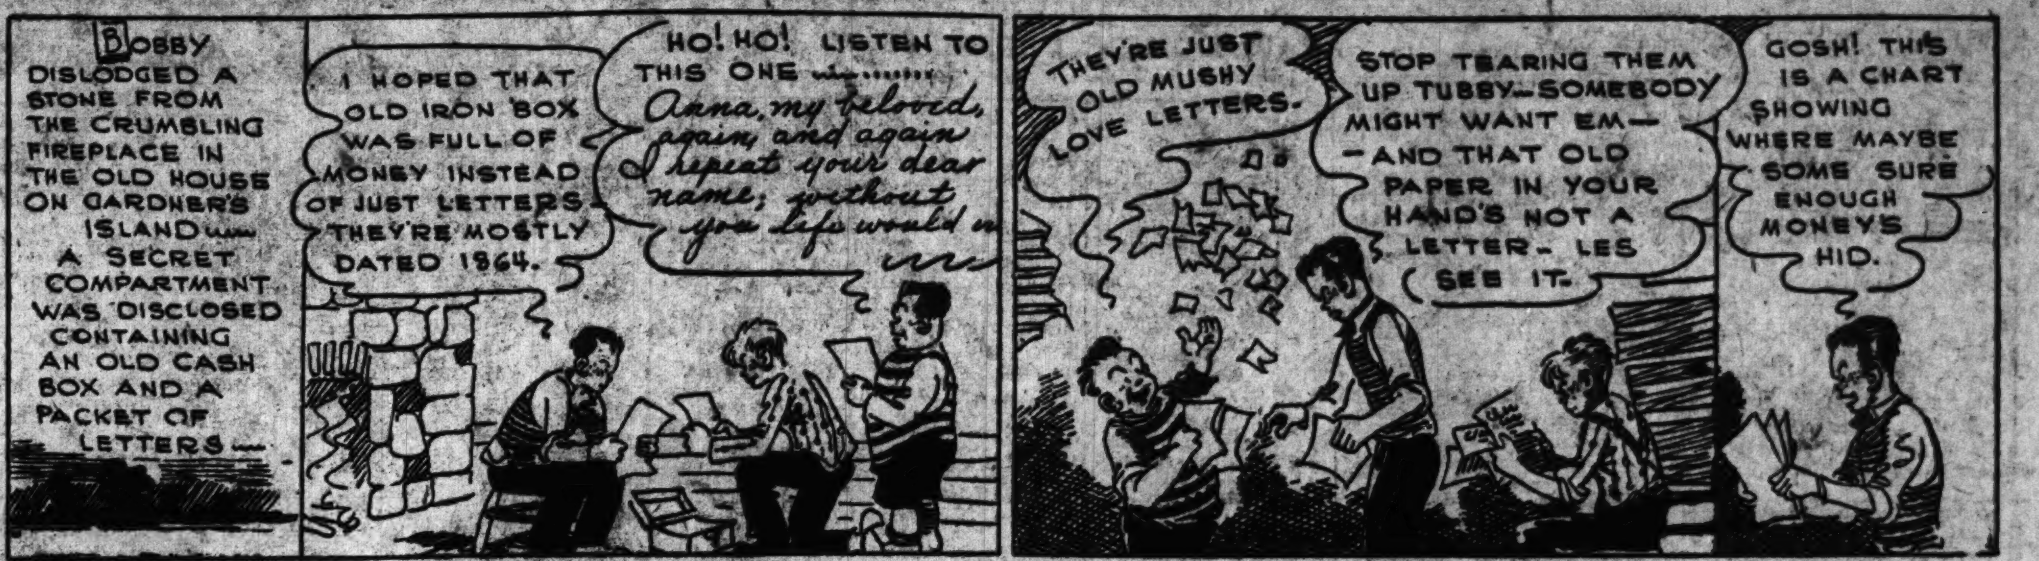
Bobby Thatcher—By George Storm

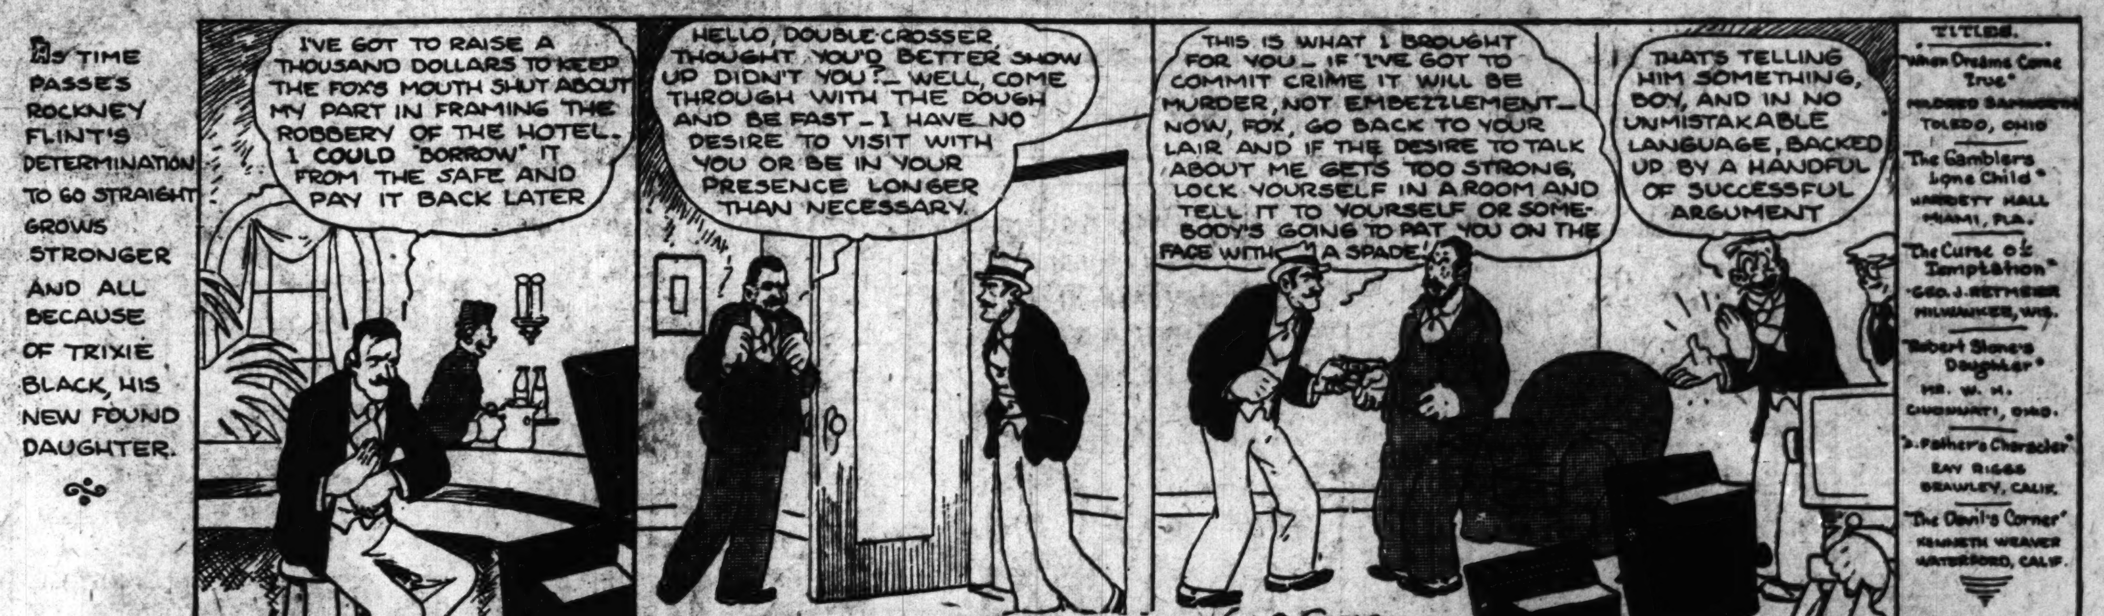
The Mysterious Chart



Bobby dislodged a stone from the crumbling fireplace in the old house on Gardner's Island...... A secret compartment was disclosed containing an old cash box and a packet of letters—
I hoped that old iron box was full of money instead of just letters—they're mostly dated 1864.
Ho! Ho! Listen to this one .... Anna, my beloved, again and again I repeat your dear name; without you life would ...
They're just old mushy love letters.
Stop tearing them up Tubby—somebody might want em— —and that old paper in your hand's not a letter—les see it.
Gosh! This is a chart showing where maybe some sure enough money's hid.

The Nebbs—By Sol Hess

The Fox and the Wolf



As time passes Rockney Flint's determination to go straight grows stronger and all because of Trixie Black, his new found daughter.
I've got to raise a thousand dollars to keep the fox's mouth shut about my part in framing the robbery of the hotel. I could "borrow" it from the safe and pay it back later
Hello, double-crosser thought you'd better show up didn't you?—Well, come through with the dough and be fast—I have no desire to visit with you or be in your presence longer than necessary.
This is what I brought for you—if I've got to commit crime it will be murder, not embezzlement—now, fox, go back to your lair and if the desire to talk about me gets too strong, lock yourself in a room and tell it to yourself or somebody's going to pat you on the face with a spade!
That's telling him something, boy, and in no unmistakable language, backed up by a handful of successful argument heater Magnate Sentenced to Prison for Criminal Attack on 17-Year-Old Dancer.

TTORNEYS TO FILE MOTION FOR APPEAL is Wife, Convicted in Auto Killing Put on Probation for 10 Years—Pays $78,500.

y the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 9.—lexander Pantages, vaudeville agnate, today was sentenced by uperior Judge Charles Frickell to term of one to 50 years in San uentin penitentiary, for a statuory offense against 17-year-old unice Pringle.

The Court denied motions for a ew trial and arrest of judgment nd refused permission to file aplication for probation. Defense ttorneys gave oral notice of appeal.

Pantages appeared in court this fternoon to open his fight for new trial, basing his motion on harges of irregularities in deliberations by the jury.

Two of the affidavits presented y the defense in support of the rguments were dismissed by the ourt. They were sworn to by arland Biffle, a defense witness ho was arrested during the trial or perjury. The defense asserted he arrest while the trial was in rogress constituted misconduct by he District Attorney, but Judge ricker ruled that it could not be sed as a basis for a new trial.

Mrs. Pantages yesterday was reeased from the custody of the heriff by Superior Judge Carlos Hardy, who ordered her $50,000 ond canceled and demanded that he report once each month for 10 ears to the county probation department. During that time she ust refrain from drinking intoxiating liquors and must obey all aws. Violation of any of the proationery orders would result in er being ordered to serve a senence of from one to 10 years in rison.

She was convicted of manslaugher for the death of Juro Rokuoto, a Japanese, who was killed hen Mrs. Pantages drove her uto into his machine.

Deprived of Auto License.

In addition, the theater man's ife was deprived of her automoile driver's license for the period of her probation and was ordered o satisfy immediately a judgment f $78,500 awarded the survivors of Rokumoto. She indorsed a certified check for that amount and resented it to William G. Bonelli, orney for Mrs. Rokumoto, the ardener's widow.

Mrs. Pantages, taken into the courtroom in a wheel chair by two nurses, wept when Judge Hardy read the ruling.

In granting the woman's plea for probation, Judge Hardy declared the preponderance of evidence indicated she had not been drinking before the accident last June. Judge Hardy said he also was influenced in granting probation by the fact that the woman previous to her conviction had "led a Christian life and devoted much of her time and money to welfare work." The condition of health also was a deciding factor, he said.

District Attorney Buron Fitts, who participated in the questioning of witnesses at the probation hearing, said it was the policy of his office neither to approve nor oppose probation for any defendant.

"I would like to inquire, however," Fitts said, "if the Court would have reached the same decision had the defendant in this case been Juro Rokumoto instead of Mrs. Pantages."

Faces Prison Sentence.

Pantages faces a sentence of from one to 50 years in prison for conviction of a statutory offense ainst 17-year-old Miss Pringle. he plea for a rehearing is based on affidavits of three woman jurors, who allege irregularities during deliberations.

Should the motion for a new trial be denied, Pantages will be sentenced at once. In this event, his attorneys have announced they will give notice of appeal.

Pantages now is in the county jail, but should a new trial be granted, or an appeal taken, a motion will be made requesting his release under bail.
